"Should solve own problems" --- SAYS BEN GURION

TEL AVIV, Weds. (UP): The Prime Minister (Mr. D. Ben-Gurion) said last week that the nations of the Middle East should be able to solve their own problems without worrying about the United States and Russia.

Egypt-Syria Body confers

DAMASCUS, Weds. (UP): The Egypt-Syrian joint command has studied the recent tension on the Syrian-Israeli border and has decided upon the necessary measures to meet all frontier possibilities. This has been reported by the Syrian press.

The joint body was formed last year to conduct a joint defense "in event of any Israeli aggression against either country."

It has also been reported from Cairo that the Secretary of the Arab League (Abdel Khalek Hassouna) left for Riyadh on Monday to confer with King Saud over Syrian-Saudi Arabian relations.

Relations between the two countries are reportedly deteriorating since the Jordan crisis.

SABBATH LAW SOON

JERUSALEM, Weds. (JTA): The national Sabbath observance law will be presented in the Knesset, the Prime Minister (Mr. Ben-Gurion) promised the Cabinet's religious members.

However, the Minister of Justice (Mr. Rosen), whose Ministry drafts most parliamentary bills, is reported to have refused to draft the Sabbath law because his Progressive Party considers such legislation to be an infringement of freedom of conscience.

In view of this refusal Mr. Ben-Gurion has asked the Ministry of Religious Affairs to prepare a draft.

Even if the draft is presented in the Knesset, it is likely only to mark the beginning of a major tussle on the issue.

MRS. MEIR FOR VIENNA

TEL AVIV, Weds.: The Foreign Minister (Mrs. Golda Meir) has gone to Vienna to lead the Israeli delegation to the conference of the Socialist International, where she will initiate the debate on the Middle East.

It is possible she will also visit Paris for a meeting with the French Premier.

Commenting on Israel's willingness to talk peace with the Arab nations, Mr. Ben Gurion declared:

"It should be possible for the peoples of this area to sit down and talk peace without worrying about what the United States and Russia think about it."

The Prime Minister reiterated Israel's desire for "co-operation with our neighbours, economic, social and political."

PEACE NEXT YEAR?

"If it depends on us there will be peace with the Arabs next year," Mr. Ben Gurion said.

"...I do not think it is impossible to achieve Middle East peace without the co-operation of the Big Powers."

"The Arab people will come to understand that they cannot achieve real independence unless there is peace with Israel."

Relations between the two countries are reportedly deteriorating since the Jordan crisis.

FEEDS TENSIONS

He said, "the lack of Middle East Peace feeds world tensions."

Mr. Ben-Gurion said that "unfortunately" he had no knowledge of talks with Arabs over the Arab refugee problem. There have been recent and frequent reports of secret meetings on the problem.

Nasser warns Israel ships

CAIRO, Weds. (UP): President Gamal Abdel Nasser's top political aide warned last week "if Israeli ships try to force their way through the Suez Canal or the Gulf of Akaba, we will prevent them."

Wing-Commander Aly Sabri, Chief of Nasser's Political Office, served the warning in an interview on Cairo Radio.

Sabri also declared that any nation aiding an Israeli attempt to force passage through either waterway would be regarded as an invader.

It was not immediately clear what prompted the Egyptian declaration. In recent weeks there has been almost no mention in reports from the Middle East of the sending of the long-delayed Israeli "test ship" through the Canal.

AJC: "Investigate discrimination!"

NEW YORK, Weds. (UP): The American Jewish Congress last Monday called on Senator J. W. Fulbright to investigate discriminatory policies at Dhahran air base in Saudi Arabia.

Vindication

The report asks that immediate action be taken to end "discrimination against American citizens." It said "a resolute position by our Government will sacrifice no military or political advantage but will vindicate the principle that (the U.S.) recognise no religious distinctions among its citizens and will not allow a foreign government to do so."

Mutual recognition is M. E. solution

CHICAGO, Weds. (UP): Mr. Abba Eban, Israel's Chief Delegate to the United Nations, last Friday urged "mutual recognition of sovereignty" as the solution to many of the Middle East problems.

Speaking before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations, Mr. Eban said there are no problems between Jews and Arabs which "mutual recognition would not end."

He said Israel's only aspiration has been "contentment—that our people will not have to live under an inferno of insecurity."

The survival of Israel depends on the quest for "physical security against rebellious hatred," he said.

He predicted Israel would grow to a population of three million by the end of the next ten years. He said new towns would spring up, a "new pulse of commerce" would arise.

"Our full status has yet to be asserted," he said.

Abramov sees Meir

JERUSALEM, Weds. (UP): Soviet Ambassador Alexander Abramov last Friday called on Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir for what was described officially as an exchange of views on matters of mutual interest.

SYRIAN ATTACKS CONTINUE

By ELIAV SIMON
(United Press Correspondent)

JERUSALEM: — An Israeli nurse was shot and killed by Syrian gunfire last week. Israeli official sources accused Syria & Egypt of trying to provoke Israeli retaliatory action.

The sources noted the almost daily attacks by Syrian forces on Israeli border settlements and the upsurge in raids by Arab marauders from the Gaza Strip during the past few days.

They said the increase in border incidents coincided with the attacks by Cairo Radio on pro-Western Arab States for allegedly negotiating with Israel toward a solution of the Arab Palestine Refugee problem.

Tactics

An Israeli attack on either Egypt or Syria could heal the breach between the pro-leftist and the pro-Western Arab States, the sources said.

According to an Israeli spokesman, Syrian forces opened heavy machine-gun fire from across the border on the Israeli settlement of Gadot on the West bank of the River, south of Lake Huleh.

The nurse was struck by a bullet while in the communal dining room. She died on the way to the hospital at Tiberias.

Settlers returned fire and the exchange lasted for some thirty minutes, the spokesman said.

It was the second attack on Gadot last week. Earlier, raiders from Syria put the torch to crops and destroyed property. They also mined a number of roads in the vicinity.

Gen. Burns to resign?

TEL AVIV, Weds. (JTA): The Commander of the United Nations Emergency Force (General Burns) is to resign, reports the independent evening newspaper, "Yediot Achronot."

The paper claims the resignation follows differences with the Secretary General (Mr. Hammarskjold) over UNEF authority in the Gaza Strip.

According to the report, which thus far has not been confirmed, General Burns will also give up his duties as head of the Truce Organisation, and acting head Colonel Leahy will be appointed permanent head.

The Governor of N.S.W. (Sir John Northcott) laid the foundation stone of the new wing of Sir Moses Montefiore Home, Sydney, last Sunday. About 400 people went to Hunter's Hill to attend the ceremony. The wing will be known as the "Sarah Rosenbaum Memorial Wing," and will be financed by a Commonwealth subsidy supplementing a donation by Mr. Cyril Rosenbaum, on the pound for pound basis of the Aged Persons Home Act.

PEACE NEXT YEAR?

"If it depends on us there will be peace with the Arabs next year," Mr. Ben Gurion said.

"...I do not think it is impossible to achieve Middle East peace without the co-operation of the Big Powers."

"The Arab people will come to understand that they cannot achieve real independence unless there is peace with Israel."

Relations between the two countries are reportedly deteriorating since the Jordan crisis.

Valedictory for Rabbi J. Danglow

Last Saturday evening the Samuel Meyers Hall was packed for a Valedictory Function tendered to Rabbi and Mrs. Danglow on the Rabbi's retirement from active office.

The President of the St Kilda Hebrew Congregation, Mr. L. Slutskin, said how deeply the Congregation regretted that the time had come for the Rabbi to retire, but he was glad the Rabbi was not giving up his many other interests in the community, and he hoped to see Rabbi and Mrs. Danglow spared in good health for many more years.

A tape-recorded message from the Chief Rabbi had been specially flown out to Australia, and it was played over to the audience.

In the course of his message, Rabbi Brodie said it was a source of great gratification to him that he could be able to pay tribute to a dear colleague and friend. For nearly 14 years, the Chief Rabbi went on, he and Rabbi Danglow had been closely associated in Melbourne.

Although they may have differed on occasion on some matters, their personal relationship was never affected. The passage of time had produced many changes in the Jewish people, and many views and opinions had had to give way before the imperative of unforeseen circumstances, but certain impregnable values remained. Some of these were constancy of faith, loyalty to the Torah, compassion, and zeal for justice, and all had been characteristic of the long ministry of Rabbi Danglow.

Rabbi Brodie concluded by expressing on behalf of the Jewish ministry throughout the British Commonwealth sincere appreciation of Rabbi Danglow's "unique service to the faith of our fathers, to the Jewish people, and to mankind".

Sir Archie Michaelis, after thanking Mr. Slutskin for his fine work in organising the evening, said that this night was one which would always be remembered.

Mr. Baron D. Snider, MLA, paid a personal tribute to Rabbi Danglow and read a special letter of commendation and good wishes from Mr. Bolte, the Premier of Victoria.

Rev. E. Kowadio spoke on behalf of the officers of the Congregation. He said they were all happy to see the Rabbi looking so well but were sad to think that his vocal condition had made it necessary for him to retire from active office.

Speaking both personally and as President of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies, Mr. Trevor Rapke lauded the "fullness and maturity of Rabbi Danglow's illustrious ministry". Mr. Rapke suggested that the congregation should mark the occasion by endowing a swimming pool at Kfar Hamad.

Board President reports

The President of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies in moving a resolution expressing the Board's sorrow at the untimely death of the late Mr. A. S. Leibler, Vice-President and former President, said:

"In this Board and this community there have been few hearts that have not been grieved the last fortnight by the tragedy at the Leibler home. I feel it can only be said that he died in the service of the community."

"Morning, noon and night he was engaged on communal affairs. He was one of those rare men who can show that an Orthodox man can have a practical code of life. I feel that after the year of mourning the four members of the family will return to the communal service and that the name of Leibler will not be forgotten."

In his Presidential report, Mr. Rapke stated "the community has of late acquired a flair for Public Relations. In earlier years we used the sledge-hammer policy, hitting wherever the word "Jew" was mentioned."

By contrast, Mr. Rapke pointed out we now emphasise positive matters showing to the world all the things of which we are proud. As an example Mr. Rapke mentioned the extensive use made of Mr. Sharrett by introducing him to Parliament, the University and other public bodies.

He also reported on his overseas tour of the Continent and Israel (in the vein already published in the "Jewish News" Ed.) and on the recent conference in Sydney of the Executive Council of Australian Jewry.

NEW ZEALAND

He said as a result of these deliberations, Victoria will have to assist in establishing further contact with New Zealand Jewry.

He commented that some of the things which we fought over here assume less and less importance when you see what happens overseas, and seeing how death can intervene unexpectedly we have no time for little squabbles.

Monster Dance Marriage Rd. Sunday July 14th. 8 p.m. Further details next week.

Mr. Rapke therefore made an appeal that communal work should be carried out with dignity, integrity of mind and in the pursuit of objects, not of persons.

RUSSIAN JEWRY

Mr. Alfred Ruskin on behalf of the Temple Beth Israel expressed the great sorrow of his Congregation at the death of Mr. Leibler for whom they had held the greatest respect.

He took this opportunity to make an appeal for unity in the community.

Mr. Ashkanasy supported Mr. Ruskin's appeal "from the opposite camp".

Mr. Balberyski, referring to the ECJA report, stressed the need for Australian Jewish action on Russian Jewry in addition to anything the World Jewish Congress may decide to do.

TEL AVIV, Monday: Dr. Evatt's arrival tomorrow as the guest of the Israel Government will be an important manifestation of Israel-Australian friendship.

A member of the Knesset, who is a prominent member of the Herut party is due in Australia shortly.

He is Dr. A. Altman who is coming to Australia to conduct an Appeal for the United Zionists Revisionist Organisation. Dr. Altman is due on Thursday July 25, and will stay in Australia for three weeks.

The Appeal is part of the period allotted to the UIA.

POLICE CHIEF

TEL AVIV, Weds.: Israel's Ambassador to Moscow (Aluf Josef Aviari) will be appointed Inspector General of Police, replacing Yechezkel Sachar, Lamerchav announced yesterday.

Sheoloshim

The Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies is arranging a Sheoloshim evening for the late Mr. A. S. Leibler, to take place Thursday evening July 18.

All organisations are requested to leave this date free.

PEDHAZUR FOR WORLD SHILTON

Gad Pedhazur, the Jewish Youth Shellach in Australia, has been elected to the Shiloh of Betar, the World Executive of that organisation.

It is a unique event for someone to be elected to this post in abstentia. He will return to Israel (via USA) in October.

Gad has won many friends in Australia by his pleasant personal characteristics, wide Jewish cultural background and tolerance. Under his guidance, the influence of the Betar Movement has spread to other States.

His mission in Australia was successful in two spheres: he consolidated a deepening educational programme within the Betar Movement as such and secondly, he enabled the creation of better attitudes to aliyah, illustrated in the fact that eight olim have left since his arrival.

He has also had a marked effect on the general community: bringing a vibrant message from Israel, culturally, through addressing gatherings on different aspects of life in Israel.

He plans to concentrate his Israel work on education and aliyah activities. The education is to bring to youth a present appreciation of what is entailed by the "ancient territory of the Jewish state" and a present day feeling for the historical places.

The aliyah activities will be devoted to integrating olim into the national economy and the best of their personal equipment and desires, whether they wish to settle on the land, in industry or the professions.

Three years' service is sought from each, being sent by the Committee for Service to such place and task deemed necessary. At the expiration of the three years, each will be encouraged to take up the occupation of personal preference.

In the field of education, he will lay stress on general education in youth movements: "art, drama, literature etc. have been neglected."

His place here will be taken probably by Chaim Golovsky, a teacher and Law graduate from Petah Tikvah.

EGO'S FRUIT

We have received through the Australian Association for Cultural Freedom the copy of an article by Howard Fast, the noted author, first published in "Mainstream," the American communist "intellectual magazine" and setting out his reasons for severing connection with the Communist Party.

'He has been moulded by two major forces: "a maturing belief in the goodness and inevitable brotherhood of man" ("I learned my equalitarianism out of the Prophetic teachings of Judaism")... and "an understanding of the role of the working class in modern history."

"I have been characterised as a religious person, and while I will not deny this within a broad frame of reference, my religion does homage to man, not to the supernatural."

There lies the crux of the matter; self-love has always led to destruction, and the fact that so much destruction has been carried out in the name of brotherhood makes it the more terrible.

He complains about the absurdities of the Soviet theory of "cosmopolitanism" and the disappearance of Jewish culture in Russia. He "witnessed a destroying rigidity and unbendingness, a narrowing of approach and purpose that made it impossible for many good people to remain within" the Communist Party of the U.S.A.

Referring to Krushchev's famous anti-Stalin report, he says "I felt a sense of unmitigated nausea at the realisation that I had supported and defended this murderous bloodbath and I felt, as so many did then, a sense of being a victim of the most incredible swindle in modern times."

All this is the fruit of exalting man into the pinnacle of the universe. The universe as it is may be seen scientifically, its phenomena may be speculated about for their source (philosophically) or their purpose (religiously).

Sectarianism should not be tied to any of these three outlooks, but they are, and they are confused with them. Human nature is slowly evolving through individuals, not through an amorphous mass called a "class." As long as there is ruthlessness, cruelty and other terrible traits from which most of us are not yet free, whatever system there is holding sway over us will become victim to those people dominated by them. The system is then bent from its original purpose, while those who have been corrupted by the use of power try to hold back the day of their judgment by taking lives and freedoms and yet more lives and freedoms.

WELFARE APPEAL

I earnestly commend the Welfare Appeal to the community. Our responsibilities to new arrivals including the aged, sick and orphaned remain a heavy burden carried by the band of devoted workers in the Australian Jewish Welfare and Relief Society: their appeal for funds should not go unanswered.

VICTORIAN JEWISH BOARD OF DEPS.:—

Before the Welfare Appeal was interrupted last year, the then President of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies, the late Mr. A. S. Leibler, wrote this message:

The Australian Jewish Welfare and Relief Society has a splendid record of services to the community.

It endeavours on behalf of the immigrants, the needy, the aged and the orphans compare more than favourably with the achievements of similar organisations in other parts of the world.

Our Melbourne Jewish community in the past has always supported every worth-while deserving Jewish cause. I have no doubt that this support will again be forthcoming for a cause which must be dear to the heart of every Jew.

I sincerely commend the Welfare and Relief Appeal 1956 to all members of our community.

His successor, Mr. Trevor Rapke, appeals to the community to heed Mr. Leibler's words by adding this message:

I have been asked to commend the Welfare Society's resumption of its interrupted appeal to the community. I can do no better than reiterate the above message from my late dear colleague and predecessor in office.

Further messages commending this Appeal have come from the Rabbinim of Melbourne and they will appear in next week's issue.

WHAT a record of charity this service in this community has Mrs. Abe Harris! Not many of us "youngsters" possess the drive and energy and enthusiasm that this short-chested and quick-brained veteran still brings to everything she does after fifty years work both within and outside the Jewish community.

Having spent some time with Mrs. Harris I am more than ever convinced of it!

This year, the Melbourne Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society celebrates the 100th year of its existence. Mrs. A. Harris, M.B.E., has been its President for thirty years and has the honour, well merited, of being President for the Society's centenary.

Space doesn't permit me to list Mrs. Harris' long list of offices and activities. Her work for all the Public Hospitals earned her a Life-Governorship of the Metropolitan Hospital. She has worked for the Blind, for the Jewish Aid Society, the Jewish Sick Visiting Society, the Jewish Orphans' Aid, the Philanthropic Society and the Women's Auxiliary of the Frances Barkman House.

IN THIS latter case, she was asked to raise £300 per year for Frances Barkman House—and still does this through the Bachelors' and Hosts' Ball.

Mrs. Harris is so much part of the Bachelors' Ball that one feels it couldn't take place without her.

She has been connected with it since its inception and, in fact, remembers that the first one was held in 1922, though it was then called "The Charity Ball."

She is President of the St. Kilda Branch of the Alfred Hospital Auxiliary Council. This year, a £400 piece of hospital equipment will be presented to the Hospital and inscribed in her name.

She was honored with her M.B.E. in 1941 in recognition of her many services to the community.

One of the most interesting stories she told me in her reminiscences was that, in 1922, at the request of a Mr. D. Nathan of New Zealand, she raised £1,500 in one afternoon for an Infant Welfare Centre in Tel Aviv. Surely, this must have been a forerunner of WIZO's Children's Home.

LIKE most strong-minded people, Mrs. Harris has very decided views and no patience with hypocrisy or muddle-headedness. It is very hard to put anything over her, for she knows too much about everyone—and forgets nothing!

One woman who rang for help via Melbourne H.L.B. Society claimed to be a sister-in-law of a Mr. S. "Him," said Mrs. Harris. "I knew S. 30 years ago. He has no brother, married twice, and both times he married out, so his sister-in-law wouldn't be Jewish and has no claim on us!"

She is extremely scathing about those who give big sums to Israel and leave their needy relatives here in Melbourne to depend on the M.H.L.B.S. She believes these people have an obligation to look after their own, and can manage to help Israel as well!

Mrs. Harris thinks we must certainly help non-Jewish charities as well as our own, and her life proves that she practices what she preaches.

In congratulating Mrs. Harris on her 30 years Presidency of the Melbourne Hebrew Ladies' Benevolent Society, I would also like to congratulate the Society on its centenary of quiet, unassuming service to all Jewish women

Prestige of Australian Jewry - Mr. Askanaasy tells 'Y'

"The standing and prestige of Australian Jewry among World Jewish circles was on a level, far out of proportion to its small number, because it was united, and acted and spoke with one voice," said Mr. M. J. Askanaasy, Q.C., Senior Vice-President of the E.C.A.J. when speaking at a Luncheon of the Y.M.H.A. on Thursday, June 27, on the topic: "Australian Jewry Today."

Mr. Askanaasy, who was welcomed and introduced by the President of the "Y", Mr. David Mandel, spoke of the E.C.A.J. conference that had recently been held in Sydney.

The established system for the location of the E.C.A.J. Headquarters was, on a rotation basis, 2 yrs. in Sydney, and 2 yrs. in Melbourne. Mr.

Ashkanasy remarked ironically that it had been the habit of the Melbourne side when headquarters were in Sydney, and the Sydney side when HQs. were in Melbourne, to voice a vigorous criticism to the leadership of the E.C.A.J. in the first year, but adopt a more cautious approach in the second year, as they realised that, in the third year, they themselves would be called upon to administer the affairs of the E.C.A.J. and then be subjected to the same criticism from the other side.

In such a new world-wide Jewish body, the E.C.A.J. would be one of the influential factors, an opinion which was justified by the vigour and activity of Jewish life in Australia, and, in particular, in Melbourne.

Set-up

Describing the internal set-up of the E.C.A.J., Mr. Ashkanasy said it consisted of 8 delegates each of the N.S.W. and Victorian Board of Deputies, 2 ea. of the Qld. and S.A. Bd. of Deputies, and 1 each from W.A., Tasmania, and Canberra (A.C.T.).

However, in addition to representation of Jewry in each state, there existed a number of important Jewish organisations that were organised on a Commonwealth-wide basis and received their directions from a Federal body.

He had always felt that these Federal organisations should have direct representation on the E.C.A.J., and he thought that the observer scheme that had recently been put into operation, was successful, and would eventually give the observers a consultative status. All motions adopted by the E.C.A.J. conference, had been passed without lengthy discussion, but a stumbling stone was introduced by a motion regarding the recent visit to Australia of Mr. Sharett. It had led to an incident which, however, had eventually been smoothed out.

Warning

Speaking in memory of the late Mr. A. S. Leibler, the speaker recalled that Mr. Leibler, after his first few months in office as President of the Vic. Board of Deputies, had complained to him of the enormous nervous strain to which he was subjected by the long drawn-out arguments and squabbles.

Mr. Ashkanasy had then encouraged Mr. Leibler to carry on but his untimely death must be a warning to the Jewish community to be more considerate in the treatment of its leaders.

Constructive criticism was always helpful, and, as such, is to be welcomed, but the community should refrain from listening to malicious gossip, and running down its leaders who are giving generously of their time and resources.

The vote of thanks to Mr. Ashkanasy was moved by the Deputy President, Mr. Jack Borowcik, J.P.

Insurance for future

"Support for Israel should never be looked upon as a mere charity."

"Rather it should be considered as insurance for the future, and the price that we should willingly pay for the respect in our standing as a community that we have been enjoying since the birth of the State of Israel", said
Mr. Trevor Rapke, President of the Victorian Board of Deputies, when speaking at a Luncheon of the Y.M.H.A.
on Thursday, June 20.

Mr. Rapke, who was officially welcomed back on behalf of "Y" members by the President, Mr. David Mandie, spoke of his recent overseas
travels, under the topic:
"Overseas Impressions".

Defining the activities of the World Jewish Congress
Mr. Rapke said that this is the body representing World Jewry at large, but it did not include six leading World Jewish organisations, among them the British Board of Deputies, the South African Board of Deputies, and the French Alliance.

Due to the efforts of Dr Nahum Goldmann these bodies were now loosely affiliated with the World Jewish Congress, for a trial period of two years.

The stand of the E.C.A.J. was that while it supported
the World Jewish Congress
it deserved the right to voice its own opinion when the occasion demanded it.

Among the personalities
he had met in England, was Rabbi Brodie, Chief Rabbi of the British Commonwealth, who had asked him to take with him the Rabbi's best wishes for Australian Jewry with which he still had intimate links, and Rabbi Kopul Rosen, Principal of the Carmel College, who had been in Australia some time ago. On a visit to Carmel College Mr. Rapke had found signs of wonderful educational advancement in the fact that the after-hours activity of students in a Jewish environment ensured the completeness of a Jewish upbringing.

As a guest of Mr. Eliahu Eliah, the Israel Ambassador to the U.K., he participated in Independence Day celebrations aboard the
"Theodor Herzl", which had been built in a German dockyard under the reparations agreement.

The ship was a picture of simplicity and grace, and created a sensation by sailing up the River Thames, flying the Israeli flag. Its maiden voyage to Haifa was marred by the fact that Scotland Yard had to employ a frogman to check rumours of suspected underwater bombs.

SAD STORY

On a visit to Jewish communities in Italy, Mr. Rapke found the sad remnants of a once flourishing communal life. Of the 3,000 Jews in Florence, only 1,500 had survived, and all fittings and ornaments had been taken from the Synagogue. There was little, if any, interest in Jewish affairs. In Venice, he found the Jewish living in Ghetto-like slums, and their only interest in their five synagogues was to show them for money to visiting tourists.
In Rome, Mr. Rapke
had boarded an aircraft of El Al, of which he spoke in the highest terms, praising the efficiency of their crews, and the service to passengers.

Of his impressions of Israel, Mr. Rapke said that Moses had had the advantage of letting the old generation die out, and entering the Promised Land with an entirely new generation. In the present, however, people of every age, walk of life, and different environments, had gathered in Israel, and it was indeed a difficult task to ample of Israeli ingenuity.

Mr. Rapke named a certain type of sand which he had observed on his trip from Beersheba to Eliyah (that was now used in the manufacture of Masonite). In a talk with the British Consul, regarding British scholarships awarded to Israeli students, the Consul had emphasized that the calibre of the Israeli candidates was far superior to any other country of the world.

The Deputy President of the "Y", Mr. Jack Bercove, J.P., in moving the vote of thanks, said that the Jewish community of Victoria was fortunate in having as its leader, man of the calibre of Mr. Rapke, but unfortunately, it was not generally appreciated that Jewish communal leaders sacrificed their private time and money to uphold and enhance the standing of the community.

Thumbnail book reviews

It is strange to read the familiar names of Melbourne suburbs in a polished and highly sophisticated novel. This is an experience we can enjoy whilst reading any of the four Anglo-Australian semi-autobiographical novels of Martin Boyd.

In this, the latest chronicle of the Langton Family, the snobbish Government House circle still live in a social vacuum, with their ties to England stronger than those of their native land.

Mr. Boyd's prose moves with leisurely distinction and elegance that owes much to Jane Austen and more than a little to Galsworthy.

By

lishing a great maritime empire. The historical background of this story is extremely good and the account of the tragic massacre of Ambona both touching and horrifying.

The romantic story of Helene who has inherited and controls a huge fortune and her love for Laurens, happily married to an adoring wife, is well told and always credible.

This is an historical novel that well merits its Book Society recommendation.

I Shall Maintain by Bridget Knight (Hutchinson) 18/9.

A small book this, little more than a long short story, but memorable in its content and frightening in its message.

The author tells of a wealthy, scientific "test pilot" who takes off in a new type of plane and is projected twenty years into the future. He finds himself in the tiny peasant village of Pajaro in the mountains of Northern Spain. There he falls deeply in love with the beautiful and gentle spirited Angelita, deprived of speech since birth and able only to speak the language of the birds.

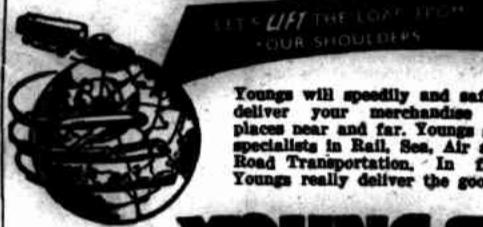

To his horror he discovers that his world has been almost decimated by hydrogen bombs; at Angelita's death he returns to his own time to convince the world that this ultimate horror must never be allowed to occur.

Tender and delicately written, this little book leaves behind it the feeling that it might well be true.

Quest for Pajaro by Edward Maxwell (Heinemann) 13/2.

Escaped from Egypt to Bar-Ilan

A chemistry student from Alexandria University, who escaped from Egypt during the anti-Jewish excesses there, has resumed his studies at Bar-Ilan University. The 19 year old student, Saadia Hai, was granted a scholarship.

During the current semester, he is studying Hebrew English and Talmud. He hopes to become sufficiently proficient in Hebrew in order to be able to resume his studies in chemistry, biology, physics and mathematics at the start of the next academic year.

The youth shares the campus life with other young men. He lives in a dormitory, and shares a room with an immigrant from Rumania. The only common language the young people have is Hebrew.

Saadia escaped from Egypt on January 17. He had feared for his life, because the Egyptians suspected him. In the Jewish Secondary School in Alexandria, his teacher had been Sami Azzar, who was executed in Cairo in 1954 as a Zionist "spy". Saadia and his ill-fated teacher had also been next door neighbors.

When Azzar was arrested in 1954, Saadia was also detained for questioning. His house was searched for bombs, guns or subversive material. Nothing was found and he was released.

STATELESS

After the fighting in Sinai last fall, Saadia was again visited by the police who questioned him about his relationship with the late Sami Azzar. They let him go after questioning but required him to report periodically to the police.

Saadia was stateless. By means which he would rather not discuss, he secured a Lebanese passport and bought passage to France. He left Egypt on January 17. When the ship stopped in Athens, he left the vessel and took a plane to Israel.

Two months later, he was joined in this country by his mother and his married sister, with her husband and children. The family lives in the Beisan Valley. Saadia's father died in Egypt.

The young refugee said that he had carried a knife for protection in Alexandria. Jews had felt constantly in danger. They had feared even to go to Synagogue.

"We thought things would be for us like they had been for the Jews in Germany," Saadia said.

"Many Jews were imprisoned and others fled from the country, fearing for their lives."

President's holiday

Naples (UP).—The President of Israel (Mr. Ben-Zvi) arrived here last Thursday on the first leg of a Mediterranean pleasure cruise aboard the Israel liner Theodor Herzl.

Accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Rachel Ben-Zvi and aides, he spent the morning visiting the dead city of Pompeii and other spots along the Gulf of Naples.

The next stop of Theodor Herzl is Marseilles, whence the President will proceed to Paris for a round of political talks with French leaders.

Bat Galim not mentioned

NEW YORK: They don't mention the name "Bat Galim" aloud at the United Nations these days.

It's an unpleasant memory to the delegates who would like to forget the entire episode of the "Daughter of the Waves" as the name of the rusty little 500-ton freighter translates into English from Hebrew.

But they can't forget it. France has reopened the question of the right of free passage for Israeli shipping through the Suez Canal, and the delegates at the Security Council realize now the enormous mistake they made back in 1954 when they permitted Egypt to seize the Bat Galim—the only Israeli ship which ever tried to sail through the Suez.

Had the U.N. acted resolutely then, Egypt's Nasser might never have dared seize the Canal outright.

* * *

The Bat Galim was en route from Eritrea to Haifa with a cargo of frozen meats, when it was seized by the Egyptians on September 28, 1954, as it entered the Egyptian territorial waters at the approaches to the southern terminus of the Canal.

As a pretext for seizure, Egypt charged that someone aboard had machine-gunned a group of Egyptian fishermen, killing two of them. A thorough search of the vessel only yielded an old pistol in the Captain's cabin.

Nevertheless, the entire crew of 10 was arrested and the cargo confiscated.

The crew was held for 3 months in a Cairo detention barrack before being released following an investigation by the U.N.

The men were then taken by truck to El Arish on the Sinai peninsula and ordered to walk the rest of the way home to Israel.

Zvi Shidlo, captain of the Bat Galim, told Israeli newsmen that he and his crew were beaten unmercifully successfully thus far, he is not likely to stop now.

Later they were separated but were given the medical treatment, which they badly needed.

Israel brought the Bat Galim case before the Security Council, where the detention of the vessel and its crew was severely criticised by the majority of the Council.

USA Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge declared:

"...We cannot fail to state

our view that Egyptian restrictions on ships passing through the Suez Canal, whether bound to or from Israel or whether flying the Israeli or some other flag, are inconsistent with the spirit and intent of the Egyptian-Israeli General Armistice Agreement, contrary to the Security Council resolution of September 1, 1951, and a retrogression from the stated objectives to which both sides committed themselves in signing the Armistice agreement".

On January 13, 1955, the President of the Security Council summed up the wishes of the Council that the Bat Galim be released to sail through the Canal in accordance with the Security Council resolution of 1951.

This was never done. On August 26, 1956, the semi-official Egyptian newspaper "Al Akbar" reported that the Bat Galim had been incorporated into the Egyptian Navy.

The paper said the step had been taken because no purchasers could be found for the ship which was put up for auction sale.

With the Bat Galim, Nasser bullied his way to the first great victory over the United Nations.

He has since ridden from success to success, even snatching complete victory from complete defeat last November.

POLISH JEWISH EMIGRATION

New York, Weds. (JTA).—The new Polish regulations have not brought about a drastic curtailment in emigration to Israel, according to press reports from Warsaw.

The regulations, which entered into effect on June 1, permitted the withholding of emigration passports to anyone whose presence was considered necessary for the national economy or the State apparatus.

The exodus to Israel has been slowed down but passports are still being issued at the rate of 1500 monthly after reaching a peak earlier this year of 3,000.

About 25,000 are believed to have reached Israel from Poland last year and the number left in Poland has been cited at figures ranging between 20,000 and 40,000.

HUNGARIAN SOCCER VISIT: Jewish player in touring team

Ferenc Dekany, 28 year old Dr. of Laws, is the only Jewish member of Ferencvaros, champion Hungarian soccer team which opens its Australian tour with a game against Victoria at Olympic Park this Sunday.

Short and solidly built, Dekany has on many occasions represented Hungary in international matches.

Ferencvaros has supplied as many as 9 players at a time in the Hungarian National team and has 8 of its international fixtures, including a 4-2 win over the Vienna "Rapide" team, which visited Australia.

Russian Ships for Egypt

Washington. — Consultations have been opened by the United States, Britain & France over the arrival in Egypt of three Soviet submarines.

Meanwhile, Vice-Admiral Brown, Commander of the U.S. Sixth Fleet, stated in Madrid that transference of the submarines "would constitute an awful strain on the Egyptian Navy. I personally don't see how they could handle it. It would result in an out-of-balance navy."

The question exists in official Washington as to whether Egypt possesses 6 submarines in addition to the 3 delivered recently.

A special study made for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee last year said that six 250-ton submarines had arrived in Alexandria. In April 1956, a report said that 19 motor torpedo boats and four minesweepers were delivered at about the same time by the Soviet Union.

In June 1956, according to an authoritative report, Russia delivered one destroyer and one minelayer.

Other ships were subsequently delivered.

U-BOAT VETERANS ?

Officials evaded reporters' questions for information on whether U. S. intelligence agencies had confirmed the operation of six submarines reported to have been delivered last year.

One naval official, who refused to be quoted, said Egyptian naval personnel had been in training for submarine duty at a Soviet Baltic base since the winter of 1955-56.

The official thought it conceivable that Egypt might have hired German U-Boat veterans of World War II, who were residents of Communist East Germany. He considered it less likely that West German U-Boat veterans would be hired to serve Egypt's Russian-built submarines.

Haifa:—Major parts of the Jordan Valley Authority scheme can be carried out in Israel without the collaboration of neighbouring countries, declared Prof. Walter Clay Lowdermilk, famous American soil conservation expert, before a capacity audience of engineers at the Symposium on Irrigation and Soil & Water Conservation, held at Technion City. Prof. Lowdermilk, who refires this week on the expiration of his U.N. appointment as Head of the Technion Department of Agricultural Engineering, noted that Israel has a dynamic programme of soil and water conservation well under way, but that more still needs to be done to bring stormwater and soil erosion under adequate control.

Prof. Lowdermilk's successor as Head of the Technion Agricultural Engineering Department is Prof. A. de Leeuw, who read a paper on "TVA" on the Jordan—the Plan in 1948 and Now".

Prof. de Leeuw, who has drawn up plans for national irrigation and power projects in Israel, has been connected with the Jordan-Negev Irrigation Plan for over twenty years.

Letters to the Editor

A REPLY TO MR. EINFIELD

The following press statement has been issued by Mr. S. H. Cohen, President of the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism. Mr. John Einfield's reported statement concerning the Jewish Council at the recent E.C.A.J. Conference is mischievous and irresponsible and shows complete ignorance of the Council's work.

In the Jewish Council, we are all Jewish brothers and sisters who are trying to do a job of exposing and countering the enemies of Jewry. This job has fallen upon us because of the failure of the E.C.A.J. and the Boards of Deputies to face up to this problem on behalf of the Jewish community.

We should not have to explain to Mr. Einfield and his colleagues that there is antisemitism in Australia. Must we remind him that there are powerful and established interests in this country which finance the Eric Butlers and the De Lourdes to publish their anti-Semitic filth? And that these interests actively encourage a number of powerful migrant organizations—notably organizations of Hungarians, Ukrainians and Balts—some leaders of which have long and black records of Jew-baiting and Jew-killing? And that they acquired their "eminence" in anti-Semitic activity when they collaborated with the Nazis in World War II and did some of their dirty work for them?

Many of our non-Jewish friends understand these things and recognize with enthusiasm the value of the Council's work in the Trade Unions, the political parties, the Churches and the schools.

We are, for example, at the moment, extremely gratified at the response from the Australian Labour Party and the Trade Unions to our campaign of protest against the re-emergence of Nazis like General Speidel into positions of great power and influence.

As to the suggestion that Dr. Evatt should be asked to mediate in the Israel-Egypt dispute, I am proud of what

Communal Worker's Ruby Wedding

FORTY years ago on July 1, 1917, a marriage took place at the Great Portland St. Synagogue in London. The Synagogue was packed with friends, well-wishers, and pupils of the bride, who was a teacher of the Jews' Free School, and also a Sunday school teacher. She was one of the first women to get a University degree. She holds the LL.A. of the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, itself one of the first universities in the world to grant degrees to women.

The bride was Leah Spielmann and she married Phillip Kloot, a young soldier of the first A.I.F. Although Phillip Kloot was born in London of Dutch parentage, he had settled in Australia, and when war broke out in 1914, he joined the A.I.F. After being wounded, he was sent back to England to convalesce, where he once more met again and married a childless sweet-heart. Altogether a very romantic affair.

After the cessation of hostilities, he returned to Australia with his English war bride and baby son. Two months after their arrival a baby girl was born, and three years later another son. When the children grew to school age, Mrs. Kloot began to devote herself to the various activities which have made her such a well-known figure, both in the Jewish community and outside. With a character as strong and upright as an oaktree and a tremendous out-going love of humanity, particularly children, she was one of the pioneers in the many organizations created to advance the health and education of the young.

WIDE INTERESTS

SHE was one of the original members of the National Safety Council whose work has now been taken over by Government to protect young children on the roads from the hazards of modern traffic. They are now taught the "Rules of the Road" in school, and car-drivers are tremendous responsibilities by a planned campaign. The Cinema Council was also one of her important works. It is thanks to her and devoted people like her that suitable films are shown to children in schools today, and that films shown to children in theatres at Childrens' programmes are not of the "Not Suitable" variety.

She was also one of the early members and President for some time of the Federated Mothers' Clubs of Victoria. Here her work was invaluable in making mothers aware of the facilities which children should have to advance their health and education, and how to go about getting them.

She organized countless functions to raise money for this purpose, and wore down the steps of Parliament House taking delegations of and though this was often a discouraging business, in fact they achieved much.

GOOD DEEDS

If she had done nothing else, as an ambassador for our people in the Melbourne non-Jewish community, she was without peer. Loved by the women with whom she worked, honoured and respected by M.P.s and important people in all walks of life, she was known every-

Long - awaited soccer match?

The long-awaited Hakoah v. Maccabi soccer match may take place this season.

Maccabi's all-Jewish team recently drew with Yarra Park in their 2nd round Dockerty Cup game.

If Maccabi wins their replay, probably on July 20, it would be drawn against Hakoah in the following round, possibly on August 3rd.

Hakoah would be expected to win, but their meeting should arouse considerable interest, particularly among Jewish soccer followers.

A Melbourne Jewish sporting official said this week, that it would be a nice gesture by both clubs, if part of the proceeds of a Hakoah-Maccabi match would be donated towards the Australian Maccabiah Squad Fund.

HAKOAH DRAW

Hakoah and Geelong drew 2-2 in their 1st division soccer league game last Saturday, after Hakoah had led 2-1 at half-time.

Blakely and Petersen scored Hakoah's goals. Petersen, Piercy and Blakely did best in attack, Vivoli and Harburn impressed on the half-line.

Many Hakoah scoring attempts were saved by Penzo's (Geelong) brilliant goal-keeping.

Hakoah res. 1 lost to Geelong res. 2.

Saturday: Hakoah res. v. Moreland res. 2-45 Middle Park. The Hakoah v. Moreland league game is postponed, as Hakoah has 2 players in the State side.

MEN'S GYMNASIUM STRENGTH GROWS

AJAX Men's Gymnasium is going ahead in leaps and bounds and is now the largest constituent body of AJAX with a membership of over 200.

With three classes in full training every Wednesday night at the Miller St. Scout Hall, the average weekly attendance exceeds 100.

The junior class (5-10 yrs) (6.30 p.m.) is showing tremendous interest in gymnastic work, and it is a revelation to see, the eagerness with which these youngsters tackle their training.

Coaching from professional Gordon Franks is beginning to show in the marked improvement of the pupils in the intermediate class (10-15 yrs).

Many of these boys are becoming quite proficient in boxing, wrestling and gymnastics, which bodes well for the future strength of the senior class.

The senior boys are now training hard for selection in the forthcoming 25th Interstate Sports Carnival which is being held in Melbourne next Dec./Jan.

Training squads are now being formed. Final teams will be selected from these squads and any person wishing to participate and qualify for the teams must begin regular training immediately.

The club earnestly desires all past members and carnival participants to attend the Gym to boost its strength, carnival standards, and help guide the younger members.

Efforts for U.I.A.

In addition to a large number of honorary workers who are still canvassing in various suburbs for the U.I.A., a number of organizations are contacting members who have not yet contributed, for contributions.

KURTAK, JAVOR WIN STH. DISTRICT TITLES

Tom Kurtak, Hakoah's former Hungarian junior champion, won the Southern Districts men's singles table tennis title last week.

Kurtak defeated improving P. Sanders 3-1 in the final, after beating Hakoah teammate Barney Peters by the same margin in the semi-final.

Hakoah's Susanne Javor, already acclaimed as Australia's outstanding woman player, won the women's singles, defeating State singles champion Miss Dot Payne 21-8, 21-10 in the final.

In the men's doubles final Savy Kramer (Hakoah) and S. Maracki were beaten by V. Matisson-E. Sibbison.

Results are already coming in from the efforts of St. Kilda Hebrew Congregation, Temple Beth Israel and others.

The Habonim 'Work A Day for the U.I.A.' project is being very successfully conducted and this active Zionist Organization expects to be able to raise a very considerable sum for the Appeal this year.

Torah V'Avodah and B'nai Akiva have pledged themselves to raise £100 for the Appeal and the B'nai B'rith Youth are also conducting a very energetic Campaign of their own.

COUNTRY

The Appeal Office has received a number of contributions from country centres like Ballarat, Geelong, etc.

CHANCE MISSED!

TALKING of the Bachelors' Ball, it seems that an opportunity in the field of Public Relations is being missed.

I read that the night of the Ball the Premier, the Member for Monash and the Member for St. Kilda were at the St. Michael's Ball, only $\frac{1}{4}$ mile away at the St. Kilda Town Hall.

Perhaps they were officially invited and St. Michael's had got in first. I don't know. But as the Bachelors' Ball is the nearest approach to an Official Jewish Ball we have, it would be a nice gesture in future years to have the Premier and the local M.P.'s present.

'100 HOURS TO SUEZ'

WHAT an unusually honest book is Robert Henriques "100 Hours to Suez" (Collins, 20/-)!

This is a book that every Jewish man and woman (and many non-Jewish ones) will read and enjoy; but I would be less honest than Mr. Henriques himself if I failed to warn the ladies that the detailed tactical history of the campaign will bamboozle them somewhat, and even bore them a little. Maybe I'm the exception, for I must admit that military tactics are not a hobby of mine.

Mr. Henriques begins by stating his own case, that of the problem of the Arab refugees, of Nasser's dictatorship, of the reason for the failure of Egypt's Army, and of America's dangerous responsibility for the present situation are dealt with succinctly and clearly.

I would beg those of you who get bogged down in the mass of tactical detail to read the final chapter at all costs!

The drawings, incidentally,

Mr. Henriques, mentioned in this column a few weeks ago for his superb stamp designs.

OVER 300 people attended the 33rd Annual Bachellers and Hosts Ball held at the Palais de Dame, St. Kilda on June 26 and many beautiful frocks worn by the guests added more colour to this very gay function. 1966 debutantes, wearing pastel toned ballerina frocks formed a guard of honour for the 19 debutantes and their partners. The debutantes, wearing individual white frocks, made an impressive entry into the Ballroom through an illuminated picture frame at one end of the hall. MARRIED at the Melbourne Synagogue on June 18 were Sonia Katranek, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. A. Katranek (formerly of New Zealand) and Arie Brodman, son of Mr. & Mrs. J. Brodman of Tel Aviv, Israel.

The bride wore a classical gown of white de-lustered satin, with unpressed pleats giving fullness to the skirt. A pearl coronet held her fingertip length veil and she carried a sheath of gardenias. Her attendant Miss Carol Charles (from New Zealand) and her sisters Karen and Narce Katranek wore ballerina frocks of white de-lustered satin dotted with turquoise flec sprays.

The groom had for his best man Mr. Harry Schreiber, with whom he went through college in America, and who is at present visiting Australia, and Baron Katranek was groomsman. Mr. Brodman came from Israel for his son's wedding and the bride's grandparents Mr. & Mrs. S. Naumburg from New Zealand. The reception was held at the Dorchester.

To celebrate the engagement of their daughter Anne Heffcott to Morris Leiberson, Mr. & Mrs. A. Korn with Mrs. R. Leiberson entertained nearly 200 people last Saturday night 26th June, at the Empire Ballroom. For the party Anne wore a French rainbow lame frock which had a cascade of frills falling from below three roses on the left side of the skirt. The mothers both chose brocade frocks, Mrs. Korn was in gold and Mrs. Leiberson in burgundy. The young couple plan to marry later this year or early 1968.

Last Saturday night was the scene of much festivity when Joan Buckner celebrated her 21st birthday at a party given by her parents

Mr. & Mrs. J. Buckner at their home in Kew. Joan was helped in receiving 50 of her young friends by her fiance Don Blaize and her brother Garth. Many of their friends were from the University where Joan graduated in Science last year and her brother is a Law graduate.

Miss Margaret Vansprang left this week for England for SS "Goddess Cross". Miss Vansprang has been associated with WIZO Doreen. Many friends arranged farewell parties for her during the past few weeks, and also gathered at the pier to wish her "Bon voyage".

She is travelling via France in a round trip and may be in England two years.

Mr. & Mrs. Kalman Rogers last Saturday night entertained 150 young people at the dance they gave in honour of their daughter Diana at their home in Lansdale Road, Toorak. Diana wore a lovely full skirted frock of white organza with pink handmade flowers of the same material scattered all over the frock, the neck and shoulder straps were finished with the pink flowers and a large pink satin bow trimmed the back of the skirt. The ballroom and reception rooms were beautifully decorated with large troughs of autumn toned flowers. Many of the young guests were friends of Diana from Lauriston and the University.

Jeffrey Lucien Simon was one of the 1967 Confirmation Class of Congregation Sherith Israel, San Francisco, recently.

The beautiful program began with a procession of the class, in which members participated, a Festival Torah Service with Readers, a Prologue to the Ten Commandments, Torah Blessings, the Ten Commandments and an Address to Parents (in which Jeffrey was a participant). "The Menorah of Jewish Life" enabled pupils to speak of the Sabbath and the various Holy Days and their significance.

Jeffrey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien W. Simon Jr. and the grandson of Mrs. Stella Simon and the late Mr. Lucien W. Simon Sr. His mother is well-known in Melbourne as the former Miss June Snider, daughter of Mrs. Eve Snider and the late Mr. Mendel Snider, and sister of Mr. Baron D. Snider M.L.A.

GOLF:
IN
ROUGH WITH David Witten

Lou Carrington, Gordon Black, yours truly, Eddie Harris, Harry Novic, Max Flinkier, Tom Kennedy and Tom Kelly are the eight qualifiers for the match play in the Ossie Pickworth Cup, and it would readily be agreed that the competition for this tournament has been the keenest ever seen at Cranbourne.

The highest qualifying score was 151 with two or three others on that same mark, but losing out on the count back. And before the match play starts it might be said that the golfing enthusiasm presently raging could be attributable to either the excellent weather we have had and/or the ever improving standard at the club and/or the imminence of the club championships which commence next Saturday.

Lou Carrington followed up last week's 71 net with a 69 and proved his under handicapping will prove a strong danger in the match play. Max Flinkier also must be rated an excellent chance as do two or three others, which include Gordon Black and Eddie Harris.

The Saturday competition was won by Eric Rogers, who after a long absence from this column, came good with a vengeance to record an excellent 69 and reduce his 23 handicap by 3. Rod Goldsmith and Lou Carrington also scored that total and lost 4 and 3 strokes respectively to be now placed on 11 and 21. Others to break par on the day were myself, Harry Novic, Tom Kennedy and Max Flinkier who each lost one handicap shot.

Bad luck about Roddy Goldsmith who was disqualified from the Ossie Pickworth qualifiers by not handing his first card in on time. I guess it contains a lesson for all of us.

Associates: Mrs. A. Wilson's Trophy was an unusually interesting feature at the club last Thursday in a bisque V. bogey comp. It was won by Mrs. W. Todd, 4 up, with Mrs. M. Hall one behind.

Sunday, August 11th has been set aside tentatively as the night for the "Bill Edgar Show". I do recommend it to all golfers whether starters or not for the excellent films which this outstanding amateur in Australian golf has offered to come along and show. They include American films on Golf Etiquette, The Champs, In Action and On

Stanton defending singles title

By HANS LICHT

Harry Stanton will defend his Vic. Jewish men's singles tennis title in the 1957 championships commencing on July 13.

SPOTLIGHT ON MACCABIAH

Our weekly series, presenting performances and background of Australian Jewish sportsmen and women chosen in the Maccaiah squad, is interrupted this week, to stress that—

Australia could do well, if...

September 15, commencement date of the 5th World Maccaiah, is less than 3 months away.

In line with other countries affiliated with Maccaiah World Union, Australia has selected its top-ranking Jewish sporting representatives to take part in World Jewry's own Olympics.

The sportsmen and women selected are not only the best in the Jewish communities of this country, but compare favourably with those selected to represent other countries.

The Australian team will ably represent its sporting organisation and the Jewish community in general, will form an even closer link with Israel than already exists and should do extremely well on the sporting field against the best from other countries.

His squad comprises: (In alphabetical order) David Abramovich (athl.), Ben Burstin (athl.), Darryl Cohen (weight-lift.), Eva Duldig (tennis), Louise Goulburn (athl.), Harold Isaacs (gymn.), Judy Kellerman (athl.), Stan Kenten (tennis), Barney Peters (table tennis), Dory Shipp (table tennis) and Gerald Simonson (gymn.).

Most of these are at or near the top of their respective sports in this country.

Ben Burstin is already holder of a World Maccaiah record, and at least two others have beaten winning times or distances recorded at the last Maccaiah.

Australia's representatives have been chosen by and from the Jewish sporting bodies of NSW, Vic., Qld, WA and SA, the very organisations which do such excellent work for the sporting and recreational requirements of Jewish youth from year to year.

Most of the squad members have themselves played a large part in popularising sport within the Jewish community, at the same time acting as excellent "public relations" agents in the community at large.

Sending of a representative team to Israel should also be regarded as a combination of these important factors.

The Australian team will ably represent its sporting organisation and the Jewish community in general, will form an even closer link with Israel than already exists and should do extremely well on the sporting field against the best from other countries.

These points are ample reason why Australian Jewry should support wholeheartedly the current Maccaiah Fund Drive.

Thousands in our communities have themselves or through their children and families enjoyed the facilities and benefits of our Jewish sporting bodies. NOW is the time to repay just a little, and the guinea per household or 10 guineas per organisation asked for by Maccaiah Fund Director Mr. L. Whitefield could hardly be compared with or detrimental to present day appeals.

Many words and much time on the highest communal levels have been expended, singing the praise and needs of Jewish youth.

Here is just one small example of how youth CAN be helped!

Mr. Whitefield's address is 1 Oswald St., Edgecliff, NSW.

Stanton won the title from Harry Ernest last October and has rested from competitive play since then.

A schoolteacher at Geelong Technical College, he is a resident of Geelong and claims the long rest and recent practice have sharpened his game. He will be playing in singles only.

The 1957 tournament is the 20th in the series, which started in 1927, when Nathan Fryberg won the men's singles title.

The tournament will commence with junior, special, veterans' mixed and women's double events, which will be played through to the finals before men's and women's singles and men's doubles commerce.

ENTRIES CLOSE

Entries for all events close this Sunday, when entries will be accepted at South Judean courts, 97 Alma Rd., St. Kilda until 4 p.m.

Competitors from South and North Judean Tennis Clubs, JYPA, Kew Centre, Mount Scopus College and other groups and individuals are expected to provide a record entry with junior boys' singles and the newly introduced junior girls' singles particularly popular.

The tournament is open to all Jewish amateur tennis players.

Easy wins

Judean Girls' Sports Club senior women's basketball team last week had its easiest win for the season, defeating Vikings 40-4. Gowler, Leah Ernest was given best and fairest.

The second team is the only unbeaten team in DZ grade at the close of the first round of matches. Last week AJAX II defeated Greensborough B 29-5 and Rene Winston, captain, was again voted best and fairest.

Match next week: Ajax I v. University 2 at University Court, corner Grafton Street and Sydney Road at 1 p.m.

Ajax II v. Maribyrong Hostel at Royal Park at 2.30 p.m.

MACCABI SLIDES TO 5TH PLACE

Maccahi dropped from 3rd to 5th position on the 3rd division soccer table after last Saturday's 1-2 loss to Hayduk.

G. Foldy's goal in the 8th minute was a promising opening, but Maccahi's forwards, without Forgacs and Hirsch, were unable to score after that.

Hayduk equalised before half-time, and a penalty against Maccahi settled the issue just before the final whistle.

Forgacs now represents Sydney Hakoah in the NSW soccer (breakaway) federation 1st division competition.

Maccahi reserves showed further improvement, defeating University 8-1. Goals: Tobias (capt.) 4, Fischman, Sonnenreich. Maccahi under 20 lost 4-0 to St. Kilda.

Saturday: Maccahi v. Frankston, 2.45 p.m. Princes Park, Reserves v. Lions (to be notified), juniors v. Footscray, meet YMCA 12.

BEATEN 48-34

AJAX-Hakoah senior men's basketball team was beaten 48-34 by Carlton in their A grade Olympic League game last Monday night.

AJAX trailed 13-24 at half-time. Harry Neufeld and R. Matthews played well in defence, and Leon Diamond topscored again.

S. Adler played well and, with the rest of the side, should show improvement under the club's new coach.

Team: D. Finkelstein 3, M. Sunshine 2, H. Neufeld 2, A. Estrach, R. Matthews 9, Diamond 10, Adler 8.

AJAX B grade team had a bye.

The girls' team playing men's rules B grade defeated Southern Cross 32-7 last Wednesday.

SPORTS NEWS and VIEWS

By HANS LICHT

L.T.A.V. winter pennant tennis competition tables issued at the end of the singles rounds tell a sorry tale for South Judean teams: Special B—last, B grade—last, Special C—equal last, No. 1 C—last, No. 2 C 3rd last (or 5th, if that sounds better), D grade—2nd last.

Easily the club's worst year in pennant. Reasons: SJTC Teams seem below grade standards, SOME teams have had very close ('though losing) results, and SOME players are desperately short of match practice.

That, without further comment, should answer the many queries to me, such as "What's wrong with South's teams this year?"

TRULY a sporting couple, Jill Rubenstein and Leon Diamond say their "I do's" at Melbourne Synagogue on Tuesday.

Well known here and interstate for their basketball, athletics, tennis, etc. activities, Jill and Leon are part of AJAX's "silent service", the sportsmen and women who say little and get on with the job.

Discussions with Mt. Scopus College Principal (Mr. A. Feigin) and Council President (Mr. L. Laskey) have thrown much light on repeated outbreaks (Continued on page 17)

Big win, but poor kicking

AJAX (18-37-145) scored an overwhelming win over ISCA (4-7-3) in their amateur football E grade match at Albert Park last Saturday.

AJAX took command early and held control throughout, but poor kicking marred the Jewish side's display.

Big ruckman David Efron continues to show marked improvement and gave his rovers plenty of drive.

Goals: D. Cohen 6, G. Rose 3, R. Merkel 2, Burstein 1, D. Yaffe 2, Smorgon 1, Nagel, Bromberger. D. Merkel 1 each.

Best: Komesarok, Efron, Roam.

AJAX meets Powerhouse Gold on Saturday at Blessington St. Oval, will have its opportunity to reverse the first round loss to this team.

The annual match, AJAX v. Combined North-South team, will probably be held on August 4.
