Churchill Supports Israel in Washington

WASHINGTON: Sir Winston Churchill registered strong support for Israel.

He expressed the belief that it should be possible to bring influence to bear "from every quarter" to secure an Arab-Israel settlement.

He selected a question submitted to him by JTA Correspondent Milton Friedman from among half-a-dozen questions concerning the most vital world issues whereon he chose to comment at a luncheon given in his honour by the Washington Press Corps.

"I AM ZIONIST"

He expressed confidence that the Western Powers

"ought to be able somehow or other to use our influence from every quarter to cause them to work together."

He wanted to make clear "I am a Zionist. I was one of the original Zionists."

COMMENDATION

Sir Winston commended the Jewish people for making Israel fertile. He thought it wonderful that Israel had established itself so effectively.

The Jewish State had offered a refuge to coreligionists who had suffered "under Hitler's persecution and not only under Hitler."

He said that without an Israel-Arab agreement it would be so easy to reduce that part of the world to desert.

"LET US BE TOLERANT"

He supported the Zionist reply to the statements of Mr. Byroade, when he remarked that Palestine had supported a far greater population two thousand years ago than it did today.

He said "Let us be tolerant. Let us be friendly. Let us support the Arabs and let us help forward legitimate Zionist aspirations."

Border, Jordan Waters Discussed

JERUSALEM, Weds. The Prime Minister (Mr. M. Sharett) told a press conference that the Israel Government has not yet reached a decision on the Western proposals for improving the supervision of the Israel-Jordan border.

He said that he doubted whether there was room for a change in the present Armistice Agreement, since the Jordanians have been deliberately violating its clauses.

Mr. Sharett devoted most of his news conference to the Johnston Water Discussions. He denied that the American delegation had threatened to cut off aid for Israel if the Johnston proposals were not accepted.

He said that Israel awaited further clarification of the position from Mr. Johnston before taking further action.

DIRECTORS AID BURMESE GOVT.

TEL AVIV (JTA): Four Solel Boneh directors have left by air for Burma to advise the Burmese Govt. on industrial development.

They are to examine the possibility of establishing rubber and iron-processing plants there.

WANT RELEASE OF RUMANIANS

TEL AVIV, Weds. A meeting of all Israel parties affiliated with the World Jewish Congress called on the free world for energetic support of Jewry's call for the release of Jewish leaders imprisoned by Romania.

"Non-Party Youth Organisation of 100,000"

BEN-GURION'S NEW SCHEME

By Sh. ITZHAKI, Our Own Correspondent in Israel

TEL AVIV, June 1954 (By Airmail): "100,000 young men of all social classes, aged 14 to 18, must become in the near future the moral skeleton of the new society in Israel"—this is the new scheme put forward by retired Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion who has decided to carry out his new vision even despite the opposition of his own MAPAI party of which he is still the Great Leader.

Seven students of the Hebrew University recommended to Ben-Gurion by its Dean as "sincerely non-party men" were invited by the retired "old man" to his rustic house in Sde-Boker, in the Negev, and the talk lasted over four hours.

One of these students told me among other things the following:

"It was our first impression that D. Ben-Gurion, having reached his first goal, in the State of Israel, by creating a strong Army of Defence, has at present decided to achieve another vital purpose which he calls: 'the formation of a non-party and non-sectarian Youth Movement which would bear in its mind one interest only—the interest of the State, and not of some political party.'

As hinted above, it is rumoured that the leaders of Mapai, which is, besides, the largest and strongest political party in Israel, are not considering Ben-Gurion's scheme as a realistic one.

They said that the organization of a "non-party youth movement" had been dreamt of by the well known philosopher and leader of the Labour movement, the late Berl Katznelson, who died in 1942.

The retired "old man" ("Zakein", as he is called in Israel) has proclaimed that the implementation of the scheme is "a vital necessity for the present and future of the Jewish State."

He added that wherever college and university students should meet in this country, he would come to them and say:

"The existence of the State of Israel is jeopardized by the permanent party discussions and party interests."

Hundreds of thousands of Israelis have forgotten, as a result of their party alliances that their primary loyalty must be given to the State and not to the political party to which they belong....

Ben-Gurion Suggests Two-Party System

TEL AVIV (JTA): The twentieth annual General Zionist conference last week heard addresses from Premier Sharett, who is a member of Mapai, and General Zionist Minister Peretz Bernstein and Israel Rokach.

Replies to a letter from Peretz Bernstein inviting him to attend the opening of the conference, Mr. Ben Gurion suggested that the Conference should discuss the political set-up in Israel and the possibility of securing stability by the establishment of a two-party regime.

AZO Resolution on Arms

NEW YORK, Weds. The American Zionist Organization passed a resolution urging the USA to "reconsider the contemplated arms shipments to Arab States which could prove disastrous to Middle East stability."

It added that the recent actions of the State Department and certain of its officials "jeopardise our country's traditional policy of friendship for Israel, as well as America's vital interests in promoting peace and stability in the Middle East."

Deputy Under-secretary of State Mr. Robert Murphy defended the State Department and said that officials were affected by sympathy and the desire to effect solutions which would be in the best interests of the Jewish community and the USA.

Dr. Abba Silver expressed the belief that the anti-Israel utterances of certain officials do not "represent the true sentiments of the leaders of our Government who have time and again given expression to their deep sympathetic interest in the security and prosperity of Israel."

Mortimer May as elected President, succeeding Rabbi Miller.

MEDICOS MAKE DEMANDS

TEL AVIV, Tues. The Council of the Israeli Medical Association has approved plans for an "unlimited strike" by doctors in Government employ from July 1 unless the Government meanwhile agrees to their demands for better salaries.

Only Few Responded

Only 4 years ago, in the course of a country-wide action by Mapai leaders, and Mr. Ben-Gurion among them, the old scheme of "Youth Movement" was adopted, but it could not be carried out.

The scheme aimed at the "renewal of the pioneering spirit" by dispatching tens of thousands of young men and women to the Negev, to the Ma'abarot (transitory camps of new immigrants) and to other pioneering duties in the interest of the State.

But the experience, unfortunately, completely failed, because but a very small section of the youth had listened to the call of their leaders.

Changes Necessary

TO CURB HATE LITERATURE

WASHINGTON, Weds. Congressman Jarvis has introduced two resolutions in Congress in an attempt to curb hate literature aimed against religious and minority groups.

He said that anti-Semitic propaganda under the cover of anti-Communism is transmitting a newly increased stream of violent propaganda through the media.

EAST GERMANY SOLICITS EGYPTIAN ORDERS

MUNICH (JTA): In sales letters to Egyptian firms state owned East German factories now stress according to word received here, that they are located in a part of Germany which "has not paid one shilling of reparations to Israel, whereas the American enslaved Federal Republic of West Germany supports Israel with billions against the free nations of Arabia".

This sales talk is intended as a follow-up to the Soviet zone trade fair recently staged in Cairo amid considerable ballyhoo, but reportedly without sizeable orders having been placed.

22 JEWS GRADUATED

NEW YORK (JTA): 22 Jewish graduates of the United States Military Academy at West Point, and the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis, were commissioned at the June 1954 exercises.

They each received personally inscribed copies of the Bible from the National Jewish Welfare Board's Commission on Jewish Chaplaincy.

Thirteen of the graduates were second lieutenants at West Point; the other nine were ensigns at Annapolis.

Other facts reported to the conference were: Hapoel Hamizrahi in the U.S. has sold over $44m. worth of Israel Independence Bonds and the Bnai Akiva organisation—the youth movement of Hapoel Hamizrahi—was responsible during the last year for sending more than 25 per cent of the American youth who emigrated to Israel.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY, JULY 2nd., 1954

THE PROPHET

Sir Winston Churchill's visit to Washington is memorable for the realist view he has taken of a number of important problems, foremost being the emphasis he places on the need for a modus vivendi between the Eastern and Western Blocs, and between the Arab States and Israel (He labelled himself a Zionist, and said Israel could hold a larger population).

In the first case, he points out, any victory by the Western Bloc would be hollow since the ruin of Western civilisation, if not of humanity altogether, would be achieved in the process.

In the second, ruin of the Middle East would follow if a formula for co-existence on an amicable basis for Israel and the Arabs were not found. He did not hesitate to warn of the deflorescence of the fertile parts of the Middle East into arid desert if the present animosity continued.

This raises the thought: "What shall it profit a man if he gains the whole world but loses his own soul?"

Many truly liberal minds in the world today fear that a formula for co-existence of Eastern and Western Powers would be a Pyrrhic victory; one gained at too great a cost because the Eastern Bloc is intent on converting the rest of the world to its political religion, and would utilise the physical peace accordingly.

This fear does not make allowance for the irrepressible force for freedom within every human heart. It may be kept buried, in a deep-frozen condition, in the hearts of many people, but this should not be confused with a fossilisation (which is death).

There are signs and portents within Russia itself of the freeing of the human spirit, gleaned from authoritative sources within that country. Critics are now being encouraged to criticise, as an article in our next issue will indicate.

So we return to the theme: co-operation, not competition, will further human evolution. Sympathy, not mechanical hardness, to flow from compassion will bring growth.

OBITUARY:Mr. Louis Epstein

The community has lost a colorful personality with the sudden death of Mr. Louis Epstein this week, at the age of 75.

The late Mr. Epstein came to Victoria from England, where he was born nearly 50 years ago, and established a flourishing tailoring business for the past 30 years occupying premises in Flinders Street, Melbourne, that he built and owned.

He made most of the uniforms for the Victorian Police Force. Several of his children are in their late father's business.

The late Mr. Epstein was of a lively disposition and adventurous spirit and he was very popular among a large number of Jews and members of the general communal.

He had a vast store of delightful anecdotes of his early days in Victoria, recording unusual experiences and the hilarious times he had with his large family on their excursions and expeditions into the country.

Mr. Epstein, who was known for his generosity, was a Past Master of Hawksburn Lodge No. 272 Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and five of his sons are in the same lodge.

At one time he was Treasurer of the Judaean League of Victoria, the co-ordinating roof organisation for a considerable number of youth organisations.

He was keenly interested in the many local Jewish activities, and both he and his widow for many years threw themselves with zest into these activities.

His daughter Heather is Mrs. Maurice Ashkanasy, wife of the President of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies who is a distinguished communal leader; another daughter

Mr. S. Oshlack

Mr. Sholom Oshlack died in Adelaide late last week, at the age of 63.

He was born in Poland, where he was a Yeshiva student for 14 years. He there became influenced by Zionist writings, the distribution of which had been forbidden in his Yeshiva but was carried on clandestinely.

Because of the strictures against Zionism he left the Yeshiva, married and went to New Zealand. Though he had no knowledge of furs, he became a furrier, and worked so assiduously that in four years he had become the manager of a very large concern.

The paucity in New Zealand of the kind of Jewish life to which he was accustomed in Poland led him to Melbourne in the 1920's. He established a business in the textile trade that grew in size and importance.

Miss BETTY SIMMONS and Mr. HARRY KOSS (Kosycer) wish to thank all relatives and friends for the good wishes, telegrams and beautiful gifts received on the occasion of their engagement. Will all please accept this as a personal acknowledgment.

Letters to the EditorGERMAN PAPER

Sir—In her weekly column "Roundabout" (June 25, 1954) Pamela Ruskin directed the spotlight to the forthcoming publication of the German language paper "Neue Welt" (New World).

I leave it to others to judge the merits or demerits of her criticism of the new venture which—I feel sure—will be welcomed by many people in this country speaking German. However, I am appalled by the assumption and insinuation that the Jewish editor and publisher of this new periodical would "sell his soul for thirty pieces of silver" in order to obtain advertisements from German firms.

I have known the editor and publisher of the "Neue Welt" for many years as a most honest and straightforward man who would never publish anything which is not in agreement with his deepest convictions. He has suffered for these convictions as a Jew and a journalist in his former home town Vienna, from the Nazi brutes in two concentration camps (Dachau and Buchenwald) at a time when the writer of the above mentioned article most probably enjoyed a secure and sheltered youth. When he finally escaped from the clutches of Hitler to Shanghai, he continued to fight against Nazism and Anti-Semitism with the best weapon in his possession, his pen, risking his life all the time until he was rescued by the British authorities in Shanghai. In this way he reached Australia.

It is absolutely fantastic to accuse a man with such a past of obnoxious activities without any justification and to attack him in a paper, which so far has upheld the principle of "fair play".

R. HARANT

Sir—Permit me to make a few remarks to Pamela Ruskin's para regarding the new German Newspaper "Neue Welt". She calls practically on the Board of Deputies and all of us Jews to boycott it, because it doesn't call itself "German-Jewish" and because she fears the people behind it may in future succumb to German interests hostile to our own.

I haven't read the sample issue, but I do know the Editor well and it seems that Pamela Ruskin too is aware of his identity. If that is so, it is the first time I am disappointed by her views, as I found her writings so far always enjoyable. She attacks a man, a Jew, who has quite a few unpleasant experiences behind him, because he is a Jew and a man of convictions, a man who could have saved himself some of these experiences, but stood by his convictions and could not be bought for thirty or more pieces of silver. It is this aspect more than anything else, which makes me write this letter, this condemning a man before he has done any wrong. Personally I don't care if there is a German newspaper in Melbourne or not, but I consider the implied condemnation of the editor of this new paper as an injustice and I hate injustice.

Pamela Ruskin would not have minded a German-Jewish paper. There is in my opinion no need and no room for this in Melbourne, because our Jewish interests are well catered for by the "Jewish News". If some people feel there is a need for a German paper, let some enterprising people try it. This is a democratic country and it would certainly not be possible, if the Government of this country would not think it fit to issue a licence for it.

Has it occurred to Pamela Ruskin, that with the influx of German speaking migrants—if we want them here or not—somebody would sooner or later have started a German Newspaper? Doesn't it seem to her better that this is being done now by a man of integrity and convictions like the editor of "Neue Welt"? Has it occurred to her, that he, with his experience as a newspaper man, may be able to sway away perhaps—if that is possible—a few of these migrants from the doctrines with which they came to this country?

To compare it with imports of German goods is out of place and to invoke the powers of the Board of Deputies is at this juncture at least unnecessary. By all means, let us watch this paper and its policy, but don't let us arouse our people against it right from the beginning because it isn't expressly Jewish. Above all, don't let us condemn without a crime, but let us adhere to that great principle of British Justice: "That Right Be Done!" Yours etc.

SUCCESSFUL JUNIOR BLUE BOX FUNCTION

Over 300 children attended a Grand Junior Blue Box Concert held on Sunday, June 26th at the Samuel Meyers Hall. The programme which was provided in its entirety by children of B'nai Akiva was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Addressing the large gathering of children, Mr. N. Beilner commented on the ever increasing importance attached to the work done by the children through the medium of the Junior Blue Box. He then proceeded to present prizes to the winners of this afternoon namely: J. Rockman £7/5/10/-, John Rockman £6/15/4/-, L. Feigin £6 15/2/-, Boris Field £6/4/2. Other outstanding boxes were the ones of L. Cohen £5/2/-; Erica Heimovitz £5/10/10/-; C. Epstein £3/14/6; L. Dabcheck £3/11/7.

Mr. Beilner later introduced Mr. Menachem Levin, the Youth Shallach who had only arrived a few days ago from Israel. The programme of the afternoon was very ably conducted by Iay Leibler, Chairman of the Junior Blue Box Club and the distribution of chocolates to all children by the Jewish National Fund

ISRAEL AND ORTHODOX JUDAISM

Sir—I attended the debate (reported in your columns, 25/6/54) on whether Israel should be based on orthodox Judaism, and although I fully appreciate that some debaters may have had to speak against their personal convictions, I feel obliged to voice my disgust at the unnecessary flippancy in which some of the debaters referred to the essentials of Judaism.

It is quite possible to attempt to propound a sound argument for the negative in this debate, but it is the height of anti-Semitism to sneak with levity, as did speakers I could name, of the world as having "lost the need for the old Torah message", of the "precious hours of production" that would be lost with universal enforcement of the Sabbath, and of the "Orthodox minority" that would destroy us from within, and so on.

Is it not surprising that mature and responsible Jews show so little appreciation of the basic value of Judaism to the world?

Debating is an art eminently aimed at producing mutual respect, and one in which—though this seems often to be forgotten—it is anathema to hit below the belt.

The worst feature of all these abusive utterances is that they were without exception utterly irrelevant.

Yours etc.

Rabbi Lashes Out at Education

MELBOURNE: Inadequate finance and equipment, parental lack of understanding and neglect of moral guidance and communal service came in for bitter criticism last Sunday night when Rabbi Dr. Sanger addressed a JASOV meeting on the topic "How successful is Jewish Education?"

Although there was a tremendous amount of lip-service being paid to the importance of Jewish education, the general tendency was to leave it all to the experts, Rabbi Sanger said.

Describing Home, School and Community as the three pillars of Jewish education, the Rabbi observed that the home was frequently at variance with the school. If the school teaches Jewish observance and at home there is no such observance, the two effects frequently cancel each other out, he said.

NOT INSPIRE YOUNG
Similarly, if the community is torn by dissension and strife, disunited and ugly, it will not inspire young people to reside within it.

Suggesting training for Jewish life in the widest possible sense as the first aim of Jewish education, the rabbi warned that the biggest problem in the community today was that of the non-participating Jew.

The majority are only occasional guests and absentee landlords. But participation means taking part in the communal, religious, charitable and civic sphere.

Every successful Jewish school must have charitable and civic activities.

PARENTS CRITICISED
Dr. Sanger criticised parents who bucked at the idea of additional Hebrew lessons rather than cutting down on instruction in music, ballet etc.

He believed that Jewish history, taught by the modern progressive methods now being used in other history teaching, could do more to spread Jewish consciousness than any other subject.

Moral guidance, the fourth task of Jewish education, was most sadly neglected. "Whatever we teach, ethics comes only as an afterthought," Dr. Sanger said.

TEXT BOOKS

"Modern text books on Jewish ethics are few and far between, and so we have to go right back to the sources."

"Modern education is generally deficient in the teaching of ethics, but that the average Jew should be quite untaught is pathetic, seeing that Western ethics were given to the world by the Jews."

The rabbi elaborated on many of his remarks during question time, which proved a popular feature among the audience of about sixty.

American Atom Scientist Broadcasts 1953 Reith Lectures

Last year was the first occasion on which an American has been invited to give the B.B.C. Reith Lectures. He is outstanding physicist and atomic authority, Professor J. Robert Oppenheimer, then Director of the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton University.

Under the general title Science and the Common Understanding, the A.B.C. will broadcast his talks on alternate Sundays (beginning July 11) at 9.30 p.m. from 3LO (not country Regionals).

The Reith Lectures were instituted in 1948 in honour of the B.B.C.'s first Director-General, Sir John Reith, and have become an annual broadcasting event. They consist of a series of six half-hour talks by an expert in some particular field, on a subject of current importance & interest.

The first lecturer was philosopher Bertrand Russell. He was followed by an educationist, Robert Birley, Headmaster of Eton College; Professor J. Z. Young, the biologist; Lord Radcliffe of Werneth, a legal authority; and historian Arnold Toynbee.

NEWTON, THE PATH OF LIGHT
Professor Oppenheimer's main thesis is the impact of certain scientific discoveries on the intellectual and spiritual life of our times. He builds his first talk—Newton: The Path of Light—around the discoverer of the law of gravitation.

First comes a warning: that laymen and philosophers may place on the findings of science an interpretation foreign to the mind of the scientist. For instance, the mechanistic (and largely irreligious) view of the universe which resulted from Newton's "enlightenment", was alien to the mental climate of Newton, who retained a sense of profound awe and humility.

In our own time, Einstein's theory of relativity has been falsely equated with a doctrine of relativism.

Most often the influence of science in other mental spheres is indirect. The success of its sceptical approach may

1954 UNITED ISRAEL APPEAL

The Emissaries have gone. The meetings are more or less over. A number of pledges are in hand and many of these have been paid. BUT, the work of the Directorate is still going on! There are still, in Victoria, many hundreds of our fellow Jews who, for some reason or another, have as yet DONE NOTHING.

Surely they do NOT want to feel out of this, one of the most sacred tasks, their contribution to this year's United Israel Appeal.

The voluntary workers, who have and continue to give up their time, weekends, nights to assist because they are sincere and devoted are now tackling the most difficult aspect of Appeal work-canvassing.

Already many of them have started on their door to door calls with pledge forms.

It is now up to those men and women who have as yet not shown their solidarity with their fellow Jews, to DO THEIR DUTY.

It is really NOT FUN, calling upon people and asking them for their contributions, but this is being done, and it is hoped that every man and woman who receives a call

Inter - Group Relations Discussed

LONDON (JTA): Dr. C. E. Raven, Warden of Madingley Hall, Cambridge, and Chairman of the Council of Christians and Jews, was the main speaker at the session of the Commonwealth Conference which was devoted to inter-group relations.

Dr. Raven declared that the Council of Christians and Jews had more influence during the last few years than anyone had the right to expect.

It had become perfectly clear how urgent it was that the two faiths be brought nearer together. To some extent the Council was a pioneering movement with far-reaching effects in all directions.

Mutual understanding, he emphasised, does not mean an attempt to proselytise.

He noted that Christian and Jewish documents about each other's faith had, in the past, been very biased.

Referring to the very worrying and perplexing situation in the Middle East, Dr. Raven expressed the view that the time had perhaps come when an approach might be made, possibly in some other country, to Moslems with the intention of establishing a Council of Christians, Jews and Moslems.

Speaking of his efforts for a rapprochement between the worlds of religion and science it appeared to him that these worlds were not so widely divorced in Judaism as they were in Christianity. Judaism had preserved a sense of the worth of nature.

JEWISH RELATIONS WITH S.A. CHURCHES

Speaking of inter-racial activities in South Africa, G. Saron said the Council of Christian and Jews there was now more or less defunct.

This did not mean however that that work was not proceeding. In the past there had been difficulties on account of the division of the churches in South Africa. Relations today between Jews and the churches in South Africa were quite satisfactory.

The Dutch Reformed Church, he added, was now very interested in Jewish matters and there was a real desire to know what the Jewish community felt and needed.

TENSION REDUCED

P. Gourgy, Bombay, expressed the view that tension between races in India had been reduced by the introduction of a secular state.

He showed great interest in Dr. Raven's suggestion for a Christian, Jewish and Moslem Council.

Mr. Gerald Devahl Davis of Australia presided and Rev. I. Livingston delivered a report on the Central Jewish Lecture Committee. Another speaker was the Rev. W. W. Simpson, secretary of the Council of Christians and Jews.

CHIEF RABBI PRESIDES

Presiding at the session which was devoted to Jewish religious problems and educational matters, Chief Rabbi Israel Brodie said that stress was on the religious character of the Jewish education system in this country.

There was resistance to any attempt at secularisation and he thought that was generally accepted by Jews throughout the Commonwealth.

Dr. Epstein, principal of Jews' College, spoke about the training and supply of ministers of religion.

20 RABBINIC VACANCIES

He estimated that there were some 20 vacancies for spiritual leaders in the Commonwealth at the present time. To his mind, an annual intake into Jews' College of six students would fill the need, but the present average was only four.

He hoped other Commonwealth countries would follow South Africa and provide bursaries for students at the College.

Dr. Fishman, education officer of the London Board of Jewish Education, spoke of the shortage of teachers, a point which was taken up by Mrs. Elsie Janner and many of the following speakers. Mrs. Janner advocated the establishment of an institution for the training of Jewish teachers run on similar lines to normal training colleges but with the addition of instruction in Judaism. The Jewish Agency's department of education and culture she stated, had offered a considerable grant for education purposes and she thought plans should be laid immediately for the training college.

The Chief Rabbi intervened to say he would like to feel that the educational programme was financed by the community itself and that no money collected for the Jewish Agency should go to educational institutions in this country. It would be a shame, he said, to think that we needed to have recourse to funds dedicated primarily to Israel. He would not like to see any departure from the great Jewish tradition that the community paid for the education of its own children.

NOTHING TO LEARN

The Haham, Dr. Gaon, spoke of the need for accordin a proper and dignified status to the Jewish teacher in this country. He thought it necessary for Commonwealth ministers to be specially trained, with the communities finding their own students who would be sent here for training. The problems of the Commonwealth countries, he stated, differed widely. He also advocated an exchange of ministers and rabbis between the United Kingdom and the countries of the Commonwealth. It was his belief that ministers should be enabled to spend a few months in Israel before taking up their posts.

G. Saron thought that South Africa had very little to learn from this country in the matter of Jewish education in his own country. Cyril Jacobs, O.B.E., of Rhodesia, and other delegates spoke of the great need for teachers and spiritual leaders in the smaller isolated communities where the dangers of intermarriage and assimilation were much greater.

When Rabbi Dr. Freedman indicated that he intended to come to Australia for a five weeks' visit to see his children Mrs. P. Symons and Mrs. A. Bloch and their children, he was asked by the World Executive of Mizrachi to undertake a mission in the Far East at the same time.

He agreed to visit Singapore and Japan on behalf to conduct an appeal for Mizrachi, and consequently altered his arrangements to visit Melbourne two weeks earlier, and to curtail his stay to 11 days.

He flew in from New York this week. Mrs. Freedman left N.Y. earlier, travelling to Australia by boat. She arrived in Melbourne on Monday.

A welcome reception has been arranged for Sunday, July 4 at "Stanmark", 441 Inkerman St., East St. Kilda. Cocktails will be served at 7.45 p.m. to allow friends to meet the Rabbi and Mrs. Freedman, and the official welcome will commence at 8.30 p.m.

• Operation Tax.

At the beginning of the annual vacation about forty members of the Third St. Kilda Scout Troop will embark on a ten day tour of Tasmania. They will see the island state from Wynyard in the north to Hobart in the south.

This trip is the culmination of two years of planning on the part of the Scouting Group.

The party, including three

Scouts, will proceed to Wynyard by plane and from there travel by Pioneer Coach. They will visit Burnie, Devonport,

Launceston, the Tarraleah

Hydro Electric Works and finish the tour in Hobart.

Arrangements have been made to visit all places of interest on the route including Mt.

Wellington and Port Arthur

near Hobart. The Boy Scouts

Association of Tasmania has in various Scout Halls and this has eliminated the necessity of carrying heavy tentage.

The return trip will be made from Hobart also by plane.

Cost of the venture is not tribute a substantial amount towards expenses incurred on the trip.

They are therefore running a picture night on Sunday, interesting films are to be shown as well as colour slides taken on a recent trip over-

OTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS p. 13.

Refugee Jew's Invention Gives New Hope To Near-Blind

(By A Staff Reporter)

A quiet, studious Viennese high school student of 15 years ago—Jewish refugee from Nazism—to-day is the hope of thousands of partly or near-blind people in Australia and abroad.

He is towering, massive and moustached Joseph Lederer, 32, Senior Lecturer and Head of the Optometry Section, NSW University of Technology, whose invention last October of a new powerful reading lens has restored effective sight to scores of sufferers given up as hopeless by medical science.

In over 90 per cent of a total of 300 recent test cases the new lens has proved successful beyond imagination.

ENQUIRIES FROM ABROAD

I visited Mr. Lederer at his Ultimo lecture rooms and offices this week. When I arrived, he was busily engaged obliging press photographers who wanted "exclusive" pictures of his invention and research activities.

But whereas his invention undoubtedly was exclusive in the sense that it was the result of one person's patient and persistent effort over a period of many months, its beneficial effects are certainly not.

To-day, just on nine months after the making of the first new reading lens, the world is talking of—and eager to know more about it.

After the first burst of publicity about his amazing successes, a flood of enquiries from all over Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, Fiji and Israel has converged on his plain, even austere, back street office. Optometrists from everywhere recently hurried to Sydney for briefing on the new lens and to attend post graduate courses.

After listening to a number of case histories of partial blindness, poor sight and eye defects in which use of the new lens means the end of a long period of semi-darkness and a new "lease of life" to many sufferers, I asked Mr. Lederer to tell me something about himself.

"There isn't much to say," he replied modestly, "except that in the course of my duties here I am doing a considerable amount of research all the time and one never knows where it may all lead to."

"You know, I haven't been doing this all my life; when I arrived in Australia with my parents in 1939—barely 17—and without any specific training except that received at a Vienna High School, I did not know what I might do. I certainly had no immediate plans to study optometry."

WON S.T.C. MEDAL
"For awhile I was employed in a cafe and did other unskilled work, but in 1941 I matriculated and entered Sydney Technical College.

"I gradually became interested in optometry and in 1944 finished my course, graduating with honours; I was awarded the S.T.C. medal.

"I embarked on private practice as an optometrist and kept that up for about two years.

"In 1947 I was appointed full time lecturer in Optometry at Sydney Technical College. I had always been interested in teaching and, upon hearing of a vacancy in this section, applied for the appointment and got it.

"Cases of subnormal vision interested me particularly and following on intensive research over a period of well over a year the new reading lens was completed about nine months ago.

TO LECTURE ABROAD

"Since then, I am glad to say we had positive results in over 270 of 300 test cases. Several thousand enquiries have been received from New South Wales alone and we are hoping to be of some help in most of them."

MR. JOSEPH LEDERER

He Did Not Pay Taxes for Stolen Refrigerator

By Sh. Itzhaki

TEL AVIV, (By Airmail) —

"Don't you think, Sir, it's a bit too much to ask me to pay duty on something I don't have?"—the American Jew who felt that his temper had become ruffled for the first time, firmly asked the Customs official at the Haifa harbour.

But the official calmly replied: "My dear Sir, you must try to understand that our job is to collect the customs on dutiable goods. The fact is that there is now a refrigerator somewhere in Israel for which someone must pay the duty... That is the rule..."

This conversation was but the continuation of the following event: An American Jew who had decided to settle in Israel, brought with him most of his household equipment.

When his things arrived in Haifa he learned that his refrigerator had disappeared somehow, although he could swear that it was unloaded from the ship.

He was surprised indeed, but being well-off he decided not to make a fuss about it and to clear through customs what was left.

HOW TAX WORKED

Only then the "trouble" started. He rapidly discovered that he would be required to pay luxury tax on the refrigerator which had disappeared through no fault of his own.

The Customs official of the Haifa harbour added: "That's the rule, and unless you pay the tax on the refrigerator, we won't be able to release the remainder of your effects..."

It is said, that the American Jew refrained from thumping on the table, but composed a restrained though determination letter to the Director of Customs.

Some days later he received an answer stating that this indeed is the Law.

MINISTER MOVED

Then our man recounted the whole story to his brother, who happens to be employed by the Government, the entire matter was put before the Minister of Finance in a friendly way.

The Minister did thump on the table and sent out an order that the man's belongings be released immediately.

When he again appeared at the Port to collect his goods, our American Jew was greeted cordially by the Customs official who said: "I am releasing your goods."

Death Solves Dilemma for Jewish Actor

WEST BERLIN (JTA):—
When veteran actor Arthur Mainzer passed away here recently, the moral predicament that had weighed him down toward the end of his life was lifted from his shoulders.

Mainzer had been well-known on the Frankfurt stage prior to Hitler. Because he was a Jew, he had to flee before Nazism—first to Austria, then to England, where he adopted the name of Reynolds.

His whole life, however, was wrapped up with the German language and with German plays, and for that reason he returned to Germany in 1951.

He settled in Berlin, but found it difficult to make ends meet. Then a role was offered to him—in a play starring Werner Krauss, the actor who was so prominent in Nazi circles and who performed no less than five Jewish roles in the notorious anti-Semitic film "Jud Suess."

For weeks, Arthur Mainzer was torn between his eagerness for the role and his abhorrence of Krauss. In the end, he was absolved from the need of making a decision.

very true, and most people make their tributes when they are too late to be appreciated by the recipient.

Mr. Marks must be proud and delighted at the evidences of "esteem and affection" that have come to him from so many quarters.

We congratulate him and wish him well now that his heavy business schedule has been lightened. His retirement is only a partial one and he still has sufficient business interests to make life entertaining, but not arduous.

LEAKY VALVE TO COUNCIL'S HEART?

Mr. Redapple's letter (Jewish News, 25/6/54) voicing the Council's concern about the precarious peace of Israel is most laudable. In fact, his entire letter is concise, completely correct in its sentiments and conclusions, and did it come from any other source one could find no quarrel with it.

To find the Council so warmly supporting a Zionist cause appears more than a little inconsistent.

Israel and all Jewry from the highest levels of the World Jewish Congress down to the smallest Zionist group have been voicing protest and alarm at the Rumanian (iron-curtain) policy of bitterly persecuting all Jews who are Zionists, indicting even those who ever were at any time Zionists.

This blatant anti-Zionism which under those circumstances amounts to, and must be called, anti-semitism, surely comes more within the Council's scope than the political dangers to Israel.

Yet nary a peep of indignation in regard to the plight of Rumanian Jewry has come from the Council.

Not only Nelson, it seems, had a blind eye!

VARIATION ON A THEME
From America comes the quip of a certain Rabbi who complained that many Jews had become Quakers. "Some of my best Jews are Friends!" he sighed.

GOTT MIT UNS!

Billy Graham, the famous revivalist who has had even Archbishop Fisher on his platform, is to visit Melbourne fairly soon. I hope somebody might ask him some questions.

A statement last week found him ardently supporting the full-scale rearmament of those nice Western Germans against the wicked Russians...

For a man who has God right in his heart and life as the lusty Mr. Graham claims to have, this seems a remarkably irreligious attitude and remarkably close to American panic policy.

Have all Christians forgiven and forgotten German crimes and are all consciences so drugged with political know-how? • • •

OIL FOR THE WHEELS OF EDUCATION

The "debenture" system is spreading through our private schools like a measles rash, becoming more severe with each "victim."

One wonders how long it will be before Mount Scopus decides upon this so-called "necessary" evil.

School councils have disgraced and talk a lot before covered that parents moan, hand. When the blow falls, they take it lamb-like, right on the neck. And it raises such a lot of necessary capital, so painlessly, for the schools.

The Root to "The Final Solution"

DR. F. FRIEDLANDER

Gerald Reitlinger's widely discussed book "The Final Solution". The Attempt to Exterminate the Jews of Europe 1939-1945 implies also a challenge to the historian to find out the date of the origin of this unique crime in the history of civilised peoples.

While, however, Reitlinger holds Himmler and his men responsible for this crime, Alan Bullock, in his well-documented life of Hitler, differs on this point from him by plainly stating:

"Himmler organised the extermination of the Jews, but the man in whose mind so grotesque a plan had been conceived was Hitler. Without Hitler's authority, Himmler, a man solely of subordinate virtues, would never have dared to act on his own. There are few more ghastly pages in history than this attempt to eliminate a whole race, the consequence of the 'discovery' made by a young down-and-out in a Vienna slum in the 1900's that the Jews were the authors of everything that he most hated in the world (p. 442)."

Nevertheless, how could a big people, like the German people, hand all her power over to such a man? It is Alan Bullock again, who showed that Hitler had never succeeded unless he did skillfully take advantage of the German national resentment in consequence of Germany's defeat in the first world war as well as of the moral catastrophe which followed the economic catastrophe of the country, also in consequence of the last war.

To realise indeed, the real origin of the recent tragedy of European Jewry, it should be necessary to recall to our minds the plight when, following on the lost first world war terrific inflation brought the German economy to the brink of catastrophe.

When this inflation deprived the German middle-class overnight of their savings, a wave of fierce Jew-hatred, growing more and more, swept over Germany and chose especially the immigrated Eastern Jews as convenient scape-goats.

The impoverished German masses did not in the least consider the fact that the tycoons of German heavy industry, recommending the policy of resistance in the Ruhr-area, in 1923, had been guilty of causing this disastrous inflation; they willingly followed the misinterpretation of a corrupt press, in the pay of these industrialists, which tried successfully to blame "Jewish profiteering activity" for Germany's ruin. Restlessly agitating, they had at least excited the mob to such an extent that when the breakdown of German currency occurred in the fall of 1923, a pogrom was looming in Germany's capital.

Only armed with knuckle-dusters, for it was strictly forbidden to carry fire-arms, they made an excellent job, as well-trained men, of warding off the vile outrages of the Berlin mob. And what did the policemen do? They had suppressed the attack on the public place so reluctantly that the Jewish ex-service-men were forced to run to their fellow-Jews' assistance, but now they turned with order against the Jewish soldiers arrested and dragged them on to their trucks and handed them over to Police-headquarters.

They were even sued for "disturbance of the public peace," but had to be acquitted owing to fact that police had failed to maintain public order.

Neither their action nor a brave man's deed, like Silberberg's, should pale into oblivion!

But it is a matter of fact that that Berlin pogrom, in 1923, has completely slipped from the memory of the Jewish contemporaries. Yea, he may be prone to think it dwarfed into insignificance in face of the succeeding Jewish mass catastrophe.

Nevertheless, from the historians' point of view that event was of utmost, although sinister importance, for it occurred exactly at the same time when Hitler first tried, through his Munich plot, to seize power in Germany, provoking in this way the interrelationship of both happenings. Only by the failure of this plot was Hitler prevented from staging his mass slaughter of the Jews already in 1923. Thus was the Berlin pogrom the prelude to a tragedy the fifth act of which was "The Final Solution."

One day, what before had only been feared, became a

Nazi Rearmament

Ernest Platz, in his review in Meanjin, the well known Australian Quarterly, of Reitlinger's book "The Final Solution", states that many of the Nazis responsible for the deaths of millions of people including 6 million Jews, are back in high office in the Bonn Government.

The reviewer mentions such well known Nazis as Dr. Globke, the author of the Nuremberg racial laws. Dr. Otto Ambros, the poison gas expert who was in charge of concentration camps, and Dr. Lohse, the butcher of partisans in Yugoslavia.

Many former military leaders guilty of terrible crimes against humanity are also among those holding high positions.

Field Marshal Kesselring, who was sentenced to death for crimes against the allied forces in Italy, is not only free but is widely spoken of as the future leader of the New German Army. And Admiral Doenitz, who is still in Spandau Prison, is being groomed as a future President of the Bonn Republic.

Behind the facade of the Bonn administration, things are much as they were in Hitler's time. The Krupps and I. G. Farben are back again making guns and extermination chamber gas; the Nazi airmen who bombed Coventry are soon to be given their arms again; the Nazi Generals who overran Europe, shot hostages and slaughtered prisoners are soon to have armies again.

ANTI-SEMITIC LITERATURE

There is a steady stream of anti-Semitic pamphlets, leaflets and newspapers reaching this country from overseas, mainly the USA. Most of these are published by professional anti-semites, like Gerald Smith, who was a leading light in the former America First Movement. This American fascist movement is now being revived again, with Senator McCarthy as its leader.

The Jewish Council to Combat Fascism & Anti-Semitism has protested to the Minister of Customs and the Attorney-General.

Parliamentarians Invited to ECAJ Conference Luncheon

Members of the Federal and NSW Parliaments will be among guests invited to the official luncheon at the 1954 Annual Conference of the Executive Council of Australian Jewry.

Delegates representing all interstate communities are expected to attend the Conference which will be held at the YMHA Centre, Point Piper, from August 13-16.

ECAJ President (Mr. S. D. Einfeld) last week announced that invitations to the luncheon would be extended to the Minister for Immigration (Mr. Holt), the Leader of the Opposition (Dr. Evatt), the Minister for Israel (Mr. Nutock), the Premier (Mr. Cahill), the Leader of the Opposition in the NSW Parliament (Mr. Trebilcot) and other persons in high public positions.

Mr. Einfeld said that the Lord Mayor of Sydney (Ald. Hills) would tender a civic reception to Conference delegates at the Town Hall on Friday, August 13.

Mrs. Nemenoff's Picture of Life on Kfar Hanasi

A friend of Mrs. Eya Nemenoff (Mrs. Hannah Sher) has enabled us to print portions of a letter received from the former Organising Secretary of WIZO here.

The following extracts, in Mrs. Nemenoff's own words, recreate her excited experiences during a visit to the Kibbutz where many Australian chaverim are living.

Kfar Hanasi, the Seder there and the Omer festival on the first day of Pesach were a thrill and pleasure.

It was my first experience of a Seder at a Kibbutz. The dining hall, festively decorated with flowers hanging down in wire baskets from the ceiling, and on the tables covered with white cloths and set with wine, candles and fruit, was full of young people and the older children, all festively clad in snow-white shirts and real trousers (not khaki, for a change), with beaming faces in anticipation of Yom Tov.

The menu consisted of chopped liver, chicken soup with knedlach, roast chicken and potatoes, and "compote" in good old Jewish style. There were the traditional hard-boiled eggs with salt water, "charoset", pickled cucumbers on the table, and "chrein" too, of course.

UNORTHODOX HAGADAH

The Hagadah was quite unorthodox—their own edition illustrated with highly-artististic drawings by one of their chaverim and a mixture of extracts from the original Hagadah, appropriate quotations from the Bible, contemporary songs, blessings and traditional songs (like Chad Gad'ya, Echad mi Yodea)—I can't take the guarantee if this list is complete and what the authentic sources are.

They all knew it and the tunes, anyway, and it was read in rotation by various chaverim and chaverot, each a certain passage supported by the joining in choir of the whole gathering.

FOLK SONGS

Even though it lasted about a quarter of the time the Hagadah takes at any good traditional Seder, the "ahs" and "ohs" of relief and enthusiasm at the coming food were exactly the same as in any home.

After the meal was over, began the community singing which, although by and by chaverim left the hall to retire (they had a full working day behind them), lasted till 2 p.m. Folk songs in Hebrew, Yiddish, English, Russian, French, Chassidic Nigunim, perfect choir singing of excerpts from classical oratoria, funny songs and all possible kinds of choral art, made up the programme, sung with gusto and abandonment.

Despite my stiff back I stayed up with Eddie, who—you can well imagine—was one of the most enthusiastic participants together with Michael and Betty Porter until the end. It was an experience not easily forgotten.

OMER FESTIVAL

Sunday, Pesach day, was Yom Tov in the Kibbutz. Except for those in charge of essential jobs, it was a rest day for the chaverim. And in the afternoon, all took part in the Omer Festival. I am afraid my descriptive ability has become too poor in order to convey the atmosphere and impressiveness of that event, in which the whole Meshek took part. Everything that had wheels was on the road—the tractor, the combine, with attached carts, the trucks and the jeep—all carried young and old to the fields, and everyone who had legs joined the crowd, the procession being led by two chaverim on horseback. All received a little green hankie to tie around the neck as a uniform symbol of participation in the first

New Zealand Family Leaves for Israel

A young New Zealand Jew with his wife and 3 children last week passed through Sydney en route for Beth Yanai, a settlement near Natanya (Israel). They were all born in New Zealand. The journey to Israel is the culmination of an old dream of Mr. Athol Finkelstein, a factory-owner in Auckland, New Zealand. The family has given up the comforts of an industrialist in a large city for life on an agricultural settlement where, for some years to come, amenities will be completely different from those to which they have been accustomed. When interviewed in Sydney last week, Mr. Finkelstein said both he and his wife were looking forward with the greatest of pleasure and interest to settling in Israel. He is of present-day circumstances

Captain Berner, "Y" Guest Speaker

In an inspiring talk which he gave on Thursday, June 17th under the title "Towards an Understanding of Israel To-day" Alec Berner provided a large and receptive audience with some new ideas on the vital need for a continuance of the relationship existing between the peoples of Israel and the Jewish communities of the outside world.

In such a brief talk, he said, he could not hope to cover the complete details of the outstanding story which is the history of the infant State of Israel since its rebirth just six years ago and would only be able to point out a number of very significant facts.

The first of these, he said, is a truism which might almost seem inane—that the State is only a mere six years old; yet for this reason we cannot expect to find in it all the things that we expect from the older and more established nations of the world. But against that is the second of them: the steady progress that has been made during those six years, in spite of the necessity to fight a war for independence from the millions of Arabs in the surrounding countries and of the dire need to accept and absorb the hundreds of thousands of homeless and destitute victims of the previous years in Europe, Asia and Africa.

The absorption and integration of 750,000 people in that short space of six years, with the majority of them now in simple but adequate living quarters, is a fact of which the people of Israel can be well proud.

Again, said Captain Berner, there was the task of the social and economic absorption of this incoming wave of people from 74 countries, speaking 61 different languages; and this was carried out without an epidemic of any sort, in spite of the impossibility of any sort of medical inspection in their countries of origin; and was achieved with no collapse of the economy of the country.

He spoke of the rapid growth of the Hazannah, of the increase of schoolchildren from 60,000 in 1948 to 375,000 now, with adequate school accommodation and sufficient teachers for all, of the conquest of the housing problem as previously outlined and told his audience that that was the perspective from which the tasks of today must be viewed.

During the second 3 years of the C, there had been activity of every type, all conducted and planned with a view to the requirements of tomorrow—a consciously guided plan, he said, only put into operation at the expense of the present living standards of the people, who have chosen austerity combined with a re-investment of capital potential as the only possible

Migrants in Australia

Australia admitted the greatest number of migrants of any country in May 1954, according to a United States Information Service despatch quoting Hugh Gibson, Director of the Intergovernmental Committee for European Migration (ICEM). The May figure brought ICEM's 1954 total to 54,372. Since 1952 nearly 220,000 Europeans have been re-settled abroad with ICEM's help. In May Australia took 4,065 migrants—mostly from Germany and Italy; just under 4,000 settled in Canada; about 2,674 went to Argentina and 1,574 to Brazil. Since ICEM started to operate Australia has taken over 12,300 migrants through its European agencies.

Thumbnail Book Reviews

By Pamela Ruskin

Daphne Du Maurier is one of the most readable writers in the best-seller category today. This is the true story of Mary Anne, her great-great grandmother whose disclosures on the corruption in regard to the sale of army commissions shook the country and came close to rocking the throne of England.

Beautiful and Witty, Mary Anne became the adored mistress of the Duke of York; when he turned to a new love, she fought him in the House of Commons and created the famous scandal in order to win security for her children.

Thoroughly good reading from first to last.

"Mary Anne" by Daphne Du Maurier (Angus & Robertson) Austr. price 16/-.

One of the most warmly human P.O.W. stories to come out of the war is this account of 3½ years in Jap camps in Sumatra.

Sometimes, these books aren't quite real; the people seem to be different to ordinary people like ourselves.

Sister Simons' story of the suffering and courage and humour of the A.I.F. nurses shows them as the kind of people we know and work with every day.

Gallant, modest and often tragic, this is a book to be remembered with humility by those of us who had an "easy war."

"While History Passed" by Jessie Elizabeth Simons (Hinemann) Austr. price 15/-.

The famous Sarah Siddons had two lovely daughters; one was modest and good, and the other wasn't either.

Thomas Lawrence, the great portrait painter, was engaged to the sweet one and seduced by the more tempestuous one.

His romance with the Siddons girls ended in tragedy, and though he was honoured as a great artist throughout England, he never married and died a lonely old man.

Light and rather melodramatic, this is for those who like to be sentimental.

"An Artist In Love" by Philip Lindsay (Hutchinson) Austr. price: 15/-.

A really tough thriller for the men!

Set in Canada with an ex-mountain private detective who finds himself involved with a wealthy and ruthless narcotics gang, this is tense, fast moving and often brutal, with a first-rate climax.

And, oh boy, those Canadian girls!

"Deep Freeze" by Martin Brett (Reinhardt) Australian price: 12/-.

Garrick is Title "Threat"

By HANS LICHT

For the 3rd time in 4 Jewish championships Harry Stanton is drawn to meet Vic. Jewish champion Harry Ernest.

Ernest and Stan Kennett, SJTC singles title holder, are seeded 1 and 2 respectively in the 1954 Vic. Jewish championships, which commenced 2 weeks ago.

Lionel Carrick, who has not contested a Vic. Jewish title since he went abroad 3 years ago, is seeded third, and is drawn to meet Kennett in a semi-final. They have not met in title play before.

Stanton has met Ernest twice, and lost in straight sets on both occasions.

Carrick in recent pennant play here and in the Challenge against Hakoah in Sydney displayed form close to his best, and may well reach his peak during the championships.

He has the toughest draw of all seeded players, being opposed to R. Shulce, M. Rudov and Kennett in that order, if play goes according to seedings.

Stanton will probably face Reuben Sackville and, Ivan Saffer on his way to the semi-final, while Kennett should meet B. Alexander and Leon Cohen.

Forwardline Improved

By "OFFSIDE"

Hakoah's 10-1 win over St. Albans in the 2nd round of the Dockerty Cup at Heyington Oval last Saturday gives little indication of the Blue-Whites' chances of retaining the Cup this year, but it did reveal a much improved forwardline of the home side.

St. Albans, a 4th division side, played better than the one-sided score indicates, but Hakoah forwards, with the inclusion at centre forward of former JUST player Allemplevicz, showed promise of developing into the smoothest attacking combination in 1st division this year.

Joe Gottesmann, who played inside forward in past seasons occupied the centre forward position earlier this season, and was more recently switched to his old inside forward post.

In the new combination Gottesmann has been moved to one wing, with I. Roessler occupying the other outside position. Both are showing great speed and drive and are well assisted by inside forwards Harry Rice and Harry Sutherland.

The halfline of Vesovic, Clarke and Thomas is developing into a sound combination, supplying many openings for the forward line, and assisting the backs considerably.

In defence West is improving with every game, and Franto Moucka is back to his best in felling opposing scoring moves.

Opinion is divided as to which of Klassie and Goddard is Hakoah's outstanding goalkeeper in post-war years, but Klassie, the present custodian has proved a most efficient keeper, although a little "showy" at times.

Outstanding of Saturday's goals against St. Albans was a fine head-pass from Allemplevicz to Rice, who headed on to Gottesmann and Sutherland for a lobbing shot over the opposing keeper.

Gottesmann also brought off a fine goal, shooting across the goal from 30 yards out to find the far corner of the net.

Halftime score was 5-1. Goals: Allemplevicz 4, Rice 2, Roessler, Gottesmann, Vesovic, Sutherland.

MEETS MORELAND

Hakoah meets Moreland for the first time this season, at Heyington Oval on Saturday. Their first round encounter was postponed, and remains unplayed.

The Blue-Whites' vastly improved attack should earn them two premiership points, but matters will be far from one-sided, as Moreland has one of the outstanding defences in Victoria soccer, but is comparatively weak further upfield.

The two clubs' reserve teams will provide the curtain raiser.

North-South Football at Ferntree Gully

By BEN STERNFELD

The ever-popular annual Australian rules football match between teams representing North and South of the Yarra will be held at Ferntree Gully on Sunday, July 18.

With interest increasing as the big day draws near, both sides' training sessions are now in full swing.

Last year's winners, North, have commenced specialised training under the guidance of Jim Gross, Hawthorn 2nds footballer.

The North line-up will be very similar to last year with the team built around stalwarts Gross, Abe Estrach and Carlton 2nds star Dick Pratt.

Others certain to play are "veterans" Sid Hirsh and Norman Raitman, while Lionel Rosenberg, unavailable last year due to a knee injury is likely to re-appear.

A doubtful starter for North is talented rover-forward Jack Davis, at present on military duties.

SOUTH CHALLENGERS

South, this year's challengers, will have their strength in seasoned performers such as Sam Komesarook, Alf Slovin, Peter Sims, Henry Gould, Dave Efron, Daryl Cohen and Basil Isaacs.

New players attracting attention are Dave Merkel of University Blues, and David Syman of St. Kilda 3rd XVIII. Others to show out include Alec Selzer and Bill Gelfand.

A hard-working committee consisting of Ernie Adler, Abe Estrach, Jim Gross, Ben Komesarook and Lionel Rosenberg is busy organising all final details, and is particularly anxious that a large crowd attend at Ferntree Gully on the day. As the standard of football last year was possibly the highest ever attained in these annual fixtures, a good day's entertainment seems assured.

Final training and teams' lists will be announced soon.

7 Juniors in Quarter-finals

Ex-title holder (Mrs) Shirley Simmons and 7 junior players will fight out the women's singles quarter-finals in the Vic. Jewish tennis championships.

In the 2nd round last Sunday Susi Goldblum showed marked improvement to give fellow-lefthander Diana Kaufman a spirited 3 set battle, but the latter player, more experienced, won the final set comfortably.

Marie Koll, after a straight sets 1st round victory, did well to win 3-6, 6-2, 7-5 over Anne Slaggatt, another junior, and schools title holder Doreen Kanter had her second straight sets win for the tournament. Val Sheezel also had a 3-setter last Sunday, defeating North Judaean player Roma Honig.

Hakoah Better Since Peters' Departure

By HANS LICHT

Strange as it may sound, Hakoah has improved its position in A grade of the Victorian Table Tennis Association winter pennant competition since the departure overseas of No. 1 Jewish player Barney Peters.

Since Peters played his last match with the team, it has beaten the strong F & Y side, lost narrowly (5-6) to leaders Coburg Harriers, and last Wednesday scored further success by beating the well performed Geelong side by 6 rubbers to 5.

Veteran Alan Vermont is having by far his best season for years, and continues to hold the side together with the able assistance of Vic. Jewish singles titleholder Savy Kramer, who has shown marked improvement this season.

Ben Alexander, 3rd singles string, is slow in finding form but his play, too, since Peters' departure has shown improvement.

Some observers claim that his teammates may have unconsciously depended too much on Peters, ranked 4th in the State, and that now, thrown more upon their own resources, they appear to be "pulling their weight" to better effect.

Vermont and Kramer each won two of their three singles against Geelong, and combined well, as in past weeks, to win their doubles together. Alexander assisted by winning 1 singles.

Rubber scores were 5-all, when Vermont faced Geelong champion George McIlvena in the final and deciding match, the Hakoah player winning convincingly 21-18, 21-18.

Hakoah's A grade women's team, following Kiwi's 9-2 defeat by Damon, now leads in this grade by a narrow margin.

In beating Geelong by 7 rubbers to 4, Hakoah further consolidated its claim to its 3rd win of the premiership, with Mesdames Sherwin (c.), Laskowski and Debris continuing in fine form, and Miss Beety Feder showing marked improvement since stepped up into the top grade.

Sports News and Views

By HANS LICHT

NOT SPORTING TYPES?

Only one of the 20 or so entrants in the women's singles of the Victorian Jewish tennis championships is over 19 years of age.

Juniors have nearly always outnumbered seniors in Jewish women's singles events in past years, but an average age of 16-17 must be unique in a "women's" singles title.

This point was raised last weekend by some competitors and onlookers, and the reason seems to be one of these two: Either young Jewish women just are not the sporting type (which allegation would be quickly denied by the Judean Girls Sports Club), or their sporting "life"—unlike that of non-Jewish sports-women—does not extend past the 19-20 years age group.

CUP AFTER SEASON?

Several highranking soccer clubs—1st division teams among them—were knocked out of the Dockerty Cup competition last weekend, and did not seem very worried by their elimination, in fact seemed pleased to be able to "get on with further league rounds."

This feeling exists among quite a few clubs, since the VASFA revised its Cup scheme two years ago, deciding to play Cup games during the season. Naturally, those clubs still left in the Cup competition take things more seriously, but the risk of injury to players for further league games always exists, and bad performances in pennant fixtures always threaten relegation: something no Cup win can redeem!

FOR INJURED PLAYERS

On May 22 four Maccabi players received injuries representing the club in a Vic. 2nd division soccer game. Included on the injured list was Charlie Mizdalek, whose leg was broken in two places.

Maccabi Sports Club is holding a Ball at Leonard's Cabaret, St. Kilda Esplanade on Sat. July 10 and proceeds will go towards medical and other expenses of the injured men. A function well worth supporting! *

THE OLD STORY

The Vic. Jewish Board of Deputies, together with other States' leading Jewish organisations, was approached some time ago by the Associated Judaeo-Athletic Clubs (AJAC) of Victoria and the Australian Judaeo-Sports Council with the view of launching a concert—and early—fund-raising effort for Australian Macabiah representation in 1956.

Mr. Bernard Paul, Sports Council Secretary for Macabiah matters has yet to receive a reply from the "Big Shots". Not that their reply would be worth much: AJAC did receive an answer, which gave any appeal for Macabiah fares funds the Board's best wishes, but also included its regrets in taking a leading or organising part in such a venture.

Well we're back where we started from: only this time we have found out just where we stand a little easier than on the past two occasions.

פֿאָרְזִינְקָן? פֿאָרְזִינְקָן?
פֿאָרְזִינְקָן?

A grainy, black and white photograph capturing a large, dense crowd of people from a distance. The individuals are mostly silhouetted against a lighter sky. In the upper portion of the image, several tall poles stand, each flying a flag. The flags appear to be of various nationalities, though the specific designs are not clearly legible. The overall atmosphere is one of a significant public gathering or event.
