Leading Nazi in German Delegation to Reparation Talks

THE HAGUE, Weds. The German newspaper Frankfurter Rundschau has asserted that Dr. von Teutschler, the German Office representative on the German Reparations Delegation is a former Nazi employed by Ribbentrop's Foreign Office.

The leader of the German Delegation (Dr. Boehm) said that Teutschler had not wanted to come to the conference, but "I considered his help so valuable and necessary that it was at my urgent request and personal request that he was assigned to the Delegation."

He said that Dr. Teutschler helped them gather material without which the Conference could not be held.

EXAMINING POSITION

The Israelis stated that a Parliamentary Committee was now examining the entire situation of former Nazis in the German Government Service and Israel would not react until the results of the investigation were known officially as far as the practical work here is concerned, agreement has been reached by Israel and the German Sub-Committee on several points but the leader of the Israeli Delegation (Dr. Josephthal) said that nothing would be final until agreement had been reached on all points.

US & Britain Will not Seek Reparations

LONDON, (JTA). The United States and Great Britain have declared jointly that they do not intend to assert any claims for reparations out of current German production, and they intend to oppose exaction of such reparations by another power.

The French Government stated that, in effect, it is reserving its position as to whether it may claim further reparations when a final peace treaty with Germany is written.

In Washington, State Department sources indicated that they expect a resumption of the reparations talks at the Hague and progress towards a solution of the questions of German compensation to Israel.

Anti-Jewish Campaign in Costa Rica Exaggerated

NEW YORK, (JTA): "There is no doubt of the Government's sincerity in assurances that it is determined to maintain the country's democratic traditions and principles," said Dr. Maurice Perlzweig of the World Jewish Congress who has arrived in San Jose, capital of Costa Rica, according to a New York Times dispatch.

After conferring with Foreign Minister Fernando Lara, Dr. Perlzweig said he was agreeably impressed by the Government's attitude in the anti-Semitic and terrorist campaign and was satisfied that this had been exaggerated abroad and had been provoked by a small anonymous group actuated by commercial rivalry.

JEWISH FEARS UNFOUNDED

Jewish fears that the campaign may grow out of hand were unfounded since most Costa Ricans felt no anti-Jewish or anti-foreign prejudice, the Foreign Minister is reported to have told Dr. Perlzweig, explaining that many Jewish families were allied with prominent Costa Rican families by marriage and business ties.

He added: "there is simply no favourable ground for such racial intolerance here."

Senor Lara said that while the Government deplored and condemned the anti-Semitic movement, it had refrained so far from official rebukes because it felt that this would give the movement undeserved importance.

GERMAN GAOLED FOR DISTRIBUTING ANTI-SEMITIC LITERATURE

HAMBURG, (JTA): Rolf Kempcke, 22-year-old son of a police official, was sentenced to six months imprisonment by a court here for distributing anti-Semitic leaflets during a meeting of German political parties last December.

separate from general reparations claims against the West German Government.

This was emphasised in connection with the joint statement and was indicated to extend to the claims of the Jewish Claims Conference.

GERMAN OFFER?

According to Bonn Government sources, quoted by the London Jewish Observer, in his meeting with Dr. Goldmann this week, Chancellor Adenauer outlined the terms of the German offer to Israel but did not specify an exact sum.

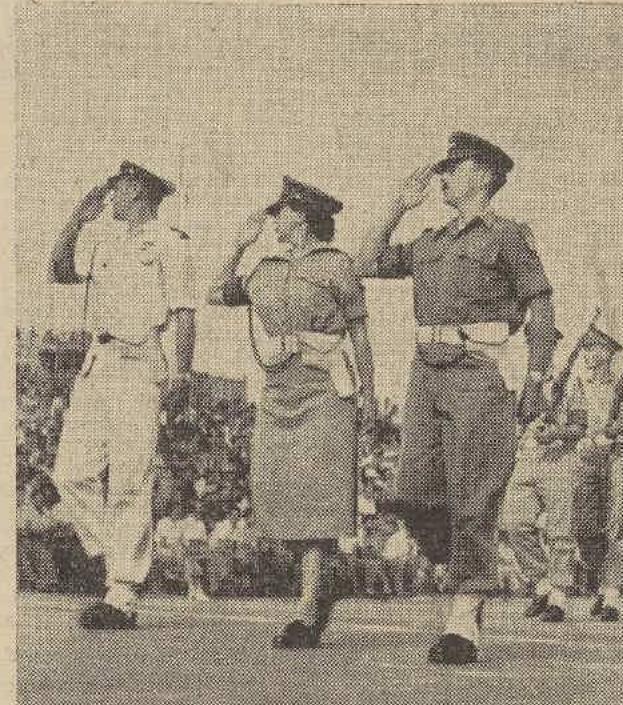

It is understood that Germany has offered to pay 3,000,000,000 marks, in the form of goods, over a period of 12 years, but during the first few years maximum annual payment would not be more than 200,000,000 marks.

Present at the talks between Dr. Goldmann and Chancellor Adenauer were Professor Boehm, leader of the German delegation to The Hague talks, and Hermann Abs, leader of the German delegation to the London debt conference.

SHARRETT SEES PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Weds. Israel's Foreign Minister (Mr. M. Sharett) met President Truman today and expressed Israel's gratitude for the President's and the American people's consistent support of the Jewish State.

Mr. Sharett told the President that Israel would function as a "living example" of democracy.

Anti-Semitism in New York Medical Schools

NEW YORK, (WJA): Anti-Jewish discrimination in medical schools in the State of New York still continues, according to a survey published by the American Jewish Congress and the Committee for Equality in Education.

According to this survey, the ratio of Jewish applicants admitted to the nine State medical schools was only half that of non-Jewish applicants. Forty-one Jewish students, who won State scholarships, had to file 214 applications to gain admission: sixteen non-Jewish candidates filed only 39. In one medical College, only one of seventeen Jewish applicants was accepted. New York Medical College accepted only one out of 13.

The American Jewish Congress has urged the New York State Department of Education to carry out an investigation and to publish its results with a view to establishing whether the Colleges have violated the 1948 Fair Education Practices Act.

Anti-Jewish Attitude of Arab States

ALGIERS, (JTA). Detailed reports on the position and problems of the Jewish communities in Algeria, Tunis and Morocco were discussed by the first North African conference of Jewish communities affiliated to the World Jewish Congress, held in Algiers.

The conference, which lasted four days, endorsed steps taken by the WJC to improve the conditions of the Jews of Morocco and urged continuation of these efforts.

Noting reports on the special status to which Jews were subjected in M'zab (Algeria), the conference asked for Congress action to assure a status for the community equal to that of the other Jewish citizens of Algeria, and adopted a decision to establish a permanent body for the purpose of co-ordinating the activities of the WJC in Nth. Africa.

The conference was attended by a six-man delegation from Algeria headed by Mr. B. Hefer, President of the Federation of Jewish Communities of Algeria, and member of the WJC Executive, by a five-man delegation from Tunisia which included M. Elie Nataf, representing the Federation of Jewish Communities, M. Charles Haddad, President of the Jewish Community of Tunis and Charles Saada, President of the Federation of Jewish Communities of Central Tunisia, and by a five-man delegation from Morocco.

The WJC Executive were represented by Mr. A. L. Easterman, Political Director of the Congress, Dr. A. Steinberg, head of the Cultural Department of WJC, Dr. G. R. Riegner, Congress representative at the United Nations office in Geneva, and

WJC "Regrets No German Re-Education"

LONDON, Weds. The World Jewish Congress' European Conference, in which 15 countries' delegates have participated, has passed a resolution regretting that the German Federal Government has not taken adequate measures in the re-education of the German population, the eradication of race hatred and doctrines of discrimination.

The resolution also expresses deep concern at the policy of re-armament Germany which is an encouragement to the revival of German militarism and aggressive nationalism.

A resolution was also passed appealing to certain European countries to permit free Jewish emigration to Israel.

Welfare Work Needed

The Australian Jewish Welfare Society has done magnificent work in the field of Jewish migration, but it is time to consider an aspect of its work that has not been very much to the fore.

Some means should be devised to cope with the situation that has arisen out of the economic situation of the day. Just as there are employment bureaus in the general community, with information about situations vacant and situations wanted so the Society could have welfare officers with the supply and demand at their finger-tips. (There is little doubt that employers would assist in whatever way was possible).

Mr. Lippmann raised this issue at the recent Conference of the Executive Council of Australian Jewry, and there is no doubt that migrants could be assisted greatly by recourse to the services of whatever bureau was established for the purpose.

As they are strangers to the Australian scene, they must be bewildered by the shifting currents in the sea of labour. They could be advised where there is need for their services, what adjustments may be necessary to meet the requirements.

If this is done, there will be no need for the newcomers to feel any fear if one avenue of employment or another closes up, for they will be shown the other avenues that are opening up.

This is an Australia-wide problem that must receive the earnest—and urgent—consideration of all leaders and communal workers.

Winter Anxiety Causes Immigrant Protests

A news item from Israel just received tells of large-scale protests organised by immigrants in camps where tents are the only shelter. Speakers requested the Jewish Agency to speed up their transfer to more weatherproof and warmer shelter before the advent of winter.

The recent floods in Israel, which swamped the camps, and the experience of last winter's conditions in the tent camps, have caused a wave of anxiety amongst the immigrants, lest the Jewish Agency should not be able to transfer them to other accommodation, even if only in wooden or tin huts, before the winter rains and cold arrive.

The Jewish Agency is fully aware of its responsibilities to the immigrants and those in charge of housing and shelter are doing their utmost to facilitate their transfer to proper or at least safer and warmer accommodation. The hold-up in the rehabilitation programme is mainly a matter of pounds, shillings & pence, and especially of the shortage of foreign currency.

The absorption of the immigrants is not the financial responsibility of the Government of Israel, nor can it be borne by the small population of Israel alone, and World Jewry, through the Jewish Agency and the World Zionist Organisation, had undertaken after the establishment of the State to provide the means and be responsible for the immigration and absorption of the immigrants.

Whether the transfer of the immigrants to proper housing before the advent of winter can be accomplished depends on the speed and amount of the remittances from overseas Jewish communities to the Jewish Agency in the next few months. The Jewish Agency has informed all Zionist organisations & United Israel Appeal Committees overseas of this desperate position, and in every country efforts are being made to increase the Appeal results and to collect and remit the money speedily to Israel. In Australia too, the Jewish communities have been told of the economic position in Israel and how it will effect the tens of thousands of migrants who depend on overseas assistance. To date, the response to the United Israel Appeal in Australia has been a generous one, but the total aimed at, which would be an appropriate contribution from Australian Jewry, can only be achieved if every member of the Community participates in the Appeal.

There are still hundreds of Jewish families, who have not yet made their contribution.

United Israel Appeal Committees in all States of Australia have now organised voluntary workers to visit all those who have not had the opportunity to hear the Appeal Emissaries from Israel, and have not yet made their pledges. In Melbourne, for instance, only 2,000 families have contributed to date, and it is estimated that there are at least 5,000 families in the community. Within the course of the next few weeks, voluntary workers are personally visiting hundreds of homes and the results of visits already made show that every family is prepared to make its contribution when approached. The Appeal Directorate asks those in the community who have not yet contributed not to wait or put off making their contribution any longer. The number of voluntary Appeal workers is limited, and every pledge or contribution sent direct to the Appeal Office relieves a voluntary worker of a visit which can then be made to another potential contributor. Members of the community are asked to give these voluntary workers, who are giving up their time and are doing a wonderful job for their people, a courteous welcome, and a generous contribution.

If you have not yet been visited, forward your contribution now to the Appeal Office. Better still, forward your contribution and your name if you are prepared to help in the voluntary canvass.

Remember that you are safe and warm this winter in your homes and that thousands of your brethren are still in tents and depend on your support for shelter, food and warmth for themselves, their wives, and their children, in the Israel winter, now only a few months away.

Jewish Aid Society Commended

Supporters of the Melbourne Jewish Aid Society present at the 63rd Annual General Meeting at the Warsaw Jewish Centre last Sunday morning warmly commended the President and Committee on the magnificent record of the Society in its vital communal work.

Special praise was lavished on Mr M. Plotkin, President, for his wholehearted work and ready sympathy for those members of the community obliged to resort to the Society for assistance.

There have been very few "bad debts" in recent years: a tribute to both the applicants and the Committee of the Society.

Various suggestions were made how the Society could raise money for increasing capital to meet increase in numbers of applications for loans anticipated this year.

Considerable sums have been advanced and loaned by the Welfare Society (including £6,000 from JOINT, U.S.A.).

Avenues for fund raising were also proposed to meet the relatively small administrative expenses of the Society, which has no regular source of income apart from the fees of "Life Members" and "Life-Governors."

Sums were raised this year through canvassing some members of the community for life-governorships. It was decided to use this method again.

Mr. S. J. Slutskin immediately offered to become a Life-Governor.

(Treasurer) and other speakers thought the ceiling

Mr. J. Southwick, J.P. amount per loan should be raised from £100 to £150 or £200, in view of the greatly increased costs of living and materials prevailing.

Rabbi J. Danglow expressed his admiration to the President and Committee for the Society's achievements during the year, more than 20-fold greater than had been the case when he first became associated with it over 40 years ago.

He thought the community ought to be proud that it has such a body doing the fine work it does.

Some speakers said that the Society had helped them get established many years ago, and they desired to pass on that assistance to others as a gesture of gratitude.

It was thought that there were many others in the community who had been initially helped and would come to the assistance of the Society if they knew this support was now necessary.

Others proposed a membership drive.

The work of the Secretary (Mr. H. Ziffer), who succeeded Mr. C. Perlstein last year, was praised by many of those present.

ELECTIONS

Elections resulted in the unanimous return of Mr. M. Plotkin as President, and Mr. I. Southwick, J.P., as Treasurer.

Committee elections resulted: Messrs A. J. Blashki, J.P., Mat. Harrison, J.P., J. Lederman, I. Fras, M. Roth, C. Slonim, J.P., S. Yaffe, J. Yoffe, Dickie and W. Davis.

(Hon. Life Vice-Presidents are Messrs L. Ellinson, J.P., L. Phillips & H. F. Phillips.)

Anti-Jewish Attitude

M. Marc Jarblum, representing the French section of the W.J.C.

SUPPORT FROM STATES VIOLENTLY ANTI-JEWISH

In a survey on the political situation, Mr. Easterman warned the conference that the anti-Jewish attitude of the Arab States remained, was likely to continue and had in recent months taken new forms, and must be dealt with on an international level.

The W.J.C. was making representations to the Governments whose citizens were affected and, whenever necessary, to the United Nations to secure the rights and liberties of Jewish minorities.

But, apart from local and regional problems, there was the issue of the Arab Nationalist Movement which derived support and encouragement from States violently anti-Jewish, especially since the creation of the State of Israel.

After May, 1947, there had been discrimination against Jewish communities of Iraq, the Yemen, Aden and other Arab areas.

As a consultant organisation the W.J.C. had brought such violations of human rights to the knowledge of the United Nations. These representations had reached the Security Council.

PROBLEMS OF NORTH AFRICA

The problems of North African Jewry, Mr. Easterman said, should be considered in their totality. Attacks upon the liberties and rights of Jews, discrimination and denial of status and security had their repercussions in other lands. Any success of anti-Semitic policy in any country was a precedent and source of encouragement to protagonists of such a policy in other countries and called for thinking and planning on the international level by common counsel and co-operative action.

The conference heard reports by Dr. G. Riegner on matters of organisation and finance.

Dr. A. Steinberg, who presented a detailed picture of the world-wide activities of Congress in the cultural field, especially in co-operation with UNESCO, has in the meantime visited Algeria and Tunisia and is leaving for Morocco to discuss with the Jewish communal authorities problems of Jewish education and culture.

AJC Urges Republican Support

WASHINGTON, Wed: The American Zionist Council has sent a memorandum to the Republican Party urging its Convention to adopt a plank pledging continued support to Israel, and also a plank calling for direct Arab-Israel negotiations.

On the other hand, the American Council for Judaism has told the Party's Platform Committee that the basis of American-Jewish support for Israel should be philanthropy.

It added that the international political relations which the USA Government has with Israel "should be integrated with the totality of our Foreign Policy."

Chassidim To Celebrate "Chag Hageulah"

Tammuz 12 (which this year corresponds to July 5) commemorates an historic event in the annals of Lubavitcher Chassidim and is observed by many Jews as a day of festivities and celebration, "Chag Hageulah."

It was on this day in the year 5687, that the late leader and spiritual head of the Lubavitcher Chassidim, Rabbi Joseph I. Schneerson, was released from imprisonment into which he had been placed by the Soviet authorities on libelous charges that were subsequently proved to be entirely unfounded.

The leading Rabbis of the Holy Land at the time ordained that "the day on which the Lubavicher Rebbe won his freedom shall be observed the world over" as a red-letter day for all time.

ASSURANCES NULLIFIED

The delegates were cordially received by the Government officials and were assured that their requests would be favourably considered. But these assurances were soon nullified by the treacherous activities of the Yevzias who exercised considerable influence at the time.

The situation deteriorated considerably and the anti-religious campaign was intensified. Thereupon he (Rebbe), at a clandestine meeting summoned by him Tammuz 12, described to small group of his followers "the gravity of the situation which," he said, "calls immediate action."

"My son, when there need you must be prepared to sacrifice your life upon the altar of the Torah."

These words, said the Rabbi, were the last which my late father addressed to me from his death-bed.

"Are there any among you who will volunteer to work with me on behalf of Torah and are ready to sacrifice your lives on its behalf?"

Nine disciples solemnly pledged their lives to help their leader in the sacred task that he set himself.

"Thus," continued the Rebbe in his address, "was created the nucleus of that indomitable band of warriors who sacrificed their very all for an ideal."

SCHOOLS SECRETLY ESTABLISHED

For many years, this band struggled to check the wave of anti-religious activities that swept through Russia. They managed to increase their membership and succeeded in secretly establishing hundreds of Torah schools, religion classes, yeshivot, mikvot and other religious institutions and in infusing new strength into the religious and communal life of many communities throughout the Soviet.

A special committee was organised to help Jewish artisans who desired to observe the Sabbath.

Teachers, preachers and shochetim were dispatched to the remotest Jewish communities of Russia and in many instances Rabbis, shochetim and various institutions were financially supported.

SENT TO SIBERIA

Many of those brave workers were subsequently arrested and sent to Siberian labour camps. Few of these survived the ordeal. When he himself was finally imprisoned he felt that this was the opportunity of demonstrating that self-sacrifice that his father had demanded of him.

He displayed great courage and faith notwithstanding the fact that his life was in constant danger, because he felt fortified by the knowledge that the holy work which he had begun with his small band of followers would be carried forward no matter what would become of him.

PUBLIC RELATIONS WORK:—

"Dawn of New Era," - Says Mr. Ben Green

MELBOURNE: At a special meeting of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies, met to consider a very large agenda, including disaffiliation of the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism, Mr. Ben Green, Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Board of Deputies presented his final report before retiring from the chairmanship.

He said the community was at the "dawn of a new era in public relations work," when he described the recent changes affecting the Public Relations Committee and its Bureau.

His report was rather an address on policy than an account of events that have transpired.

He said that there were three fundamental issues that should guide the Public Relations Committee: its duty was 1) to protect the Jewish name and the welfare of the Jewish community; 2) to meet, or if possible to prevent the manifestation of anti-Semitism and 3) to gain friends in the general community, particularly in Government circles and the press.

Mr. Green said that distinction should be made between matters that concern the Jewish community exclusively, and matters that concern the Jewish community and also the general community as fellow citizens.

NOT FUNCTION TO CRUSADE
 This distinction had not been drawn in the past, he said, and consequently we have

BOARD OF DEPUTIES:

Kadimah Meeting Discusses Democratisation

Approximately 80 attended the meeting last Sunday night convened by the Kadimah for the purpose of discussing the democratisation of the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies.

Mr. J. Burstin criticised the existent Board as not being truly representative of the masses of the community.

If any individual belongs to several organisations he registers several votes in the election of delegates to the Board. While there are large numbers of the community not directly associated with those particular organisations affiliated with the Board.

He also said that any plan to democratised the Board must depend on the support of the entire Jewish press.

Without the co-operation of the whole Jewish press, it could not succeed.*

Mr. J. Waks answered some of the points raised and indicated that it was laid down in the Kadimah's constitution that the membership could change if they desired.

He also attacked the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism.

Mr. B. Patkin said that it was necessary to democratised the Board. He had been instrumental in drawing up a petition some time ago, with 750 signatures and contributions of 10/- each.

This total had been 250 short of the required number to make a start.

However, Mount Scopus College had grown out of it. It was essential to organise properly for the democratisation of the Community's representative organisation.

*Mr. Kipen was quite right in his assessment of the situation with regard to the Press. The Jewish News circulates through the entire Jewish community, and it is only through the press that general support will be obtained for any venture of the sort envisaged.

He supported the idea of democratisation of the Board with proportional voting and direct franchise. This has not been the case with the

Mr. B. Rosen advocated the democratic elections that prevailed in the old kehilas, and Mr. I. Kipen, who emphasised that he spoke on his own behalf and not as a representative, said the Kadimah should put its own house in order first.

Anti-Nazi Rally Denounces Intimidation

MELBOURNE, Friday: Widespread political intimidation of Jews and non-Jews alike and even of the Australian Government was deplored by speakers at an Assembly Hall meeting last night.

Over 300 people, mostly non-Jews, attended the meeting which had been called by the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism in protest against the new German ambassador to Australia, against Nazi immigration and against the re-armament of Germany and Japan.

A motion to that effect was carried unopposed, and the only opposition at the meeting came when a prominent Jewish Bundist interjected in defence of the deputy-leader of the German Social Democrats, who was being described as a war criminal.

POINTS FROM THE SPEAKERS:

Mrs. E. Rothfield: Propaganda for which Amery and Lord Haw Haw were executed after the war is now being propagated as official Australian policy. We must cry "halt" to these goings on.

Even the Federal Government was unhappy about the Japanese peace treaty, but the cardinal sin nowadays is to criticise American foreign policy.

Mr. L. Probyn: I support the Jewish Council because it is doing the job for which we went to the last war.

Since I have come back to Australia, Mr. Menzies has treated me even more shabbily than the Germans treated me as a prisoner of war. At least the Germans recognised my officer's rank, whereas Mr. Menzies has deprived me now of my commission as a major.

If we are right in rearming Germany and Japan now then we were wrong in 1941 in not joining the axis against Russia.

Other speakers were Mr. E. Platz, Acting Secretary of the Jewish Council, Mr. A. Muskin, a former president, Rev. Victor James, of the Unitarian Church and Mr. L. Churchwood, lecturer in political science at Melbourne University.

An appeal to the audience yielded £65-13-2.

Some Aspects of Criminology

Mr. Arnold R. Blashki was home environment or because of a special Jewish make-up? The last point raises the query: Is there such a thing as a Jewish type?

Mr. Blashki, who is one of Melbourne's rising young barristers, wondered whether his audience's interest was on ethical or practical grounds. He suggested that the members of the audience should examine themselves whether or not they had infringed the accepted standards of today, thereby performing a "criminal act"..... petty pilfering as a child, or "free rides" on a tram, etc.

The speaker alleged that there is an innate desire in all to be a criminal, only up-bringing and environment coupled with a fear of being found out (with its consequent punishment) overcomes this tendency.

The universal interest in criminal activities can be traced from the earliest records of mankind, Mr. Blashki said, and the Bible itself contains outstanding characters that were criminals or had at some time performed criminal acts.

Types in literature we remember most readily are like Bill Sykes or Fagin, and this interest is also seen in the most widely read sections of the newspapers.

IS THERE A JEWISH TYPE?

Criminology, continued Mr. Blashki, is a subject of great importance to the Jew—although it has never been tackled from a purely Jewish standpoint, it is known through statistics of many countries that the crime rate among professing Jews is far lower than any other religious group.

This indicates, he said, a fruitful line of research—is this because of inherited racial characteristics, Jewish Scotland) compared with those in the lower areas, seems to preclude the tendency to criminal activity.

Other facts are the greater temptation of those in more closely settled districts owing to the greater opportunities presented for criminal acts.

Mr. Blashki also said that many previously held ideas of the physiognomy revealing the criminal have been disproved by recent research.

Possibly because of an intelligence factor involved, said Mr. Blashki, it has been found that amongst those who have discarded religion there is a lower criminal percentage than amongst those who (including as this group does those of lower intelligence who are held to their religion by fear and superstition) are professionally religious in their outlook.

H AS LOGICAL REASON

Modern theories assert that every person who commits a crime has, at the moment of committal, a reason, logical to himself, for committing it. It may be either a grudge against some person or society, or it may be just a genuine need.

Very often it is a case of mental illness, which cannot be cured by incarceration in prison as is done today with the outdated penal system, but should be a matter for treatment.

Mr. Blashki quoted some statistics, showing that crime is more prevalent in tropical than in temperate zones; it is more prevalent in summer than in winter; and it is more prevalent on hot days than on cold.

WHAT STATISTICS REVEAL

There is also a great difference in the criminal statistics of high-lands than of low—the arduous life of those in the higher districts (particularly noticeable in

Rabbi Dr. I. Rapaport Due in September

Advice has been received from London that Rabbi Dr. I. Rapaport, who was recently appointed Chief Minister of the Melbourne Hebrew Congregation, will sail on the "Orcades" with Mrs. Rapaport and family on August 6, and will arrive in Melbourne on September 3.

It is hoped to have the induction Service before the High Holydays.

M.D.A. Bazaar at Monash House Huge Success

Hundreds of people ignored the pouring rain and bitter cold and streamed into Monash House on Sunday last to support "Israel's National Red Cross" Magen David Adom.

Although the bazaar did not officially open before 2 p.m., a queue of buyers started to form at 1.30 p.m. and there was a wild rush for wonderful bargains as soon as the doors opened. The splendid band of untiring voluntary workers of the M.D.A. Committee and many of their friends who had kindly offered to lend a helping hand were kept busy right from the start until the last item was sold. Many latecomers were disappointed to see the tables already bare at 4 p.m. They had hoped for late bargains.

For the first time in Bazaar history in Melbourne a greengrocery stall was organised and many a housewife bought a week's supply of fruit and vegetables at pre-war prices.

The cake competition also proved most successful, and out of the many beautifully decorated cakes, the first prize was awarded to Mrs. Georgette Baron, Balacava Rd., Caulfield, who indeed deserved every credit for her entry of a cake in the shape of the initials M.D.A.

The Executive and Committee express their sincere thanks and appreciation to the voluntary assistants at the Bazaar, the honorary collectors, who gave up such a lot of their valuable time to bring in the goods, to the many donors who spontaneously came forward and supplied the magnificent goods and last but not least to all those hundreds of buyers who showed such splendid spirit and came along to support Magen David Adom in Israel.

Jewish Council Statement on Policy

The President of the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism, Mr. Joseph Redapple, today issued the following statement with regard to the discussions at the Board of Deputies concerning the Jewish Council:

"The withdrawal of the Jewish Council will in no way involve a lessening of effort on the part of the Jewish Council to combat anti-Semitism in Australia, the dangers of Nazi migration, and the rearming of Germany."

"My Council would have greatly preferred to have waged the campaign within the framework of the Board and in co-operation with the Board.

"We have patiently waited for some evidence that the Executive of the Board was seriously interested in guarding the interests of the Jewish people against the menace of Nazi migrants who, as Dr. N. Barou of the World Jewish Congress stated last week, have been responsible for an increase in anti-Semitism in all those countries where they now find themselves. But no evidence is forthcoming, as is abundantly clear from the rejection by the Executive of the repeated suggestions for joint action made by the Jewish Council.

WILL CONTINUE

"We want the community to know that the particular matters debated at the Board, the various irrelevant charges made against the Jewish Council, were largely designed to conceal the inactivity of the Executive of the Board.

"The crux of the matter is that the Jewish Council wants to continue and will continue—as the successful Assembly Hall meeting illustrates—to wage the Jewish fight against the dangers confronting the community. The Executive of the Board does not and will not take any action on anti-Semitism, German migration and German rearmament. As was clearly stated at the last Board meeting, no campaign against German rearmament will even be contemplated by the Board.

"The Jewish Council will not be a party to the abandonment of a policy which vitally affects the future of the Jewish people."

Draft Constitution of the Board.

Three years ago, Mr. Ashkanasy (as President of the Board) regarded the matter of a new Constitution as sufficiently urgent to request his draft Committee to complete the job in the shortest possible time.

Mr. Rapaport was the chairman, and he had a good team of legal experts who met three times a week until the Draft was completed and handed in to the Board Executive.

The Board has been shuffling along since then, making do with a Constitution deemed decrepit in those days, and surely doubly so today (everything else in modern living has 'doubled').

There have been voices crying in the wilderness from time to time, but there wasn't even an echo suggesting where the Draft may lie hid.

4:2 Hakoah Win in Mud

Greasy conditions at Yarra Park made straight shooting and dribbling difficult in the Hakoah-Sandringham game last Saturday.

Hakoah won 4:2 over the improved visitors, but the Jewish side's play—particularly defence and halfline—was never convincing.

CHANGES

Gottesmann—unable to get leave from Caulfield Convalescent Hospital, Peters (injured) and Pechout were replaced by Alex. Olszina, Harry Bauer and M. Kotak.

Hakoah's line-up was: Lorenzini (goal), Lester, Moucka, Kodak, Kurzweil (c.), Bader (halfline), Roubal, Lachman, I. Olszina, A. Olszina, Roessler.

Kodak, a member of Hakoah reserves' reliable Kodak-Greenberg-Reznick halfline, played his first game with the 1sts last Saturday, and shaped well in the second half after a weak 1st term.

Sandringham, improved through addition of several new players, was sound in defence, and consistently broke up Hakoah's thrusts for goal. Hakoah's first goal came when, with the Sh'man goalie out of position, a visiting defender handled the ball, and Moucka promptly converted the resulting penalty.

DEFENCE WEAK

Hakoah's defence and halfline, with the exception of Moucka and Kodak (second half), was weak throughout, and Sandringham's opening goal resulted off a mistake of Fred Lester, who again failed to handle the greasy ball as previously seen from him.

With the score 1:1, Hakoah attacked once more, and clever passing from Lachman to Roubal on the wing and back to Israel Olszina saw the centre forward score.

The visiting club's centre forward kicked the equaliser off a mis-kick of Kodak, and matters were level at the half-way mark.

GOALIE KNOCKED OUT

Lorenzini was knocked out in a collision in the goal mouth 15 minutes after half-time, and Lester went into goal until Hakoah's keeper was fit to resume. It was at this stage, that Sandringham's left half netted, but the referee (Di Paolo) disallowed the goal.

Lachman put the "blue-whites" in the lead once again, and I. Olszina, always dangerous in front of goal, added another to put the added another to put the issue beyond doubt.

Goals for Hakoah: I. Olszina 2, Lachman, Moucka. Best players: Roubal (best on ground), Lachman, Kodak, Roessler.

BIG CROWD EXPECTED

A large crowd is expected for Saturday's game at Royal Park between Hakoah and the Maltese eleven, George Cross. Gottesmann and Peters should strengthen Hakoah's side considerably, and the Jewish club should take the honours in a close game.

Hakoah Reserves Trounce S'h'am

Hakoah reserves scored a fine 8:1 win over Sandringham reserves at the Olive St., reserve last Saturday.

Don Finkelstein and Leon Diamond kicked three goals each, while Bob Cawley and a selfgoal made up the rest of Hakoah's total. Hakoah's teamline was: Essex, Laskowski, Silver, Zipper, Greenberg Reznick (c.), Diamond, Collinson, Finkelstein, Marks, and Cawley.

Finkelstein now heads the reserves' goal-kicking list with 12, followed by Cawley (10), and Diamond (9). Sam Woodward, former Arsenal (Engl.) reserve player, will be included in Hakoah reserves' line up against George Cross at Yarra Park on Saturday.

Finkelstein, a man with dark hair and glasses, wearing a light-colored shirt and tie.

Former Polonia player Grabski and ex-Hakoah winner Burianek were best of Maribyrnong's men, each scoring a goal for the visiting side. Maccabi's goals were kicked by Gold, Braithwaite, Migdalek and Kamsner.

Maccabi Juniors lost to Juventus Juniors 0:8.

Maccabi's senior eleven will meet Dandenong Rovers at Dandenong on Saturday.

Rain Delays Title Tennis

Sluice Beaten by Junior

By HANS LICHT

Rain caused postponement of a number of matches in last Sunday's play in the Vic. Jewish tennis titles at North, and South Judaean courts.

Trailing 0:3 in the second set from the previous week, after winning the first 6:3, 5th seeded Ranghi Sluice was eliminated in the first round of the men's singles by junior Louis Caplan, who won 3:6, 6:0, 6:4.

DOUBLES WINS

All seeded pairs had comfortable wins in the opening mixed and men's doubles rounds completed last Sunday.

Second seeded men's pair Mannie Nathan-Basil Isaacs dropped a service each in defeating A. Maver-P. Blashki 6:1, 6:1, and fourth seeded W. Lowen-D. Komesaroff lost a set to R. Lewis-R. Sokol before winning in 3 sets.

His first feature, on Jewish players in London, appears on page 6. Hank will be well remembered for his performances in N.S.W. interstate carnival tennis teams, &—out of action because of a hand injury last December - January — made H. Weinberg Victorian tennis team members welcome guests at Sydney Hakoah's courts in Bondi.

Henry ("Hank") Weinberg well-known Sydney Jewish tennis player at present overseas, will write for the "Jewish News" while abroad.

Goals for Hakoah: I. Olszina 2, Lachman, Moucka. Best players: Roubal (best on ground), Lachman, Kodak, Roessler.

"BE PREPARED"

— Says Phil Kleid

(Interstate Wrestler and Ajax Gym. President).

The year is advancing, and the past six months have slipped away, leaving behind them pleasant memories of the 1951-52 interstate Jewish sports carnival, held in Sydney.

A carnival thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the Victorian Ajax contingent.

We all remember the keen and close battles fought for the coveted Vandervelde Shield, which NSW managed to win by the narrowest of margins: 1 point; the gay and glamorous social round, where we all met people and made new friendships, that will last a lifetime, and the renewal of old friendships, made during previous carnivals.

BIGGER AND BETTER

No doubt many members of AJAX are eagerly awaiting their chances of representing Victoria in the next sports carnival, in Perth. This will be the 20th in the series, and one that promises to be "bigger and better" than the previous 19.

This carnival is less than six months away, a half year that will seem to pass far more quickly than the preceding 6 months. Before we know it, the Carnival will be upon us and find us UNPREPARED —unless we start training our teams now.

Let-downs and failures in the past have proved, that we must be prepared and it is up to the individual prospective team member to pull his/her weight, and to fully support the respective club in Ajax.

It is useless to try and prepare a sporting team in the last minute: A team must be trained at least 5 months, NOT 5 weeks before the carnival, and little will be achieved in the way of training a team, if the individual's attitude is one of indifference.

In training religiously, sportsmen and women trying for selection will not only help to add to the prestige of their club and team, but their individual efforts will bring credit to their names and the state they represent, apart from the advantage that only steady training will bring with it top form and superior physical condition.

Top form in any sport can only be reached with hard and regular training.

If our interstate team in Perth at the end of this year is to be of credit to the club and state it represents, then our sportsmen and women will be well advised to commence serious training right away, in order to "BE PREPARED."

Rudov, Sharpe May Lose in Battles for Last Eight Sunday

By HANS LICHT

With Elias Honig and Harry Raitman already in the quarter-finals, six matches on Sunday will decide the last eight in the Jewish tennis championships.

Following his win over 5th seeded Ranghi Sluice, Louis Caplan meets fellow junior Ronald Sharpe, while 8th seeded Monty Rudov is opposed to Basil Isaacs.

TO MEET AGAIN

Ronald Sharpe was included in the supplementary seedings, and may have a tough battle against tall, hardhitting Louis Caplan in a men's singles match on Sunday. They are also seeded to meet in a semi-final of the boys' singles, but Caplan has to beat Neville Sackville there first.

Monty Rudov has some impressive performances to his credit this year, but inconsistent form has proved his downfall in a number of matches. Rudov was seeded over Basil Isaacs in the men's singles, and meets the former South Judaean title holder Sunday.

With one exception, Isaacs has not lost to any player seeded below him in the past 6 years, and on his form in eliminating Leon Haskin should prove the committee wrong on this occasion.

FAMILY AFFAIR

Mannie Nathan's last match in open Jewish singles championship play was in 1947, when he defeated his cousin Lionel Carrick to win the title for the third successive time.

Seeded third this year, Nathan is drawn to meet lefthander Phil Benjamin—another cousin—in his first open singles match since 1947 this Sunday.

Harry Stanton has shaped well in his matches up to date, but strikes title holder Harry Ernest in Sunday's round. S. Kennett and W. Lowen should also win their respective matches to advance into the last eight.

The match between Stanton-Levy and the winners of Haskin-Sluice v Green-Green should provide the best doubles play this weekend.

DRAW FOR SUNDAY JULY 6

At North Judaean Courts:

Mixed Doubles — 9 Safer, Baitz, Ross, partner; 11 Green, Green, winners 9.

Men's Doubles — 9 Green, Green, Sluice, Haskin.

Boys' Singles — 10 M. Caplan, L. Caplan; 1.30 J. Sharpe, D. Rudin.

At South Judaean Courts:

Men's Singles — 10 Rudov

B. Isaacs; 11 Nathan, Benjamin; 12 Lowen, B. Green;

1.30 Ernest, Stanton; 2.30 L. Caplan, R. Sharpe; 3.30 Polonsky.

Women's Singles — 11 Ernest, J. Friedman.

Mixed Doubles — 9 Levy, Bernfield, Cohen, R. Friedman (to complete); 10 Goldblum, Harcourt, Blashki, Steinhardt; 1.30 Maver, Maver, Haskin, Levy, Sluice, Kaufman, winners 9, B. Isaacs, Aaron, Fink, Davis; 2.30 Raitman, Vogel, M. Caplan, Ernest.

Men's Doubles — 8.30 Markov, Polonsky, Rudov,

Sharpe (to complete); 9 Selig, Segal, M. Cohen, A. Isaacs, J. L. Isaacs, N. M. Rose, S. Rose, Rogers; 2.30 Gelman, Rosmarin, R. Sackville, Goldblum; 3.30 Levy, Stanton, Haskin, Sluice or Green, Green.

Boys' Singles — 10 L. Cohen, Springer; 12 Sackville, Rubenstein, Wills, Serby; 3.30 Benjamin, Brooks.

Women's Basketball

Judaean Girls Sports Club's junior basketball team lost 17-10 to Coburg last Saturday. Betty Fedder received best and fairest vote. The senior team did not play its match because of washed out courts at Royal Park.

Next Saturday's matches: 1sts v. Aberfeldie, at Essendon High School. 2nds v. Reads, at Royal Park.

WINNING SMILES

English Maccabi Players in Exhibition

From "HANK" WEINBERG

(EXCLUSIVE TO THE "JEWISH NEWS")

LONDON, Thursday: With the tennis season well into swing and 1952 Wimbledon less than a week away, the Union of Maccabi associations apparently decided to benefit from the present tennis excitement by holding an exhibition series in the Maccabi Stadium, Hendon.

Not courts for temperamental players, these, for concentration is frequently disturbed by lowflying planes and the roar of trains passing within serving distance of the en-tout-cas courts.

Although the attendance must have been extremely disappointing to the organisers, those present witnessed some fine tennis from the racquets of London's, if not England's, finest Jewish players. A well balanced programme of singles, men's and mixed doubles produced entertaining and often exciting tennis.

TWO DAVID CUP PLAYERS

Outstanding was E. Witmann—grey-haired and forsyth— a member of that select body, the International Tennis Club.

A Davis Cup representative for Poland from 1932-38, he has to his credit a pre-war win over Harry Hopman at Rome, where he also played in exhibitions with those other famous Australians, Jack Crawford and Don Turnbull.

Even today Witmann is a dangerous player, and only recently he surprised by almost beating Australian Don Candy in an English county tournament.

Witmann's fast, low return of service and clever all-court game dominated the exhibition matches in which several members of the British Maccabiah team participated.

A. Hamburger played for Rumania in the pre-war period, and the remaining players, Bernstein, Filderman and D. Grieves are well known on English courts. Younger than the others, Clive Bernstein, once champion of the Royal Air Force and member of the county team—Warwickshire—hit the ball extremely hard, but often suffered from lack of control and direction. Since 1949 he has competed at Wimbledon, and will be among the starters again this year.

(Bernstein defeated Swiss player Balestra 6-1, 3-6, 6-1 in the first round at Wimbledon, and lost to South African champion Sturgess in the second round).

REACHED LAST 16 AT WIMBLEDON

Considered the leading Jewish ladies in English tennis, two young and attractive girls, Pat Lewis and Angela Buxton more than held their own with the men in the mixed doubles match. Both proved fluent strokemakers and lacked neither style nor determination.

Holder of the Herfordshire singles and doubles titles, Miss Lewis was particularly impressive.

Last year she successfully reached the final 16 at Wimbledon, losing eventually to one of the greatest of all women players—Louise Brough, ex-Wimbledon and American champion.

ENGLAND V AUSTRALIA

A match between the Davis Cup teams of Australia and England could have but one result.

Perhaps, in the not-distant future, a contest between the leading Jewish players of the two countries could be arranged. However if an English team were to play Ernest, Kennett, Komaroff, Nathan, Rosenblum (in alphabetical order) and Co. today, my money—what's left of it—would certainly be on England!

Jewish Table Tennis Teams Prominent

All 7 Hakoah teams competing in the V.T.T.A. winter pennant table tennis competitions won their matches last week.

With the exception of one team, the women's C grade, all Hakoah teams are in the "four" of their respective grades. Hakoah's A grade women's and Maccabi's C grade men's teams are undefeated this season.

BACK IN FOUR

The Hakoah A grade team—Peters, Vermont and Alexander is equal 4th in following an 8-3 win over F. & Y. yellow last Wednesday, when Barney Peters again won his three singles and two doubles rubbers.

The club's second women's team, hopelessly outclassed at the commencement of this season in C grade, scored its second win in succession last week, defeating Cyclone 6-5.

RESULTS

Hakoah A 8-17-487 d. F. & Y yellow 3-3-425 (Peters 3; Alexander 2, Vermont 1, 2 doubles).

Hakoah B 7-14-476 d. F. & Y 4-12-472 (Defris 3, Balint 2, Granek 1, Ballint-Defris doubles).

Hakoah C2 10-20-520 d. VPI 1-5-382 (Schreiber 3, Rosen 3, Hain 2, 2 doubles).

Hakoah C3 9-20 d. Adult Deaf 2-8 (Jacobs 3, Gross 3, Silberberg 1, 2 doubles).

Hakoah D 6-15-518 d. Foys 5-2-473 (Goldman 2, Esakoff 2, Weltner 1, Idou bles).

Hakoah women's A 6-14-446 d. Damon 5-11-448 (Sherwin 1, Damon 1, Ilse Sherwin 1).

Comp. Tennis Washed Out

Last Saturday's L.T.A.V. pennant and district competition matches were washed out by rain.

Matches for this Saturday are:

L.T.A.V. Pennant:

D Grade: S.J.T.C. No. 1 Newport, at Mason St. Newport; North Judaean v South Hawthorn, at Nicholson St. courts, Nth. Fitzroy station; South Judaean No. 2 v Footscray Diggers, at 97 Alma Rd.

Brighton District:

South Judaean No. 1 mixed v No. 2, at 97 Alma Road.

South Judaean men's v Froggnall, at 97 Alma Road.

ILSE SHERWIN

Peters Out of S'ham Tourney

Hakoah T.T. champion B. Peters reached the quarter-final of the City of Sandringham championships last week and was beaten by top ranking Victor Dr. W. Lowen 22-20, 21-13, 6-21, 21-18 in that round.

The young Hakoah champion should do well in the forthcoming Victorian championships at Wirth Olympia, and will be likely finalist in the men's singles if drawn in the opposite half to Lowen, who is the only ranking Victorian Peters has not beaten.

Having already beaten all other A pennant players, including No. 1 Victorian Norman Buckland, gives the Hakoah skipper good claim for a higher ranking and a place in the state team for the Australian T.T. carnival in Hobart.

Mrs. Sherwin, together with her partner Mrs. K. Defris, has been included in the practice squad for the Victorian team to compete in the National titles and interstate matches in Hobart on September 8-12. Barney Peters has been named in the men's squad.

Neo - Nazi Revival Worries Europeans

By STANLEY MARKS

CANADA: You can travel a long way in 60 seconds, I moved again through Italy, Vienna, France and England in that time, when I read a Reuter's cable that wooden and impulsive Chancellor Adenauer, of Germany, had signed a treaty at Bonn returning Germany to the family of nations.

I remembered talks with young Freda in the famed Sport cafe in Vienna, riding with hardened Italian miners from Venice to Austria, rich wine in a Jewish night club in Paris and walks down London's blitzed East End.

I recalled these occasions and places because each one bore scars of nazi brutality and each person spoke of "the dangers of rising fascism."

Freda was 25. In any other land, outside the Iron Curtain, she would probably have been a leading model, a gay, happy much sought after woman or a happily married mother. But, in Vienna she was lost, unwanted (except by those who don't appreciate human beauty) and existed from day to day.

As we sat chatting in the cafe where shots from the Third Man were filmed, Freda spoke of her deep fears of a nazi revival.

I can remember her words today, although they are a year old. Her quaint seductive accent and common sense from much suffering made it impossible to stop listening.

"You wait. One year, two, perhaps five, even ten, the Germans will rise again. They will play East against West to their advantage," she said.

But allied military commanders have pronounced fascism dead, I replied.

PEACEFUL GERMANS
They pointed to the half million Germans who last May cast votes for the Socialist Reich Party, and who are today threatening the democratic order in Germany. They have no doubts that there are Germans who really want peace and unity with the West, but stress the dangers latent in the minority neo-Nazis and neo-Fascists.

She insisted that the intolerance and evils (especially anti-semitism) that had existed with Hitler were returning fast. Viennese Jews lived for today, or tried to recapture some of the past.

Freda continued. I wondered how many women of 25 had suffered as she had. I thought of all the young people I knew in Australia and how free of suffering they had been. It seemed fantastic to be sitting in a bomb-scarred city talking about the great possibility of a third war through German action.

She told me that many Jews had suffered in business and through smear campaigns.

"Of course, the menace from a new Germany is smaller than from the highly developed forces of communism, but it exists and is growing."

Freda told me that in 1933 Europe was convinced that it would never happen again. Germany was far too weak and disunited. An obscure house painter might stir trouble, but it would pass. That was 20 years ago, but what a period of history it had been.

I could not but help ponder at her words, less than 10 years after this "it would pass" period, Hitler had stood facing England and world domination.

Freda slipped from my mind as I thought of some friends I met at a well-known Jewish Parisian night club. Paulette and Robert were in their thirties. Both

ITALY WORRIED

In Italy, while travelling to Vienna, I discussed fascism with some miners. They told me that there were well over half a million fascists (this was confirmed by more than 600,000 fascist votes being recorded at the 1951 Spring elections) in their country.

They were convinced that any new order would face menaces from a strong Fascist party. They said the mere fact that numerous editors and public figures had denounced fascism showed that Italy had realised the growing dangers.

I thought of the blitzed East End and other British cities whose people had stood the horror from the skies. I wonder how they felt as the world's papers carried the story of Germany's new pledge.

The German soldier would march again only this time it would be under the flag of the United Nations. Limited rearmament would be carefully watched and enforced.

It made me think of the words of a Fleet Street newspaperman looking at some ruins behind famed St. Paul's.

In the 1930's Germany had been allowed only limited rearmament. Her army had been held to 100,000 "police troops" and she was allowed only ships of specified maximum tonnage.

"We certainly watched her and those youngsters who showed so much zeal for gliding (men who later formed the Luftwaffe)," he added.

Those are the people who flashed through my mind when I read the cable. In one way, I felt relief at having Western Germany on our side. But I could not help wonder.

I asked the hard boiled Canadian night editor of a leading daily newspaper what he thought of the cable.

"I believe the same as Stanley Baldwin did about 20 years ago—war is unthinkable and there is no fear," he smiled and went on sub-editing.

A Makeshift Method of Existence

CHICAGO, (JTA). The serious shortage of funds which has forced Israel to adopt a "makeshift method of economic existence," was described to U.J.A. leaders here by Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett.

He said the lack of funds was retarding the full development of the country's agricultural potential and "epoch making discoveries of mineral wealth."

He forecast a rich industrial and commercial future for the whole of Israel—provided many more millions of dollars were raised by the U.J.A. and through other sources.

At the same time, Mr. Sharett expressed the belief that Israel's mineral discoveries in the Negev will in all probability, sooner or later, include the discovery of oil.

ONLY QUESTION OF FUNDS

The country's economic future was only a question of funds, he said, adding that in other respects the new State was richly endowed with people, knowledge, determination and physical assets.

As an example of the makeshift methods used, Mr. Sharett told of the means by which the Negev bumper crop of barley and wheat had been harvested.

TUNISIA—

Another Diaspora on the Waiting List? A Problem of Integration and Finance

By ELEAZER LASERSON

Those of us who have had the opportunity to watch Tunisian Jews welcome Allied troops to liberated Tunisia, who have had a glimpse of the happiness all Tunisian Jews felt when the administration of Free France, or rather of that France—not necessarily de-Gaulist but pro-Allied—which fought on the Allied side since the Allied landings in North Africa, was re-established, must ask ourselves the question: how do these Jews feel today, when the Tunisian conflict is beginning to take a more and more serious form.

Will things not develop in a direction that would call for the speedy evacuation of Tunisian Jewry in circumstances resembling those of Iraqi Jewry a year ago?

The first problem concerning 120,000 Tunisian Jews is: are they immediately threatened by the recent political and military events in that country?

It would appear that for the time being, the situation has been serious, but not really alarming.

The Jewish casualties of Moslem action against the authorities—and there were very few of them—had been hurt not so much as Jews, but as French citizens, living in the pre-eminently French districts of Tunis and other major cities, and they were thus more victims of xenophobia than anti-Jewish feelings.

However, any serious political development in the direction of self-government would necessarily reduce the financial, if not physical, security of Jewish citizens of Tunis, as far as they are holders of French and other non-Tunisian nationality, for the victory of any Arab nationalist movement has invariably brought strong discriminatory action against foreign nationals.

TUNISIAN CITIZENS

But this concerns only a minority of Tunisian Jewry, although it does include some of its financially and intellectually most important elements.

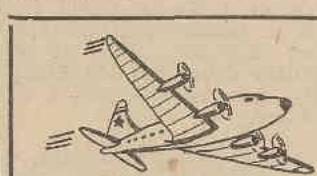

The majority, however, are Tunisian citizens, who had been in the country for very many centuries, and in some contradiction to the situation existing in Morocco, have succeeded in maintaining comparatively happy relations with the populace.

What is probably important, is the fact that the Tunisian Nationalist Movement, has a mildly socialist tinge, and although it has been trying to contact any potential allies, from the ex-Mufti of Jerusalem down to Azzam Pasha of the Arab League, its leadership is essentially modern and democratic, having as basis the principles of French civilisation, and as the most "European" of all Arab nationalist movements, it does not seem to be subject to the typical mob hysteria so current in the Arab countries, which invariably result in anti-Jewish excesses.

NO FEAR—BUT UN-EASINESS EXISTS

Thus, although Tunisian Jewry do not experience physical fear for their collective existence, there is a certain uneasiness in the community.

First of all because of the general insecurity in the country, resulting from the existing riots, when security forces are engaged on military operations and normal police duties are neglected. In such situations, the merchant in the Orient is an immediate victim, and here the Tunisian Jew pays a very full share as a member of his social class.

with the immigration of Tunisian Jewry seems for Israel to adopt a policy towards this type of immigrants, similar to that adopted in connection with immigrants from Anglo-Saxon countries and Western Europe, where special arrangements are made for import licences for goods in the form of capital transfer, and the import of building materials by each family for its own house.

Even under such an arrangement the immigrant is bound to lose something in connection with the capital transfer, and particularly in the case of a large-scale operation, but this would nevertheless enable the Tunisian Jew to save a reasonable percentage of his property and give him a fair chance to start life in Israel without complete social readjustment as it is the case with those immigrants who arrive in Israel without any funds of their own and without technical qualifications.

VALUABLE HUMAN MATERIAL

As far as Israel is concerned, Tunisian Jewry can provide some of the vital qualified manpower that the country needs so much. Tunisia has enabled its Jews to receive, at least in the main cities, an almost fully European education for a strong percentage of the Jewish community, and those who have visited collective settlements like Regavim in Israel know what wonderful human element Tunisian Jewry can provide.

Tunisian Jews, with their French-European background and technical qualifications, with the power of leadership that their educated groups are obviously showing, can provide the human material that Israel needs so much today, namely, people with a knowledge of Arabic, capable of understanding and making themselves understood among new immigrants from the Orient, and who have at the same time a European or nearly European, modern upbringing.

Tunisia can provide a solution to the vital shortage of manpower, of qualified manpower, of which Israel is so badly in need, if Israel can make the necessary arrangements to induce the "Upper 10,000" of the Jews of Tunis, and the reference is not to the moneyed classes alone, but to men and women in the professions, students, officials, teachers, technicians and skilled workers engaged in industrial enterprises, to leave their country of origin so long as departure with basic possessions is possible...

In spite of the comparative tolerance and liberal attitude of the National Movement of Tunis, there is no doubt that any evacuation of large numbers of Tunisian Jews would be much more conveniently feasible so long as the French authorities are in administrative control of the country.

Solution of Israel's Problems Precedes Peace

NEW YORK, (JTA)—"Attainment of U.S. Government financial assistance to Israel is an indication of Herzl's ideas that the building of Jewish statehood would deserve the enlightened and disinterested assistance of the international community," said Israel Foreign Minister Moshe Sharett in accepting the Stephen Wise Award yesterday.

"The U.S. Government," he said, "has served as an instrument of the world communities appreciation of the important work we are doing, and has expressed its appreciation by voting year in and year out fairly substantial amounts to aid in the revival of our people and restoration of the country."

Mr. Sharett predicted that a solution of the problems of economic reconstruction and adjustment in Israel will precede a solution of the problems of establishing peace and friendly intercourse with Arab States.

"This is an added reason to reinforce our efforts in the economic sphere," he added.

STRENGTHENING TIES
Mr. Sharett also discussed the strengthening of ties between Israel and all parts of the Diaspora. "This would result in effective world-wide companionship of all types of Jewish people not only in helping Israel but in stimulating Jewish culture and giving it new content," he stated.

"It is a unique phenomena in world history for a little State to feel so intimately connected with, to depend upon, and, in a sense, to be responsible for Jewish communities in all parts of the world," said Mr. Sharett, adding: "from these communities Israel draws strength and assistance and we will repay the debt in the course of time by a renewed cultural and spiritual influence to revive the cultural life of the Jewish people everywhere."

GREECE, TURKEY ORDER MAC TRUCKS

Israel Seen As Potential Bomber Base

WASHINGTON, (JTA). Israel was portrayed as a potential bomber base from which to attack the area "back of the Ural Mountains," in arguments on the floor of the House last weekend, which succeeded in preventing proposed reductions in aid for Israel.

Amendments were defeated which would have slashed the proposed mutual security allocation for the Jewish State by as much as 26 million.

Congressman Daniel Flood opposed the amendments which would have reduced the Israel allocation saying: "I have this very practical thing to tell you practical people.

"If you want a stationary base on the North African coast, in case you are going to—the Lord forbid—find it necessary to send bombers back of the Ural Mountains, you better have it where you know you will have it—in Israel, not in the chaotic, turbulent Arab world."

ISRAEL'S MILITARY POTENTIALITIES

The House passed the aid bill with drastic reductions in the total amount asked by the administration but rejected two amendments which would have slashed aid for Israel.

It voted down by 103 to 66 an amendment to reduce Israel's share for the resettlement of refugees from 75 million to 50 million dollars. The House rejected by a voice vote another amendment to cut the amount for Israel's refugees down to 65 million dollars.

The military potentialities of the Jewish State were described by a number of Israel's supporters who vigorously fought against the proposed amendments.

Congressman Clement Javits said Israel was "ready to stand by the side of the United States and other free countries."

Congressman Melvin Price called Israel a "definite asset to the security of the free world."

DEPENDABLE

Congressman Jacob Javits told the House that Israel "is one of the dependable fighting forces in that whole area of the world in terms of the struggle we are fighting."

"If you need any proof as to the orientation of Israel towards the United States I point out to you that it is my information that about 160

"They (Israel) say 'when we get our German funds we will release them.' I do not believe in that kind of business."

Congressman Omar Burleson asked Chatham if Israel was using economic aid funds to "retire some of their public debt." Chatham replied in the affirmative. In answer to a question from Congressman H. R. Gross as to how many troops Israel sent to Korea, Congresswoman Edna Kelly said that Israel had sent medical assistance.

President of British Board Re-Elected

LONDON, Wednesday: The Board of Deputies has re-elected Dr. Cohen President, Mr. Barnet Cohen and Alderman Moss Vice-Presidents.

Dr. Cohen said that the destiny of the individual Jew and Jewish communities was bound up with world events.

"At the moment the international scene presents the gravest aspect, and we can only hope that in the near future tensions will lessen and the Great Powers will seek agreement, which will avert the unspeakable calamity of war."

Commenting that both the Government and Agency were making uninterrupted efforts to overcome the housing shortage, Dr. Levenberg declared that difficulties in erecting permanent housing, far from being overcome were increasing in view of the country's economic situation.

He spoke with satisfaction about tremendous achievements in Israel saying that Israelis were free and happy. Grumbling, he said, has become an integral part of democratic society.

It should not be misunderstood—"I wish Jews in the Diaspora would be as confident and self-reliant as the people of Israel."

Jewish Agency Aims to increase Aliyah

LONDON, (JTA). The Jewish Agency will do everything possible to increase aliyah from Anglo-Saxon countries, Jewish Agency representative in London Dr. S. Levenberg told the Jewish Telegraphic Agency following his return from Israel.

A special sub-committee of the Executive is at present reviewing the problem. Although there has been no change in the Agency's general aliyah policy, an effort will be made to increase the number of immigrants in accordance with the decision taken at the recent meeting of the Actions Committee.

One of the Government's urgent tasks was, he thought, a general desire to increase the educational activities of the Government, adding that during July and September there will take place in Jerusalem five seminars for teachers from the Diaspora.

URGENT TASK

It is expected that 2,000 immigrants will enter Israel this month and 3,000 in July, Dr. Levenberg said adding that the number of olim from Tunis and Morocco is expected to increase.

OVERCOMING HOUSING SHORTAGE

Commenting that both the Government and Agency were making uninterrupted efforts to overcome the housing shortage, Dr. Levenberg declared that difficulties in erecting permanent housing, far from being overcome were increasing in view of the country's economic situation.

One of the most significant results of the Actions Com-

Many Jewish D.P.'s Farm in U.S.A.

NEW YORK, (JTA): Many Jewish displaced persons have gone into farming in this country, according to the annual report of the Jewish Agricultural Society, which discloses that sixty per cent of farm loans made by the Society during the past year went to D.P.'s who had turned to farming either last year or in the years just previous.

Displaced persons, in settling on the land, desired an occupation where they would be their own masters, the report declares, noting a fear of inflation and the desire of immigrants to invest in tangible effects.

The report also noted increased interest in settlement on the land by workers in the garment and associated trades who were looking for "a more stable life as farmers."

It says that in 1951 there was a "considerable increase" in Jewish farm population, although the general United States farm population was decreasing.

Displaced persons, in settling on the land, desired an occupation where they would be their own masters, the report declares, noting a fear of inflation and the desire of immigrants to invest in tangible effects.

Keyboard Wizard

A new definition of "keyboard wizardry" is rapidly being created by a young Melbourne businessman. He is 41 year-old Adrian Moulden and his magic is cast through the keyboards of a typewriter.

Guide, philosopher and friend of Victoria's increasing multi-lingual community, Mr. Moulden's Russell Street speciality typewriter service is already supplying machines with keyboards and typeface to cope with half a dozen and more languages. Thai or Turkish, Hebrew or Hindustani, German or Greek ingenuity and, where necessary, overseas airmail supply of characters, enables almost immediate provision of otherwise standard or portable machines. All sections of the new Australian community are getting to know Mr. Moulden, so are overseas Governments and business representatives.

It seems, though, that this is just a foretaste of what's to come. Three new small (well 8/10 ton) brothers or sisters Mack have arrived, unheralded, but with a "brain" all of their own. Their thought processes are pre-occupied mainly with the life-blood of their system lubrication. At the first sign of improper blood pressure they just refuse to start.

Incidentally, these brother or sister Mack make news in another way. Announcing their arrival Mr. H. G. Granat, Sales Director of Stokoe Motors Pty. Ltd. disclosed that they are the first new vehicles of their kind to come to Australia for over 18 months and nobody knows when they will be supplemented. All are destined for the road haulage field.

£25/16/6 was contributed by parents, relatives and friends at the Marriage of Mr. and Mrs. C. Green (nee Vallon) on 4-6-1952, per Rabbi L. M. Goldman.

Thai or Turkish, Hebrew or Hindustani, German or Greek ingenuity and, where necessary, overseas airmail supply of characters, enables almost immediate provision of otherwise standard or portable machines. All sections of the new Australian community are getting to know Mr. Moulden, so are overseas Governments and business representatives.

It seems, though, that this is just a foretaste of what's to come. Three new small (well 8/10 ton) brothers or sisters Mack have arrived, unheralded, but with a "brain" all of their own. Their thought processes are pre-occupied mainly with the life-blood of their system lubrication. At the first sign of improper blood pressure they just refuse to start.

Incidentally, these brother or sister Mack make news in another way. Announcing their arrival Mr. H. G. Granat, Sales Director of Stokoe Motors Pty. Ltd. disclosed that they are the first new vehicles of their kind to come to Australia for over 18 months and nobody knows when they will be supplemented. All are destined for the road haulage field.

He is also finding his service in increasing demand by hostesses and others who are joining the steady overseas trend to personalised typewritten correspondence, using the special type-face now being devised by the world's new "wizards of the keyboard."

Incidentally, Mr. Moulden, who has "lived" typewriter—technically—for 26 years, confesses that his own keyboard performance is limited to one finger rendition of "the never completed ode or sonnet about fast foxes and listless dogs."

CHILDREN'S CORNER

MEZUZAH

When we move into a new home, the first thing we do is fasten a mezuzah to the upper part of the right door post of each room. By doing this we announce that we are proud members of the Jewish people and aware of our long and honourable heritage.

Mezuzah is Hebrew for doorpost and it consists of a small case of metal or wood containing a roll of parchment. Upon the tiny scroll we find two passages from Deuteronomy. They are in Hebrew, written in the manner of Torah script. The first is the famous passage which begins:

Hear, O Israel, the Lord Our God, the Lord is One. Through a small opening in the upper part of the mezuzah case is seen the Hebrew word, Shaddai, Almighty.

Do You Know?

That the first Jew to become boxing champion of England was Daniel Mendoza (1789), who is credited with the introduction of science as opposed to the cruder tactics of the old time bruiser.

That it was anciently an established practice for Jews to lie in bed extra long on Sabbath mornings.

That the Mezuzah is a spiritual development of the charms and talismans put up on the lintels of Oriental houses to ward off demons.

MESHUGGAH
A Jew arrived at a railway station and saw a friend pacing up and down the platform in the utmost agitation.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "You look upset."

"Upset! I've just missed my train by two minutes."

"Well, by the fuss you are making, I thought you had missed it by half an hour at least."

Any boy or girl who likes writing stories with Jewish themes send them to Rachael 28 Miller St., North Fitzroy. They will be readily accepted.

Israel Appeal Figures

United Israel Appeal
1952 has raised to date
£100 in Melbourne, £31,000
in Sydney, £18,000 in Perth, £100 in Brisbane and £2,000 in Adelaide.

The Appeal is still progressing, but it is anticipated that the final result will be an per cent drop on the sum raised last year.

The drop has taken place in the large donation group, in the middle class and over class donations reaching same figures as last year.

While the drop is attributed to the unsettled economic conditions of the day, if this were the sole cause it should more clearly indicated in a smaller income groups than is the case. This suggests that the highest group donors is not responding to urgent pleas from Israel it should.

The highest per capita figure raised is in Perth, but

A.J.W. & R.S. Thanks Kew Ladies Group

At a specially arranged function the Kew Ladies Group collected £80 for the benefit of the children under the care of the OSE in Israel. The goods required by the OSE will immediately be purchased and shipped as soon as possible. The Kew Ladies Group has been doing wonderful work for years in collecting money for needy children in various parts of Europe and North Africa as well as Israel. Unfortunately the need is still great and every assistance in this direction by individuals and Groups would be most appreciated.

Wonderment in Rhymes

To Aid for Israel from an anonymous wellwisher)

Please accept my compliments
For the work your team is doing
Undeterred by wind and weather
By the growling and by boozing.

I know it is not always nice
To go from door to door
And then to hear a nasty "NO"
By someone who feels sore.

With interest I read your ads.
Which always keep me wondering
"Why must you keep on advertising
To keep the community pondering?"

Does not everybody know by now
What Israel is in need of?
That denying our generous help
Might cause a nasty Zoff?

It is not much you are asking for Just clothing used and new
And food and blankets in addition
From many to help a few.

Why don't you say, as you really should,
That people have no heart
If they refuse to donate their surplus
To give Olim a start?

Perhaps this clumsy poem will
Stir fellow Jews to deeds,
Householders, manufacturers
Donate what Israel needs.

Trousers, blouses, overcoats,
Footwear, blankets, skirts,
Shorts and socks and underwear
Towels, linen, shirts.

Babies' napkins, babies' clothes
Many tins of food (achila)
Keep on sending all these items
Otherwise it's neela.

Violin Wizard to Play Paganini Caprices

It is Paganini's original, and rarely played, version of the Concerto in D Major which 16-year-old prodigy violinist Michael Rabin has brought with him to perform in Australia. He made his Sydney debut with the Concerto, and will also play it with orchestras in Perth, Brisbane, Adelaide & Hobart. Even when Michael was 13, American critics were describing him as a wizard thicker and more uncontrolled than New York's." also has stamp and collections.

In serious matters, however, he is intelligently aware of shades of meaning, and when asked if he learnt quickly, he thought the matter over before replying "I memorise quickly. There's a difference you know."

EXCELLENT MEMORY

It is not only in music that his excellent memory stands him in good stead. He practices six to seven hours daily, but must also fit in school studies with a tutor, and although he has passed his examinations to date, he confesses he manages it by a device common to schoolboys the world over.

"Two days before the exam," he said, "I cram like the devil."

Michael learnt to drive a car in ten minutes, but it is one of his chief regrets that he is not yet old enough to be allowed to drive in New York, or in Australia. He used to collect scale models of automobiles, but has now given that up as too childish for a 16-year-old.

Despite his amazing musical gift, Michael Rabin remains a typical teenager, and sometimes given to boyish exaggeration of phrase to emphasise his meaning.

"Sydney," he exclaimed, "is the wildest city I've been in! The traffic is appalling and looks a hundred times of the violin, with all its magic at his command. It

Herzl-Bialik Commemo- ration in Melbourne

The traditional commemoration functions for Herzl and Bialik (20th Tammuz) will be held this year at the Kadimah on Sunday, July 13th., and at the Samuel Meyers Hall, Sunday evening July 20th.

In the last few years the character of this commemoration has undergone a radical change and, although the work and the great contribution made by Herzl and Bialik to the Jewish National revival are stressed in the programme, the function is no longer one of mourning.

In Israel, since the establishment of the State, the 20th Tamuz is now known as Army Day and, in addition to special functions and symposiums, etc., it is marked in the larger cities by Army parades and tributes to the Jewish soldiers who defended the State in its hour of peril and who stand guard today on its borders.

The State Zionist Council of Victoria is arranging an interesting programme at both these functions.

At the Kadimah on the 13th July, there will be recitations and items by children from the Bialik School and the Yiddish Schools, and a specially prepared dramatic presentation "Herzl's Flag" by the Bialik Hebrew School, Israeli dances with music of Bialik, Hebrew and Yiddish recitations by Mila Waislitz and a number of speeches in Hebrew and Yiddish by Messrs. J. Honig and J. Solvey.

At the Samuel Meyers Hall on the 20th July, there will be a dramatic presentation centred on the Herzl Room at the Keren Kayemet Head Office in Jerusalem, items by the Jewish Men's Choir, and Yiddish recitations from Bialik by A. Sukert.

In order to tell the children of the community of the significance in Jewish history of Herzl and Bialik, the great Prophet and the great Poet respectively of the Jewish National revival, Chaver Gershon Epstein, Youth Sha-liach of the Jewish Agency now in Australia, has been invited to address the assembled children of Mount Scopus College and also of the Bialik Hebrew School.

Sholem Asch's Books "Have Made Friends"

LONDON, (JTA). At a reception in London for Sholem Asch, given by the Association of Jewish Journalists and Authors and the Friends of Yiddish, Joseph Frankel stated that the majority of the members of the Association were made very unhappy by such books as the Nazarene, Mary and the Apostles. He appealed to Mr. Asch to respect the fact that Jews had never bowed before images.

NAZARENE IN HEBREW.

Replying, Mr. Asch attacked the American "yinglach" who wanted to destroy him. He had never deserted the Jewish people and would never do so. He cited instances of increased non-Jewish friendship for the Jews through reading of his books, adding that it was only Jewish history that could judge him.

He announced that his book, the Nazarene, is shortly to be published in Hebrew.

Society to Foster Emigration of Argentine Jews

TEL AVIV, (JTA): An Israel-Argentine Development Society has been established to arrange the immigration of Argentine Jews to Israel and to aid their absorption.

Two thousand Argentine families are said to be ready for immigration to Israel and plans are going ahead for their housing and employment. The Development Society will have a parallel organisation in Buenos Aires to deal with immigrants' queries before they leave.

The Argentine Minister in Israel has promised all possible assistance to assure the success of the Society.

HOBBIES

"I have a Canadian pen dated 1859, with Queen Victoria on it," he said. "I'm going to take back one of each type of Australian coin. I also have a number of recordings—but not many violin works. After all, when you practice the violin seven hours a day, you don't like relaxing to violin music on the gramophone too. The records are mainly piano and orchestral works."

"I didn't really care singing very much, either until I heard Elena Nikou for the first time at a concert just after I arrived in Sydney. Isn't she wonderful?" Walking back to Michael afterwards, we pass a cinema.

"Hey," said Michael, "I misses nothing of what's going on around him, that film going to be long, do you think? I miss it in New York and I'd like to see it I'm afraid I'm very discriminating about films—I like all kinds. home I go to the cinema twice a week. And now you'll excuse me, I really must start practicing. Look at my fingers. I haven't even to add to his collection. He got my calluses back yet."

"Dawn of New Era"

(Later, Mr. Ashkanasy replied that it had been decided some time ago that the memorial of Victorian Jewry would take the form of a Hospital. The plan had not been abandoned).

Professor Goldman drew attention to the practice of certain societies like the Alliance Francaise donating prizes in the appropriate language schools at the Melbourne University.

He suggested that the Board or any of its constituents, might feel moved to make an annual presentation in Hebrew in the School of Semitic Studies. He pointed out that last year 21 students passed Matriculation Hebrew, a record that had been a great advance on the numbers sitting for the examination prior to the creation of his Department.

The State Zionist Council wrote, drawing attention to the Herzl-Bialik commemoration nights at the Kadimah and Samuel Meyers Halls on July 13 and 20 respectively.

Mr. Blashki also read the text of a telegram to Mr. and Mrs. Ashkanasy on their silver wedding anniversary.

A letter was received from three Jewish nurses trained in Europe who desired support to establish a hospital for chronic and medical cases.

UNANIMOUS EXECUTIVE

Both Mr. Jessel Rothfield and Mr. J. Feigin, in moving and seconding the reception of the correspondence, drew attention to the unanimity of the Executive and the President of the Board on the Jewish Council issue, thereby "rebutting the charge of the Council that there was no unanimity" in that quarter.

Mr. Ashkanasy moved that permission be granted for Mr. W. M. Lippmann, former Secretary of the ECAJ, to report on the recent conference. The chair found there was not constitutional authority for this, and after some legal exchanges and interpolations around the table, Mr. Lippmann proceeded to report briefly on the ECAJ conference by referring to the resolutions passed, placing particular emphasis on the resolution asking for support for Hobart community, and an other recommending encouragement of Youth activities.

He also stated that the AJW & RS should be assisted to carry on welfare work in addition to the migration work it has successfully done in the past. It was essential at the present time of economic stress.

He did not report more fully on Conference as this had been done in the Jewish press.

COUNCIL DISAFFILIATED

The disaffiliation of the Jewish Council to Combat Fascism and Anti-Semitism from the Board of Deputies was brought forward by resolution moved by Mr. Ashkanasy, who deplored the necessity, but pointed out that the crucial issue was whether the Council, as a member organisation of the Board was prepared to abide by the policy of that Board, accepting its authority and its majority decisions, or whether it would continue to flout that authority.

He pointed out that the resignation of the Council published in the Press was non-operative according to the terms of the Board's Constitution, which laid it down that three months must elapse between an application of resignation and its acceptance by the Board. (This had been devised to enable an organisation that had resigned out of pique to have second thoughts, Mr. Ashkanasy said).

"The motion marks the end of four years of firstly, difficulties, then crises yielding to bitter controversy," he said. He felt sure the majority of members of the Council were sincere workers for Jewish causes. But the leaders of the Council had other issues in mind than strictly Jewish matters.

If the Council was prepared to abide by the policy of the Board, it would be welcomed back.

Mr. S. Wynn seconded the motion, voicing his concern at the recent trend of the Council, of which he had been a supporter from its initial stages.

COUNCIL PLEDGE

Mr. L. Jedwab sought to have the disaffiliation motion dropped in favour of acceptance of the resignation, but was ruled out of order on this line as it was contrary to the Constitution.

He said the Council had pledged itself to fight German rearment and migration, but the Board's attitude was the opposite. Interjectors asked whether he distinguished between migrants from West and East Germany.

The disaffiliation was passed with only one dissentient vote.

Mr. S. Yaffe (Board Treasurer), presented a financial statement earlier from which it appeared that the critical financial position of Mount Scopus College had been considerably ameliorated, though the situation was still serious.

Tributes were paid to Mr. Yaffe, and to the School Council Treasurer, Mr. Lasky, for their work in this issue, by Mr. Ashkanasy.

The recent situation should not be allowed to recur, he said.

SCHOOL COUNCIL CONSTITUTION

Debate followed on amendments to the School Council Constitution. The first amendment set out to categorise the effect of several motions passed, regarding personnel of the Council. This amendment also included a status for the immediate past President.

The motion was carried. Debate rose on the question of remission of fees. Dr. Ruskin said the limit to ten per cent of the pupils meant that the school would become a rich man's school. Mr. Lasky claimed that it was necessary to have funds coming in to maintain the school. Unrestricted remission meant the money had to come from somewhere else. "Will the Board find it?" he asked.

Mr. Rapke also pointed out the anomaly in the amendment's reference to remissions based on numbers of students rather than on the amounts of the sums remitted.

Mr. Lippmann suggested that the "ten per cent" reference should be deleted, and Mr. S. Wynn proposed that the ten per cent should refer to moneys raised through school fees. He also suggested that 25 per cent of the appeal moneys raised in alternate years for the School should be devoted to running expenses.

The Council's proposed amendment on remissions was carried.

Ancient Agricultural Customs being Revived

An interesting sidelight on the return of Jews to agriculture in Israel is the revival of ancient Hebrew customs dating from the earliest period of our history. The injunctions governing the corners of the field (Peah), forgotten sheaves (Skikkha) and odd ears of corn (Leket) were recalled at the sight of women residents of the Transit Camps in the vicinity following the harvesters in fields near their ma'abarot, enjoying their ancient right.

ISRAEL'S STRENGTH

Israel Army Grows Own Vegetables

Without any considerable investment in men or money, Israel's Defence Army is engaged in a highly novel occupation for soldiers in service—the raising of their own vegetable supply.

First conceived last year when the drought—one of the worst in living memory—reduced vegetable supplies to famine proportions, the idea was originally regarded as farfetched in many military circles.

The doubts entertained regarding the success of the scheme were reflected in caricatures appearing in various sections of the press.

Within the course of a few months, however, it had become clear that the defence forces could point to another achievement in one of the arts of peace, secured at no cost whatever to military efficiency and preparedness.

Every unit welcomed the project and the men gave freely of their time in cultivating the patches placed at their disposal.

The effort has been continued under the far more favourable farming conditions of the present year—an indication of the lasting

Jewish Physicist Honoured

This week Mr. Gershon R. Goldman, B.Sc., was notified from London that he had been elected an Associate of the Institute of Physics.

"The Institute is the recognised organisation for consultation on all matters affecting physicists and the practice of the profession in industry."

(Mr. Goldman was educated at Camberwell Grammar School which he left as head of the School.)

He graduated in Science at the Melbourne University and in 1946 was appointed Lecturer in Physics for the Commonwealth Reconstruction Training Scheme in connection with the professional training of ex-service personnel.

He was appointed Lecturer in Physics at the Melbourne Technical College in 1948.

Government Seeks Control of Olim Property

JERUSALEM, Weds: The Cabinet has considered a draft bill giving the Government greater control over the property handed over to new settlers.

There have been several cases recently in which settlers sold livestock and machinery given to them for colonisation purposes.

A three-man committee has been appointed to take action against persons using the property. The penalty is believed to be the removal of the offender from the settlement.

JERUSALEM, Weds: Ten thousand tons of crude oil is reaching Haifa today, said Major Hardy, of Consolidated Refineries.

JERUSALEM, Weds: The Knesset voted yesterday in favour of compulsory registration of gold bars and coins.
