

DR. NAHUM GOLDMANN

DAVID BEN-GURION

Another Ben-Gurion attack on Goldmann

JERUSALEM, (JCNS): The Israeli Prime Minister, Mr. Ben-Gurion, has strongly criticised Dr. Nahum Goldmann, President of the World Zionist Organisation, for what he described as holding "four passports."

It was impossible, Mr. Ben-Gurion said, to know on any occasion in which capacity Dr. Goldmann was speaking since apart from holding the office of President of the W.Z.O., he still kept the position of President of the World Jewish Congress.

In addition to it, Dr. Goldmann was an American citizen and a private individual.

It was therefore difficult to know in which particular capacity he was speaking or setting.

Mr. Ben-Gurion is understood to have made these remarks at a meeting last week of the inter-party Committee established in accordance with a decision of the Zionist General Council to work out proposals to improve the relations between the Zionist Movement and the Israeli Government.

At the last meeting of the General Council it was stated that there was no future for the Zionist movement so long as the Government continued to diminish the prestige of the Zionist Organisation by public utterances and critical attitudes towards it as well as by ignoring the Charter by the Knesset to the movement. It was also pointed out that the Co-ordinating Committee of the Israeli Government and the Jewish Agency was a "dead" body.

In vain

The inter-party committee set up as a result of this consists of leaders of parties within the Zionist Movement.

It is reported that Dr. Goldmann had tried in vain to arrange a meeting of this Committee with Mr. Ben-Gurion before the President of the W.Z.O. had left Israel. Such a meeting was finally arranged last week by Dr. Giora Josephthal, Secretary-General of Mapai.

The J.C.N.S. correspondent learns from one of those who were present at the meeting that among the proposals submitted to the committee was a suggestion that the President of the W.Z.O., or in his absence from Jerusalem the Chairman of the Jewish Agency, should be empowered to bring before the Cabinet any matter which he considers of common interest.

(This is a compromise on the original suggestion that the President of the W.Z.O. should be allowed to attend Cabinet meetings).

Debutantes

Included in the official party at the 34th Bachelors' and Hosts' Ball, held at the Palais de Danse on Tuesday night, were: Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, Cr. and Mrs. F. W. Thomas, Mayor and Mayoress of St. Kilda, Cr. and Mrs. A. C. Watson, Rabbi and Mrs. J. Dauglow, Mr. & Mrs. S. Frieze, Town Clerk Mr. H. W. Grieves and Mrs. Grieves. The Hon. W. C. Haworth, M.H.R. and Mrs. Haworth, Mr. Baron Sudder, M.L.A. Dr. & Mrs. H. Shannon, Sir Archie and Lady Michaelis, Mr. & Mrs. Roy Michaels, Rev. E. Kowadlo and Mrs. Kowadlo, Mrs. A. Beaconsfield, Mr. & Mrs. S. Kaufman, and Mr. & Mrs. A. Harris. Mrs. Harris was Hon. Organiser of the Ball. The debutantes, pictured above, were received by the Lord Mayor and Lady Mayoress, Cr. and Mrs. Thomas, and wore individual frocks and rhinestone coronets. They were: Norma Harris, Diana Bartak, Sandra Kayne, Adrienne Morley, Sandra Coleman, Carol Morley, Cecilia Teller, Jassamine Struinin and Juliet Robin.

USSR turns down claim

MOSCOW, (UPI): A Soviet court last Thursday turned down an Israel claim for $2,400,000 damages for an oil contract cancelled during the Suez crisis.

The action was brought by the Jordan Investment Company of Israel, which contracted in 1956 to import several thousand tons of Soviet oil.

Russia cancelled the contract with a charge of Israel "aggression" against Egypt in the Sinai campaign of 1956.

Last week's decision flatly turned down the Israel suit. Details of the decision, however, will not be available for about two weeks.

The decision came after more than five months of hearings by the Soviet Court of Arbitration.

Israel claimed breach of contract against the Soviet Oil Export Company. The defense took the position that Israel "aggression" caused the contract cancellation.

The Ambassador of Israel in Moscow, Mr. Joseph Aviary, expressed surprise and shock after the proceedings last week.

The Israelis had expected some sort of "compromise" settlement rather than the blunt dismissal handed their complaint.

Josephthal v. Dayan

HAIFA (JCNS): Dr. Giora Josephthal, Secretary General of the Mapai Party, speaking in Haifa, said that should dismissals of workers for reasons of industrial efficiency be required Mapai would support them. But only if carried out according to seniority.

In direct reference to General Dayan's speech in Tel Aviv in which he advocated efficiency dismissals if warranted, Dr. Josephthal said "I regret Moshe Dayan's remarks on the subject and I am sure that when he referred to such dismissals he did not know what he was talking about".

General Dayan, Dr. Josephthal went on, does not lay down the Party's policy nor has he a decisive voice in economic matters.

U.S. PRESIDENT LAUDS YIDDISH

NEW YORK (JCNS): In a message read at the Israel Bonds dinner here held in honour of the Yiddish press, President Eisenhower stated "As the Yiddish language newspapers tell the facts without fear or favour, they add strength to the national community".

Addressing the dinner, Senator Javits said that in the Lebanese crisis, Israel "has proved to be the most dependable ally of the free world in the Middle East".

DEMONSTRATION AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON (UPI): Four hundred bearded men, most of them Rabbis, paraded in front of the White House last Thursday to dramatise a protest against what they called the Israel Government's "anti-religious campaign."

One of the group, Rabbi Emanuel Mendelson, of B'nai Joseph Synagogue in New York, identified the marchers as members of a world union of Orthodox Jews with its headquarters in New York.

Rabbi Mendelson said they want President Eisenhower to intercede with the Israel Government on their behalf.

The pickets distributed leaflets demanding that Israel's Government —

● "Stop the systematic anti-religious oppression aimed at total extermination of religion in Israel."

● "Stop the desecration of the city of Jerusalem, holy to all mankind, through deliberate acts defiling its sacred moral character."

● "Release at once all Rabbis and religious scholars who are being held in prison in inhuman conditions."

ZIONISTS PLAN EXTENSIONS

At an interview last Friday, the President of the State Zionist Council of Victoria (Mr. M. Jacobson) said the Council planned to begin a campaign to win communal organisations to become co-affiliates of the Council.

Such organisations would include Landsmannschaften, Congregations etc. As corporate affiliates they would then be entitled to representation on the Zionist Assembly and the Executive.

He also said that Beth Weizmann had proved inadequate for all the demands upon its space. So the SZC is proceeding with plans to erect a hall with stage in the grounds at the rear of the existing building with a seating capacity of 300. This structure would provide additional accommodation for youth.

No appeal for money will be made, but the structure will be financed by substantial mortgages and funds of the SZC whose funds would be earmarked for the purpose. Tentative plans were in the process of being drawn up but commencement of building would not take place till after May 1960.

At an Executive Meeting last week, a presentation was made to the General Secretary Mr. W. Duffield and a resolution of appreciation was carried unanimously. "It expressed on behalf of those who in fact do work with Mr. Duffield that he is appreciated not only as a capable and devoted civil servant but also as a friend and colleague. He performs many tasks in an honorary capacity and for the practical expression of his high ideals he makes contributions involving genuine sacrifice."

Appreciation was also expressed to other employees of various Zionist organisations, particularly for their honorary efforts on behalf of the United Israel Appeal.

Dayan storm still continues

From S. SLONIM (Israel)

The storm that has surrounded the active entry of Moshe Dayan into the field of Israel politics has gone on unabated these past days.

About a month ago, Dayan delivered his first political speech which was noteworthy for the measure of criticism it directed towards the echelons of his own party: Mapai.

The result of the speech was that Dayan antagonised numerous sections of his own party without seemingly gaining much from outside the ranks of the party.

Those who were particularly up in arms included: The United Kibbutz Movement for Dayan's belittlement of the Nachal Scheme (military trainees working in kibbutzim during their 2½ years military service) and also the industrial unions, for Dayan's support of the employer viewpoint in the recent ATA textile factory strike (that unproductivity should be sufficient grounds to dismiss even an old hand).

In order to straighten out things a little, Mapai held a weekend conference at Beth Berel in Zofit. The conference was attended by 60 ranking members of Mapai and was conducted in an open give and take manner so as best to clarify the party stand on some of the challenging issues raised by the new group of young activists within Mapai nicknamed the "Young Turks".

"NEW FACE"

At the head of the "Young Turks" stands Moshe Dayan. The group was formed and promoted by Ben-Gurion himself, who is keen on exploiting the hero-status which many of these individuals gained during the Sinai campaign.

Furthermore, Ben-Gurion is convinced that their policy of activism and realism has something to offer Israel in the coming decade.

He has been quite resolute in placing these new party subalterns at the head of the Mapai List for the 1959 Knesset elections, thereby presenting a new face for the party.

Inevitably, the character of the party must undergo a radical change: in essence it will no longer be the "purist party of socialism" that it has long been regarded. It will instead assume a more secular, less ideological appearance.

The conference at Beth Berel was in a certain sense successful and in another quite a failure. To begin with not one Cabinet member other than Ben-Gurion himself, at-

H.I.A.S. Thanks Welfare Society

Mr. Harold Trobe, Director of the United Hias Service European Headquarters, wrote a letter of thanks to the Australian Jewish Welfare and Relief Society, part of which is quoted herewith:

"I should like to take advantage of this opportunity to express to you our deep gratitude for the magnificent co-operation you are giving us in all areas of our work, and particularly during the last six months on securing Landing Permits for Polish Jews. The Melbourne community is writing another great chapter in the story of Jewish rescue work."

As you perhaps know, Mr. Spanier and I spent two weeks in Poland in February and talked with several hundred people. We can only tell you that each time you help a Polish Jew get out of Poland you have performed a great Mitzvah."

HAPPY "AS IS"

The older element of the party does not desire a "face lift" at all. It is quite content with its look as it is. To this extent then, the conference could hardly be described as successful — in that it clearly did not produce the "magic bridge" which was to unite "new" and "old".

But it was, however, successful in impressing the party and populace as a whole with the measure of identity that Ben-Gurion was prepared to commit in support of the "Young Turks" views.

He endorsed Dayan, with only slight reservations, and even went on to say that "more Derech Eretz" was warranted towards one of the great generals of our time."

This latter comment was wisely criticised in the evening paper "Maariv", which noted that the terms "General Conference", "General Debate" had become standard in reporting Jewish political events. But this was the first time that such a unique interpretation as that of Ben-Gurion (that of "general" for General of the Army) had been introduced into such matters.

VIENNA, (JTA): The policy of the Soviet Union towards its Jewish citizens and the theory of "integration," were severely attacked by a number of Jewish Communist delegations.

They participated in a top secret meeting in Warsaw on April 20 to discuss "general Jewish questions and the problem of Soviet Jews."

The Jewish Communist delegations and personalities were in Warsaw in connection with memorial ceremonies on the occasion of the anniversary of the Warsaw Ghetto revolt and were called into the secret meeting by the leaders of the Cultural and Social Federation of Jews in Poland, who considered this a fitting opportunity to assemble the delegates and personalities who came from France, Britain, the United States, Israel, Argentina, Austria, Poland, Rumania, Hungary, Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union.

Altogether thirty persons, including the two Jewish members of the three-man Soviet delegation, General Dragunsky and author Dolmatovsky, were present. A first-hand source presented to the JTA the following exclusive report.

Stormy

The problem of Soviet Jews was one of the main subjects discussed and gave rise to a stormy meeting.

Dr. Nagler, member of the Central Committee of the Austrian Communist Party, expressed his party's criticism of the Soviet Union's policy towards its Jewish citizens.

American and British delegations also spoke in critical terms of Premier Nikita Khrushchev's approach to the Jewish problem.

In his speech, the representative of the Israel Com-

HEUSS STATEMENT ON REPARATIONS

NEW YORK (JTA & JCNS): Reparations for Jewish victims of Nazism was discussed on Sunday by West German President Theodor Heuss and American Jewish leaders at a two-hour conference.

The meeting was called at the President's request.

It was explained that any statement made by Dr. Heuss could not be interpreted as the official policy of the West German Government but an associate said the President had long exerted his influence on behalf of restitution to persecuted Jews.

An informal talk, the conversation ranged over several problems including the situation in Germany as it affected Jews.

Among the subjects discussed was also the question whether the presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" could be considered an anti-Semitic gesture.

Those present were Senator Javits, Mr. Jacob Blaustein, Mr. Irving Engel, P. M. Klutznick and others.

MRS. MEIR HAS OPERATION

JERUSALEM, (JTA and JCNS): The Foreign Minister (Mrs. Golda Meir) has undergone a surgical operation for gall trouble and is showing steady improvement.

Prior to her admission to Bellinson Hospital, "Maariv" reported that before entering hospital Mrs. Meir had complained about interference by Ministry of Defence officials, particularly by its Director-General, Mr. Shimon Peres, in matters which are really the concern of the Foreign Ministry.

The reported request of her resignation was denied by Foreign Ministry sources and "Maariv" suggested that the report of her resignation had been inspired by Mr. Peres or someone close to the Defence Ministry as part of a campaign to "get rid of her."

RABBI RAPAPORT COMMENTS

Rabbi Dr. I. Rapaport, Chairman of the Melbourne Beth-Din, was asked for a statement on Rabbi Danglow's communication as contained in the announcement but refused to make any comment, except to say that from the very wording it is evident that it is only Rabbi Danglow and Rabbi Super and not the Beth Din as a whole which has accepted religious responsibility for these arrangements.

A complete report of this meeting was sent to the Soviet Communist Party and most other West European parties. The only reference to the conference was, however, a paragraph in the Folkshtimme of May 3rd which acknowledged that such a meeting took place to enable "contacts among Jewish delegations."

GIFTS FOR HEBREW UNIVERSITY

One of the lesser known aspects of the activities of the Victorian Friends of the Hebrew University is the sending of much needed publications to the Jewish National and University Library in Jerusalem.

There are various generous donors, professional men and others who have from time to time made splendid contributions in this direction. Some well known medical men are subscribers to Australian Medical journals which are sent direct.

Others have from time to time sent special parcels of much wanted medical journals.

The Australian Law Digest was sent few years ago by one member, who continues to send the Annual Supplement, and only this week, one member of the Committee presented a complete set of the new, recently published Australian Encyclopedia, all ten volumes, a gift which will be very greatly appreciated by the Hebrew University Library.

Copies of publications by all Jewish authors here have been sent and continue to be sent as they appear.

DR. SAM. ROSE

This is one of the many ways in which the Victorian Friends of the Hebrew University assist this great and wonderful Institution. In addition, the activities add much to the cultural life of this community in bringing forward leading personalities from time to time.

Many here heard with pride of the splendid achievements of Dr. Sam Rose whilst he was in America recently. On Sunday night at Beth Weizmann, Dr. Sam Rose will give all who attend a "Peep into Medical Research", a fascinating story of work in this field.

MELBOURNE, FRIDAY, JUNE 27th, 1958

ROOT OF THE MATTER

The Lebanon crisis is reaching its climax and there seems little likelihood of the survival of that state. The high feeling in Cyprus, also close to Israel, seems ready to erupt into violence on a scale much more widespread than the sporadic shootings of recent years.

We have only just been informed of a meeting or conference held earlier in the year when it was admitted by a few Communists of Jewish descent that discrimination exists in Russia but they felt it was necessary to "keep quiet" so as not to give ammunition to those opposed to Communism.

Indeed, one Dolmatovsky, said there was no need for Yiddish and that the Jews of Russia "do not want or need a nationality mark on their passport."

As religion is "out" and Yiddish culture cannot be transmitted except by word of mouth, how can they envisage a "Jewish future" as they claim? There is no unifying bond between the generations if the suggestion of the Communists receives widespread support.

All these events may seem disconnected, but they arise from the one stem: blind adherence to a materialist outlook; to the view that all that matters is power and the use of power; to the view that one can with impunity compel people to conform to some pattern or other it is wished to impose upon them.

The outlook in the Middle East, and indeed in the world generally, is dark just because there is no ethical standard used in the dealings between the rulers of men, or between those who usurp the rulerships for their own egotism.

What we need is a larger view of humanity: that great mass of vastly differing human beings all of whom are individualities developing more or less slowly according to the trends locked up within nature.

If we have this view, and work cooperatively with one another, instead of trying to take from one another, then such troubles as we see round about will subside. At the present, there seems little likelihood of that happening, however. Too many people are prepared to be led around by the ruthless and the "smooth talkers." But our responsibilities start with ourselves: let us work in that garden within ourselves and root out the weeds, and the rest may follow.

INDIA, ISRAEL COMPARED

No nation requires to be understood more desperately today than Israel, and nothing promotes understanding between nations more than the sharing of common problems.

This was the general theme of a lecture in which Mr. N. H. Rosenthal of the Melbourne University showed a film of current development in India which illustrated how the Indian people are engaged in pioneering endeavours very similar to those of the State of Israel.

Mr. Rosenthal said that Indian opposition to racial prejudice made for much sympathy with Israel.

The two countries shared features like having an ancient culture much older than that of their recently ended foreign domination, neglect of agriculture during the period of colonialism, problems of irrigation and fighting disease.

Differences between the two countries were most significant in the sphere of education and settlement.

New Organisation — Mizrachi Aviv

At a meeting held recently at the home of Mrs. and Mr. B. Pushett, 75 Balcombe Rd., Caulfield, and convened by Mrs. R. Leibler, President of Ladies Mizrachi, a number of women who are interested in furthering Mizrachi activities met to form a new group to cater for the younger set.

Mrs. Leibler who was in the chair, outlined to an enthusiastic gathering the comprehensive aims of the movement, particularly in the sphere of social welfare. Prior to election of office bearers Mrs. Leibler announced that henceforth, what was formerly known as Ladies Mizrachi would be called "Ladies' Mizrachi Yavneh"; and it was unanimously decided to name the newly formed branch "Mizrachi Aviv".

Elections for executive positions were held and resulted as follows: Chairman Mrs. S. Feigin, Hon. Secretaries: Mesdames B. Pushett and J. Pushett, Hon. Treasurer: Mesdames B. Oberman and H. Figdor, Function Mrs. A. Bloch, Catering Mrs. W. Duffield, Cultural: Mesdames B. Slonim, B. Shlesinger and S. Jossowitch, Membership: Mesdames J. Sheinkin and J. Paneth, Publicity Mrs. G. Feiglin.

At the conclusion of the meeting supper was served during which a vote of thanks was extended to the chair and to the hostess.

OTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS p.p. 16, 17.

SOMETHING WRONG SOMEWHERE...

THIS STATE of our Jewish community doesn't seem to me to be very healthy at the moment. There are so many hatreds and personal vendettas being conducted by men in authority that their energies are being expended quite uselessly.

Much of this rancour is kept out of the Press, but a great deal of it is not; much of it is dressed up in zeal for causes, but the elaborate disguise hides only spite, intolerance or ambition.

Whether these disintegrating influences are looted from rabbinical, Zionist, or general communal levels, the effect is the same: a destructive waste of useful manpower, brains, energies...

Surely, we don't have to wait for a Hitler to arrive on our doorstep to discover that we are all Jews, that our differences could well be given room to exist side by side, be they religious, political, personal or communal!

TOO LITTLE — TOO LATE?

IT'S not often I slip in a par that has no Jewish significance. I won't apologize though, because I think it will amuse...

A magazine devoted to books and authors reports that W. E. Johns, creator of the famous "Bobbies" books (read by most of our children) received a very distressed letter from a group of young admirers who had just discovered that he was 64 —

"...This means", they wrote, "that you will soon be dead. We are appalled at the thought and implore you from now on to work double time..."

SOME PROBLEM!

AND I heard last week of a woman who was rung up and asked if she would donate a couple of things that could be given as prizes in a lucky envelope stall arranged by one of our women's organisations.

"Well, of course", she said, "but what would you like?"

"Oh, anything", said the stall organiser.

"Hm", said the woman, "I don't know — it's hard to think of things that can fit in a little envelope!"

HITLER'S YOUTH

Hitler's youth has never really been a topic of great interest to Jewish people except that they regret he ever lived beyond it.

Nevertheless, a book of that title has been written by Frans Jetzinger (Hutchinson: 20/-), and it does contain certain theories of specific Jewish interest.

The author devotes a great deal of space, and has evidently devoted a great deal of time, to research as to Adolf Hitler's family background. He believes that Hitler's grandmother, a certain Maria Schickgruber, was in service with a Jewish family named Frankenberger and gave birth to an illegitimate son named Alois. Frankenberger senior paid sums of money on behalf of his 19-year old son to Maria for many years, which seems to prove to Jetzinger and others that his son was the real father of Alois.

RABBI SHOULD LAY COMMUNITY UNDERSTAND

"No rabbi, worth his mettle, can be expected to sacrifice principles of his faith, but he should try to show understanding and tolerance of the practical difficulties that faced his lay community."

Rabbi Chaim Gutnick, newly-appointed Minister of the Elwood Congregation said this, when making his maiden speech at the "Y" last Thursday.

Rabbi Gutnick who was welcomed and introduced by the President of the "Y", Mr. David Mandie, J.P., said he was aware that, in speaking about "Our Rabbis and the Community" he had chosen a very controversial subject that had aroused wide differences of opinion throughout the community.

The Jewish faith, said Rabbi Gutnick, knows of no distinction between the Rabbi and his lay community before the Law, and their religious obligation was the same.

Every Rabbi must have principles and convictions that must not be twisted and turned, but it was his approach to the community, in implementing his principles that counted most.

Rabbi Gutnick who — before accepting his Melbourne appointment had been a businessman in Sydney — recalled how he came to this country convinced that, after the destruction of European Jewry, there was no spiritual future for the Jews in the Diaspora.

But, once again, splendid Jewish centres of learning had arisen in the Anglo-Saxon countries of the Western world. The speaker compared the Jewish people to the burning bush that Moses saw in the desert — which burned but was never consumed. It was a symbol of the Jewish people who had suffered untold misery but would never perish.

The Rabbi said he was looking forward to a long and distinguished period of service with the Elwood Congregation, and stressed he would always be prepared to give of his best to his congregation, and to the community as a whole.

Moving the vote of thanks, Mr. Trevor Rapke, Q.C., President of the Board of Deputies, pledged the full support of the community to Rabbi Gutnick in carrying out his work.

Earlier, on behalf of members of the "Y", Mr. Jack Bercovitz, J.P., conveyed congratulations to the President, Mr. David Mandie, on his recent appointment as a Justice of Peace of the Central Balliwick.

"Well, of course", she said, "but what would you like?"

"Oh, anything", said the stall organiser.

"Hm", said the woman, "I don't know — it's hard to think of things that can fit in a little envelope!"

HELPERS FOR FAIR

One of the lasting benefits from the celebrations of the 10th Anniversary Dinner by the Victorian Friends of the Hebrew University in April last was the gathering together of the Federal and State members of Parliament and the Chancellor and Deans of the Faculties of the University of Melbourne.

It will be remembered that this highly successful function brought many tributes from the high Federal and State personalities who attended, and much valuable public relations work was achieved as a result.

It is therefore good to know that this important step in mutual understanding and co-operation work is to be continued.

An independent group of women under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Morris C. Davis and Mrs. Alwyn R. Samuel is organising a Campus Fair in aid of the Hebrew University and the University of Melbourne.

The date is Sunday 7th December 1958 at "Stanmark" which has been generously donated by Mr. and Mrs. Michael D. Fockes.

Although six months will elapse before this fair will be held, already the energetic committee is meeting regularly each Tuesday as a working bee preparing the most equitable articles, hand-work, knick knacks and bric-a-brac for sale at the fair.

In addition there will be fun of every description for children as well as adults.

Maria married a man who changed his name from Hitler to Alois, and Alois was finally adopted by his stepfather's brother. Alois' son was Adolf Hitler, who would thus seem to have one Jewish grandparent.

Hated of this "illegitimate" stigma is said to account for Hitler's violent anti-Semitism, though it appears doubtful if Hitler knew his family history until he was quite an "expert" anti-Semite.

ACTUALLY, Mr. Jetzinger's researches have proved nothing definite, and according to him the matter will never be fully decided. However, the author and others seem to find this point important and the situation psychologically interesting.

I could only imagine a wealthy Jewish boy getting a servant girl "into trouble" and then, in some mysterious way, being granted a vision of the future—so that he could see his "sin" plant dragons' teeth which would grow into a slight man with a comic moustache, a living scourge that would wipe out six million of his descendants...

That, indeed, would seem to make real "the sins of the fathers" being visited upon the children! How frightening to think that one man's moral lapse could be responsible for so gigantic a catastrophe!

Other than devoting a great deal of time to Hitler's genealogy, the book is not particularly interesting. It is, I think, too scholarly and too well documented a thesis for so little factual material: it is all much ado about nothing.

The author proves of course that Hitler was a pathological liar and not particularly intelligent. In fact, there seems little in "Hitler's Youth" to account for the fanatical power Adolf Hitler was to wield in later years, except perhaps his "... queer, frightening eyes..." and his ability to talk.

OUR GOOD NAME

A JEWISH name is a bribery and corruption case at U.S. Presidential level is not a very comfortable thing for us to read about.

If the President's "right hand" man, a trusted, puritanical and self-righteous politician, gets accused of accepting bribes, it is quite true that odium should attach to him. No doubt, if it is proved that Mr. Adams is guilty, he will come in for a lot of harsh names; but he will just be a venal man—nothing more.

Although in theory I know that we Jews are entitled to our sinners, too, and that a Jewish name in a case like this should give us no complex, I just can't believe it. Anti-Semites will be making great capital out of this, and millionaire industrialist Goldfine will have done his fellow-Jews more harm than can ever be offset by his donations to Jewish causes.

Our wealthy and notable Jews carry a big weight of responsibility to their fellows. Their good name is our good name, and if they let us down, we all need hang our heads.

I know of one Jewish man in Melbourne of whom a well-known lawyer said to me: "Him?—The!—He needs a personal committee to combat anti-Semitism to follow him around and undo all the harm he does all of us every day of his life!" True, we are not his keepers, but some of the dirt splashes on us, too!

We Jews can't all live as saints, but perhaps we have to be more honest, circumspect, decent than anyone else; and if this is asking a lot—well, a lot has always been asked of us in every way.

Make you spit, wouldn't it?

KRUPP GOES NORTH

So Mr. Krupp has almost decided to use his money in Queensland. Do hope the disappointment in Victoria hasn't been too acute.

Make you spit, wouldn't it?

THRILLING 'FIREBIRD'

The New York City Ballet (Her Majesty's Theatre) has entered Melbourne theatrical life like a ray of sunshine on a bleak winter day.

The season's first programme is highlighted by Stravinsky's "Firebird", superbly danced by Melissa Hayden. Miss Hayden dominates throughout, with clear line, beautiful arm control and precise though far from mechanical technical brilliance.

Allegro Kent danced a most impressive and delicate Odette in Swan Lake, with Nicholas Magallanes convincing as Prince Siegfried.

The beautiful pas de deux was shattered by a rather noisy ending, and the pas de quatre suffered from lack of unison.

Pas de trois (Glinka) brought fine dancing from Allegro Kent, Patricia Wilde and Jacques d'Amboise, with the last-mentioned giving us male dancing as seldom seen in this country. Miss Kent, too, was most impressive in line and movement.

Fanfare, danced to Benjamin Britten's Young Person's Guide to the Orchestra, is a credit to choreographer, costume designer and the dancers, who obviously enjoy themselves portraying the instruments and sections of the orchestra.

J.N.F. QUEEN CANDIDATES

The 10th Anniversary Year of Israel which has left its indelible mark on all activities of the Jewish Community, will have its influence on the J.N.F. Queen Competition to be conducted in Melbourne from August 1 for three months.

The Queen Competition, one of the oldest established traditions of J.N.F. fundraising, has been in the foreground for many years, but in this, the 10th Anniversary year, Presidents and representatives of Sponsoring Organisations (WIZO, N.C.J.W., M.D.A., Ladies Misraachi) and others, have met with the J.N.F. Executive to discuss special measures by which the 10th Anniversary Competition would be unique.

Aspects of the Queen Competition include important topics like presentation of the Queens, incentives, Coronation Ball and in general, the conduct of this Competition.

To mark the 10th Anniversary year, 10 sponsoring organisations have declared their readiness to enter ten Queens in the competition this year and at present, fervent activities amongst the groups to obtain the right candidates are being conducted.

A number of "queens" have already been sponsored and will be announced in the Jewish press in due course. The Competition will be inaugurated with a presentation reception late in July.

WIDESPREAD ISRAEL APPEAL EFFORTS

Canvassing and contacting of potential contributors to the United Israel Appeal is being conducted energetically all over Victoria.

This includes the furthest country areas, and all the outer suburbs of Melbourne and in Tasmania.

SHEPPARTON

This week the Appeal Directorate received a cheque for £279/8/- from some 20 families living in the Shepparton district with an undertaking that they were contacting others and would forward further contributions.

This effort was made by the small Shepparton community even before they were approached by the Appeal Directorate, and is in line with the traditional spirit of generosity, particularly

A.L.P. Conference

Ernest Platz, well-known in the Melbourne Jewish Community, was a proxy delegate for a Trade Union at the Annual Conference of the Australian Labour Party which was held June 13-16, at the Trades Hall.

Almost 400 delegates representing Trade Unions and Labour Party Branches participated.

Mr. Platz was one of 3 New Australian delegates. He spoke on tolerance for migrants (part of his speech was published in the daily press) and also on press and propaganda matters. His contribution was well received and appreciated.

Mr. Platz was one of the 43 nominated for the Executive, 18 of whom were elected. This was the first time that he stood for such a position and he came 24th in the ballot.

MOTTEL, THE CANTOR'S SON

The review of Sholem Aleichem's "The Adventures of Mottel, the Cantor's Son" appearing in last week's "Jewish News" was written by Walter Duffield B.A., and referred to the latest issue of the Jewish Book Club's series of publications.

Copies may be ordered from the Victorian Jewish Board of Deputies, 325 Collins Street, Melbourne.

for Israel, that imbues the Jewish farmers and shopkeepers of this community.

TASMANIA

Contributions are being received in the office from Jewish families in Tasmania, who also have a tradition of regular contribution to the United Israel Appeal.

There were several Tenth Anniversary Functions organised by the few families with their non-Jewish friends in Launceston and Hobart and they are now demonstrating their practical support for Israel by working and giving for the Appeal.

"POSTMAN"

To date, some 130 replies have been received in the "Operation Postman" Mailing Campaign, representing an additional sum of £800 towards the Appeal.

The Appeal Directorate urges the many hundreds of people they are sure wish to contribute to the Appeal but who probably have the "Operation Postman" letter and reply envelope lying on their desk or kitchen shelf, to make use of it now, so that the Appeal can be brought to a successful end.

A number of the replies received have additional remarks attached to them expressing the contributor's wish to have given more if his or her financial circumstances were better. Their contributions are gratefully received in the knowledge that they represent the maximum sacrifice of the contributors concerned and provide a real demonstration of their love for Israel.

CANVASSING

In a number of suburbs, Carlton, Northcote, Thornbury, Moonee Ponds, in the north; and St. Kilda, Caulfield, Elwood, Malvern, Kew and Balwyn, in the South and East, energetic honorary workers of the Appeal are conducting "Operation Doorstep" with considerable success.

They have asked the Appeal office to urge those householders who were either not home when they called or who took pledges and promised to send them to the Appeal office after consideration, to mail them on so that the workers would not have to call on them again.

The first Lecture was given last week on Modern Languages, and further lectures will be given fortnightly Wednesday morning.

Lectures in Teachers Seminar are given twice weekly Monday and Wednesday from 7.15 p.m. to 10 p.m. Subjects taught include: Torah with Commentaries, Nach with commentaries, developments of the Halacha (Jewish laws and precepts), History of the Jews and Jewish Movements, Hebrew for beginners and advanced, Hebrew Literature and methods in teaching.

Jewish Council reports From home and abroad

By ERNEST PLATZ

A very successful Drawing Room Meeting was held in Kew to discuss anti-Semitic incidents in the suburbs.

The anti-Semitic attack in the "Kew Advertiser" aroused a great deal of discussion. Mr. Stephen Dattner, an Executive member, gave an outline as to what could be done to combat this danger to the Jewish Community.

Wife Killer: A German migrant who was convicted for killing his wife, received unusual praise from Mr. Justice Dovey. The Judge is reported in the "Sydney Mirror" of June 13, to have said inter alia, that he took into account the previous good character and illustrious war record as a soldier with the German Army. This record was just as valuable to him now as if his service had been with the Australian Forces.

The German War Criminal said that he had been awarded 9 decorations including the German "Cross of Gold".

Has the Judge taken into consideration that perhaps the German soldier received these decorations for his participation in killing innocent women and children? Oradeur, Lidice and Coventry may have been one of his battle stations. Or he may just have been a guard of a prisoners of war camp in Poland. Who knows? The Vigilance Committee of the Council will give this matter further attention.

Lesson for Jews in heart research

Doctor tells why Jews prone to certain cardiac troubles.

"JEWISH NEWS" SPECIAL FEATURE

Recent research into the cause of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) has shown an important lesson for Jews, a well-known Doctor told the "Jewish News" this week.

The doctor had been asked to comment on certain aspects of the reduction of fat intake mentioned by famed cardiologist Dr. Paul White, during his recent visit to Australia.

The doctor, whose valuable comments on current matters of health have appeared from time to time in the "Jewish News", this week tells our readers why Jews, especially from Europe, may be especially prone to develop arteriosclerosis.

In recent years, much research has been undertaken to discover the cause and possible cure of arteriosclerosis or hardening of the arteries.

Dr. Paul D. White, internationally famed cardiologist and physician to President Eisenhower, made mention during his current lecture tour in Australia, of the importance of exercise and the reduction of intake of certain types of fats, the danger of over-weight and the need to control the high levels of fats, phospholipids and cholesterol in the blood stream.

Jews, especially those from Europe, who come to Australia and bring with them their eating habits more attuned to cold climates are especially prone to develop arteriosclerosis and its complications such as heart disease, cerebral thrombosis and kidney disease.

It is very probable, but yet unproven theory, that reduction of intake of fats, and the use of certain unsaturated types of fats which are known to reduce the level of blood cholesterol, will greatly reduce the incidence of arteriosclerosis.

It will be necessary for any population over the age of 40 years, to follow this regime, for at least 10 years before a final proof of this important theory can be concluded.

From Israel, has recently come important evidence that this theory is essentially correct. An investigation was carried out on the blood cholesterol and incidence of arteriosclerosis among the Yemenite immigrants in Israel.

Its population is comprised of immigrants from East and West, differing widely in their cultural background and ways of life. Each group is reluctant to change its habits of eating so that a unique opportunity presents itself for a long term experiment on the influence of diet on blood cholesterol levels and their relation to the occurrence of arteriosclerosis.

Apart from the higher death rate from arteriosclerosis in Israel among newcomers from Western countries, a striking difference has been found between Yemenites who arrived over 20 years ago and those who came within the last five years.

528 Yemenites were investigated to determine their social conditions, nutritional status, blood levels of cholesterol and phospholipids. The findings were correlated with the death rate due to arteriosclerosis. The diet of recently immigrated Yemenites contains a lot of pita, a type of flat yeasted bread. They also eat large quantities of vegetables, little meat about once per

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

DID ISRAEL MISS THE ASIAN FLU?

The editorial staff of "Spectrum International" have produced a documented paper giving the Course of the Asian flu in 1957. A few countries: Hong Kong, 250,000 cases by April 18; Singapore, by May 21,000; Japan, April 1, 500,000 cases; India, May, over 1,500,000 cases; Indonesia, June, 1,500,000 cases, with 1000 deaths, Australia, Victoria, 10% of the population.

"Probably similar percentage in other States."

"In the Southern Hemisphere, from July to September the spread was rapid and wide."

Figures are given for New Zealand, South Africa, Chile, Peru, Brazil.

There was also a widespread outbreak in Europe and U.S.A.

Quoting, "By the end of August, the only country east of the Mediterranean remaining free of influenza was Israel."

Could one of your readers, medical or not, tell me if Israel escaped, and if so, was it due to any special precautions or immunisation?

Yours faithfully,

ADVERTISE IN "THE JEWISH NEWS"

VISIT TO A MOSCOW SYNAGOGUE

MY FIRST encounter with a Jew in Moscow was inadvertent. I was trying to order a steak in the restaurant of the Moscow Hotel and my interpreter was absent.

The waiter was a small, tired man in his fifties, with watery blue eyes that blinked nervously and a nondescript, exhausted middle-European face.

He tried patiently and politely to understand my sign-language.

'I don't understand,' he

repeated over and over again in Russian. With some exasperation I looked round for someone who knew English. The restaurant was crowded with delegations, all furnished with interpreters, but those in my vicinity seemed to be mainly Chinese or Asians of various minor republics speaking a liquid babble of Oriental languages.

TWO MEETINGS

I had almost given up hope of getting my steak when the waiter had an idea. 'Sprechen sie Deutsch?' he asked hopefully. I did, a little. He smiled with relief. Picking up the menu, he began to discuss the dishes in fluent Yiddish. I went on with my meal and gave no indication that I recognised the language he was using as anything other than German, but with the coffee I casually told him that I was a Jew. After a few moments, he looked round guardedly then bent over and brushed the tablecloth with a napkin. 'Ich bin ehet a Yid' (I, too, am a Jew), he confided with his lips close to my ear.

My next meeting with a Jew occurred in equally fortuitous circumstances. My wife was rather unwell and our interpreter telephoned for the hotel doctor. About twenty minutes later there was a knock at the door of my apartment; a short fat man in a dirty white coat came in. His hair was cropped to the skull like that of many Russians and he carried a battered wooden box. He looked perhaps like the hotel butcher or a white-coated plumber; but the doctor he was, and a very good one he turned out to be. He, too, told me he spoke German, but actually we conversed in German-Yiddish while he carried on a thorough and systematic examination of the patient, unerringly diagnosed the cause of her sickness, and prescribed an effective treatment to remove it.

THESE perfunctory encounters were soon multiplied — Moscow is, after all, a city with at least as many Jews as there are in London. But these were not the Jews whose legends I had heard in the kitchen of my Bethnal Green tenement when my mother and her friends talked of Kiev and Minsk and Odessa, and populated the ghettoes of their past with characters as moving and ridiculous as any Sholem Aleichem put into his comedies. Therefore something more than curiosity drew me — a secular Jew in whom the liturgy echoed faintly, if at all — to the synagogue, where I felt they must be found.

"ECCENTRIC"

On the first available Saturday morning I set out to find the synagogue. It was not easy. Most of the people I asked looked at me as though I had made an extremely eccentric request. Finally, one of our interpreters undertook to make enquiries and was able to find the place for me. It was about ten minutes' walk from the Kremlin in a steep cobbled street, one of the narrowest in the whole of Moscow. The district was shabby by the standards of the Russian capital, which is a clean city comparatively free from the squalid slums of London and New York. Most of the surrounding streets were broken at intervals by court-yards hemmed in by tenements, with peeling stucco and lines of washing strung from window to window. Bright-looking children in clean, faded cottons played ball in the stifling heat, and women with broad peasant faces stared curiously at my foreign clothes.

The Moscow Great Synagogue was a big, grey building rather like a shabby municipal library. A crowd, predominantly men, stood or sat on its stone steps. Most of them were elderly, some were bearded, but all were poorly dressed as compared to the general population. A good many Russian blouses were in evidence but whatever individuality there was in dress merged in the uniform drabness of the extremely poor. The people watched in silence as I approached, but when I ascended the steps some of the bolder ones crowded round and began to question me eagerly as they guided me into the building and introduced me to some synagogue officials. One of them was clearly the shamus — the beadle — a small, full-bearded, full-bellied man in his middle sixties whose face glistened with perspiration and whose anxious eyes scurried from side to side like startled mice.

BIG DAY

It was a big day for the Moscow congregation, for a party of American rabbis were attending the synagogue for the first time. The service was at its height. The cantor rocked to and fro before the ark, chanting in a voice that alternated from a melodious bass to a dramatic tremolo, and a choir high in the synagogue sang the responses with singular clarity and resonance.

The congregation stood shrouded in praying shawls, sometimes glancing distractedly at the faded gold stars in the blue alcoves at each side of the ark, the yellowed marble pillars, the grimy windows. A woman standing in the gallery cried persistently and beat her fist against her breasts, as women have always wept in synagogues. It was like an old print that recalls the whole tragic history of east-European Jewry.

MOST of these people were old. There were very few under fifty: a man with tinted glasses, thumbing his prayer book with the devout concentration of a Talmudic student, two young men leaning against a pillar and staring round with the detached curiosity of casual eye-witnesses and, miraculously, one solitary small boy, following the service as his grandfather's index finger led his eye across the page. The two young men stood, negligent and aloof, and looked from face to face with a bold, deliberate scrutiny, as if they were committing everyone to memory. It gave me an almost melodramatic feeling of uneasiness.

Thumbnail Book Reviews

By PAMELA RUSKIN

The causes and cures of juvenile delinquency are of profound importance and great interest to us.

This book, written by a Judge of the New Orleans Juvenile Court, contains 14 which they constantly wait stories of children who have ended up before the courts because they have, for some reason, been denied the normal securities of childhood.

The book's case is weakened by the extraordinary sentimentality of the author, not to be expected from a professional dispenser of the law.

The cases include those of children left rootless by divorce, children of a jealous stepmother, an adopted child who could not forget his real mother, and so on. In only one case is there evidence of a lack of morality beyond any reason or help.

A book from which most parents can learn a great deal.

Other People's Children by Anna Judge Veterans Levy (World's Work) 2/-.

Paul de Kruij has already earned a reputation as the author of popular medical books, such as "Microbe-Hunters". This time he has chosen to tell the remarkable story of a remarkable man.

Jack Ferguson became a doctor after a knockabout life as "fireman, steel worker and barman". He had a good general practice and a devoted wife. Then he began to take sleeping drugs and ended up as a raving lunatic....

A man of extraordinary willpower and courage, he fought his way back to sanity—and further back to the kind of insanity that understands insanity: he returned to the staff of the hospital where he was cured.

Such is his love, sympathy and understanding of those who have been classed as "insane" that he has achieved amazing results.

An encouraging story of a man's unending struggle.

A Man Against Insanity

by Paul de Kruij (Hutchinson) 20/-.

This is the fourth and last novel in a series of 14th century French historical novels. This one concerns the time between the death of Louis X and the final accession of his brother Philippe of Poitiers.

These are superb novels with none of the romantic padding of their English and American counterparts. It is history as it must surely have been, an ugly story of cruelty, ambition and greed—dramatic, exciting and passionate.

The Royal Succession by Maurice Druon (Rupert Hart-Davis) 18/9.

Ewart Brookes first made his name with a novel of mine-sweepers, in which he actually served during the War.

In his newest novel, he goes back to the last days of sail, where Brookes served his own apprenticeship.

A romantic, exciting story of the mighty ships who fought the onset of steam to the last possible moment, and of the men who loved these beautiful but dangerous vessels.

Ride the Wild Wind by Ewart Brookes (Jarrold) 18/9.

After the service, when the Chief Rabbi had delivered a quasi-political sermon in Yiddish clearly addressed to the foreign visitors, one of the American rabbis replied. It was an impassioned address that would have been embarrassingly rhetorical in English but was warm and sincere in Yiddish. 'I want you all to know', the rabbi concluded, 'that your brothers and sisters in America have not forgotten you.'

I reluctantly declined the invitation. Instead he offered to walk with me to my hotel. Seventy-five years old and remarkably vigorous for his age, he lived alone. His wife and two sons had been killed in the war, but he was evasive about the circumstances. In a disinterested voice, as though talking about matters that no longer concerned him personally, he told me something of the Jewish situation in the Soviet Union. I heard the same story from other Jews with whom I spoke.

POVERTY, SEPARATION

All over the synagogue people began to sob. These tears of the old summed up the poverty, separation, and loneliness the Moscow congregation had experienced. As I began to leave, hundreds of people surrounded me, or, rather, we went out to meet each other. It was, in a strange way, like a reunion after a long absence. We were starved for knowledge of one another. When I asked them how things were with them, they replied: 'Well, we live'—with that wry shrug of the shoulders with which Jews convey an immense understatement. In turn they asked me endless questions about Jewish life in the remote outside world. How did the Jews get on in London? Was there much anti-Semitism? Were they poor? Did people have Yiddish newspapers? Did many go to synagogues? What about the young generation: were they religious? How many synagogues were there? And religious institutions? Even more insistently they asked me about relatives—about sons and daughters in America, England, Israel, South Africa; about brothers, sisters, cousins, nephews, old friends—and what could I say?

DURING this interchange I was suddenly made aware of the presence of the beadle. People became silent; some of them drifted away quietly. The beadle looked unhappy and ill at ease. 'Well', he said, 'don't you want to go?' But on the steps of the building I was again surrounded and the questioning was renewed with even more insistence.

IN SIBERIA

A man came close and whispered in my ear: 'I was in Siberia for nine years. Can you help me?' He glanced over his shoulder uneasily. Encouraged by the absence of officials, other people began to tell me their troubles. Many of them had spent long years in prison or labour camps. For what offences? Again the expressive shoulder-shrugging: 'For nothing at all—we are Jews', they replied.

Somebody said hurriedly: 'Sh! he's coming'. The beadle had appeared at the door of the synagogue. His face was sweating and pucker with anxiety. 'Is there anything you want? The service is over', I was just talking to the people, I replied. But he stood there obstinately, his eyes begging me not to be difficult. 'You should go home', he said.

SABBATH GUEST

As I walked up the street a small, elderly man attached himself to me and in an undertone invited me to his home as a Sabbath guest. He wore a crumpled cotton summer suit, a straw hat with the brim partly broken away, and a shirt without a collar. He lived on the outskirts of Moscow so he reluctantly declined the invitation. Instead he offered to walk with me to my hotel. Seventy-five years old and remarkably vigorous for his age, he lived alone. His wife and two sons had been killed in the war, but he was evasive about the circumstances. In a disinterested voice, as though talking about matters that no longer concerned him personally, he told me something of the Jewish situation in the Soviet Union. I heard the same story from other Jews with whom I spoke.

DEPRESSING

After these disclosures, he lapsed into a friendly silence for a while. Then, abruptly, as if stating something that I could not have known, he said: 'Hitler killed 6,000,000 Jews'. I know', I said. He changed the subject immediately: what did I think of Moscow? I told him that it was a handsome city, and he seemed pleased that I should think so.

We turned into Red

Square and strolled slowly past the splendidly Byzantine St. Basil's Cathedral with its brilliantly striped and star-studded onion domes that frivolesly recall a group of exotic turbans.

I thought inconsequently of the remark my wife had made when she first saw them. 'What fun it would be to reproduce one in striped silk and take it for a walk down Bond Street'.

Passing the Mausoleum, my friend said: 'Stalin's in there, you know'. He grinned as if it was a huge joke and, coming closer, whispered: 'A terrible anti-Semite'. But Lenin? 'A great and good man'. At the door of my hotel he wished me a hurried 'good Sabbath' and disappeared.

SHOCK PENNANT TENNIS DEFEAT

Minor teams do better

South Judaean T.C. suffered a crushing defeat at Eaglemont last Saturday in the season's last special B grade pennant tennis singles round.

South is now well out of finals consideration and, with the singles completed, will have the doubles rounds to re-establish some of the lost prestige.

Elsternwick, who beat SJTC by 2 games (rubbers and sets equal) in the season's opening singles, will be South's doubles opponent on Saturday, at the former club's courts.

Harry Ernest and Ivan Saffer, Australian Jewish and SJTC doubles champions, are almost certain to pair.

The other pairing is in doubt, as Shulev may not be back in action until the following week.

Good start

SJTC's No. 2 team, in special C grade, resumed its winning run with a 1-set win over Lauriston in the first doubles round last Saturday. Cohen paired successfully with Basil Isaacs to clinch the deciding rubber in straight sets.

The other doubles pair, Bertie Cohn-Clive Fredman, also lost and won a rubber.

This match saw Fredman in better form and on the way to recovery from an injured back, which hampered him in singles against Maccabi (Adelaide) champion David Simmons the previous weekend.

Girls win

The club's women's pennant team, with 5 wins and two narrow losses in the singles rounds, commenced the doubles with a 3-1 win over Coburg.

The SJTC girls, Lore Zent, Diana Harcourt (c), Diana Kaufman, Nene King, assisted by Penny Morris, Lilian Berman, Eva Cohen and Sue Levy, are expected to make the grade finals with good prospects for promotion.

South's No. 2 team, with only one singles loss, dropped only 1 set in winning the first doubles 4-0 over Kew.

The No. 1 C team (2 losses) and No. 1 D side (unbeaten) are also good finals prospects.

Results

Special B: SJTC 0-24 lost to Eaglemont 4-8-48. H. Ernest (SJ) lost to R. Fitzgerald (E) 4-6, 4-6; I. Saffer lost to V. Van Uden 1-6, 4-6; D. Komessaroff lost to J. McInerney 3-6, 3-6; I. Carrick lost to J. Greve 4-6, 1-6.

Special C: SJTC 2-6-52 d. Lauriston 2-5-52. L. Cohen-B.

Annual North - South FOOTBALL MATCH

SUNDAY, JULY 6th,
Greensborough Oval

followed by

AJAX FOOTBALL DANCE
at A. SICREE MEMORIAL HALL
Marriage Road, East Brighton.

They moan about competition losses, members' apathy, lack of communal support, shortage of amenities and facilities, lack of training, finance and enthusiasm, but all summed up—

AJAX CLUBS ARE DOING A GOOD JOB

By HANS LICHT

The half-way mark in the winter sports season and with summer clubs starting to consider their future activities, it seems opportune to review Jewish sporting activities in Victoria.

Naturally, there is always reason for complaint, and some sporting officials and individuals have been rather outspoken on the disappointments and shortcomings which are claimed to retard the development of sporting activities and achievements.

The community-in-general as well as club-members and officials have come in for their share of criticism, and the apathy complained of, in some cases at least, gives some reason for concern.

The over-all picture, however, indicates that Jewish sport in this community is well established.

More young and not-so-young Jewish people are active playing or administering Jewish sport in the Associated Judaean Athletic Clubs (AJAX) and its 12 affiliated clubs than ever before.

With membership and activities on the increase, it is only natural, that problems too, are larger in number and proportion, but a review of AJAX activities shows that, with few exceptions, the clubs are doing well and, even more important, are well respected, even though the support for them is not always in keeping with their efforts.

ATHLETICS

AJAX Athletic Club is probably the most inactive of the 12 AJAX affiliates. This club exists mainly for Interstate Carnival team training and conduct of athletics when Carnivals are held in Melbourne. There has been some call for additional activities, such as inter-club competition and junior coaching.

The club plans to conduct a Jewish championship, with special events for juniors, later this year.

BADMINTON

This club operates on Monday nights at St. Georges Hall, Chapel St., St. Kilda, with club play on two courts and a fairly full membership. Although there are plenty of players, younger members have not progressed as well as was hoped.

A club team is competing successfully in the Central Badminton Assn. competition.

BASKETBALL

AJAX Basketball Club is catering well for Jewish ball players, having 3 men's, a junior boys' and a women's team in current winter competitions. There is scope for more players, and juniors and novices are encouraged by a coach and senior players.

CRICKET

AJAX Cricket Club, one of the oldest clubs in AJAJ, is at present in recess, but will recommence shortly, with the annual general meeting planned for August. The cricketers fielded two teams in Prahran and South Dist. cricket last season and the switch from north to south of the Yarra, with the home grounds at Alma St. and Fawkner Park is partly responsible for renewed interest.

FOOTBALL

AJAX Football Club is the youngest in the AJAJ set-up, and has already established a good following and impressive line-up of players in its second season of amateur football. Promoted from E to D grade last year, AJAJ is finding the going a bit harder this season, but an influx of new players and improved

TABLE TENNIS

Hakoah Table Tennis Club, with its own clubrooms in the new VTAA Centre at Albert Park (adj. McRobertson Girls' High School) is doing particularly well in competition this season. Individually, club members have won honours in metropolitan and country tournaments, and the club has two men's teams and a women's team playing with consider-

ADVERTISE IN "THE JEWISH NEWS"

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir,

1) May I remind Mr. Bloch that Mr. Rapke was not the one to throw the first stone nine months ago.

2) No published platform of the WIM envisages the uttering and or receipt of personal abuse.

3) "Mercenary officials." This referred to a ZOA official who sent a letter to the "Jewish News" which generally referred to the tendency of Zionist officials, paid or unpaid, to consider the size of contributions a true arbiter of Zionist sentiment. There was no innuendo intended against Mr. Duffield.

4) I share Mr. Bloch's opinion of Mr. Duffield and so does Mr. Rapke. I can add to Mr. Bloch's list of praise, the time Walter Duffield spends on Jewish education. Mr. Duffield's entire life is devoted to the interests of the Jewish community.

5) No doubt Mr. Bloch reads his Perek every Sabbath and therefore would feel enjoined to "be circumspect in judgment". For reasons probably best explained by a psychiatrist he has chosen to ignore this counsel of perfection in judging Mr. Rapke. Apart from using confidential records for a personal and unauthorized smear, he implies that Mr.

Rapke, because he donated less than Mr. Duffield has given below his means, is not really a Zionist, and consequently has no right to criticise mental attitudes he does not share. The procedure of "assessing" people is a colossal chutzpah.

6) I am the WIM delegate who remained but took no pledge cards. I would squirm at the thought of going from door to door. Presumably this shows what a bad Jew or Zionist I am... to Mr. Bloch anyway.

7) As Mr. Rapke has devoted a lot of his spare time to communal work, for much longer than Mr. Duffield or Mr. Bloch, I think he should not be judged by the size of his donation.

E. FRENKEL,
Organising Chairman WIM

Popular AJAX members who were married at the Melbourne Synagogue on Tuesday were Doreen Kanter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Kanter of Riponlea, and Sam Komesarook, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Komesarook of Caulfield. The bride's frock of white delustered satin, made by her mother, was trimmed with guipure lace round the neckline and at the waist, where it dipped into a peak at the back from where fell a panel of unpressed plents. A lily-of-the-valley circlet held her finger tip length veil, which was appliqued with sprays of the same flowers, and she carried a mixed white trailer of gardenias, lily-of-the-valley and cyclamens.

Her attendants, Mrs. H. Davis and Mrs. H. Kanter, wore chantilly lace on satin frocks, with ruched chiffon draped around neckline and over bodice. Mrs. Davis wore pale blue and Mrs. Kanter dove grey. Their headresses were made of pale pink petals, they wore matching long pink gloves and carried cattleya orchids.

Sam's brother Ben Kaye was best man and Leon Diamond was groomsman. The reception was held at 'Stanmark' and Doreen and Sam will honeymoon at Surfer Paradise.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Strong bid for table tennis premierships

Three Hakoah teams will enter the last stage in quest of Victorian A grade table tennis premiership honours on Wednesday.

After this week's concluding home-rounds, the club's men's A grade teams, Hakoah and AJAX, are expected to meet International (at headquarters) and Coburg Harriers (at Coburg) respectively in the semi-finals on Wednesday night.

Hakoah women's team is 8 premiership points ahead of its nearest rival in A grade, and is to meet Javor Juniors in a semi-final.

Another Hakoah team will be contesting the semi-finals of D grade, probably against Myttona, at home.

Results

Hakoah A 9 (Kurtak 3, Peters 2, Marton 2, 2 doubles) d. Coburg 2. AJAX A 8 (Javor 3, Kramer 2, Balini 1, 2 doubles) d. St. Kilda Cricket 3. Hakoah women's A 8 (Javor 3, Sherwin 2, Cohen 1, 2 doubles) d. Earls Court 3. Hakoah B 7 (Schreiber 3, Simon 3, 1 doubles) d. City Mutual 4.

NOT SEEDED

Major surprise in the singles seedings announced for the Victorian table tennis championships in the omission of Hakoah captain Barney Peters.

The championships will be played at Albert Park t.t. headquarters July 18-25.

T. Kurtak and K. Javor are seeded 7 and 8, and Peters-Sokolowski are 4th seeded in the men's doubles.

Hakoah star Suzy Javor tops the women's singles seedings, and Sydney JASA T.T.C. player Derby Shipp, former National champion, is 3rd women's doubles seedings include Javor-Freeman (1) and L. Cohen-L. Prowse (4).

Other Hakoah players competing are: L. Sherwin, J. Marion, S. Kramer, G. Balkin, E. Schreiber, Bornstein, Kovacs.

JUNIOR TITLE

Hakoah A grade player Miss Lucille Cohen defeated Miss M. Freeman in the girls' singles final of the recent Olympic Blitz to better the record of 700 lbs. held by Minnow of Russia.

Competing in the 132 lb.

class, Israeli-born Berger lifted a total of 300 lbs. in the three Olympic Blitz to better the record of 700 lbs. held by Minnow of Russia.

ROSANNA DEFENDED Cranbourne last Saturday, 5-2, in the last round of the pennant matches.

This took Rosanna into the final of division 4 against Eastern at Long Island to decide which team moves to division 3 next year.

Rosanna thoroughly deserved their win but at no stage regarded it a foregone conclusion.

They had practiced conscientiously and at some length on the Cranbourne links. The preparation for the match must have stood them in good stead!

RESULTS were: Jessie McNeil lost to Adams 2 and 1; Sam Fink d. H. Swan at 19th; David Whitson lost to G. Phillips at 20th; Eddie Harris lost to T. Buckley 2 and 1; Merry Raphael d. G. Billiani 6 and 4; Jack Seig lost to V. Ashwell, 7 and 5; Max Flinckler lost to J. Rose at the 19th.

THE bogey competition last week was won by Arthur Riddell with a 2 up score.

He now stands on 12 handicap shots, after losing two for his effort. Peter Hansen finished up to come back to a single figure handicap from 10.

On Sunday Maccabi under 13 team plays its last away match against Lions.

Saturday's game will see

AJAX opposed to its nearest rival, Port Melbourne, at

AJAX's home ground, Bleeding St. Oval, St. Kilda

(behind Luna Park) and will see the welcome return of Adam Shotak, who is on a three-match permit from St. Kilda Srd.

MURRUMBEENA was beaten by AJAX 20.21 to 8.4 in the previous round on AJAX's home ground and, before Saturday, had won only two games, twice beating Elsternwick who in turn had won only once, a surprise win over Port Melbourne.

AJAX was handicapped by the loss of key players Kalman (injured), Homeshock and Ream (unavailable).

PRATT AGAIN

Highlight of the match was the great boost and confidence Dick Pratt was attempting to instill into a beaten side.

Once again captain Lionel Rosenberg roved brilliantly and showed great determination.

Jack Smorgon played one of his best games of the season at centre half back.

The forwards crowded play, kicking inaccurately and hurriedly, as shown by the final scores.

AJAX kicked 7 goals from 21 shots, while Murrumbeena had 23 shots for 17 goals and hitting the post twice.

To secure a position in the final four, AJAX must now earn promotion the hard way by defeating the leading teams Bellfield, Port Melbourne and St. Kevin's, all at home, and overcoming the present weakness when playing away.

Final scores: Murrumbeena

17.6.108 d. AJAX 7.14.56.

Goals: D. Merkel 3, D. Rubenstein, R. Pratt, D. Burstyn,

D. Efron 1 ea. Best: Pratt.

Habimah Players' performance of "Molly" at the Kadimah, North Carlton on Tuesday night will help a cause of interest to all sporting minded people.

Part of the proceeds will go towards the Australian Maccabiah Fund. Over £1000 was left outstanding after Australian participation in the 1957 Games in Israel, and all attending Tuesday's performance can help towards destroying this deficit.

Tickets can be obtained from B. Isaacs (LB 3355) or at South Judasian T.C., 97 Alma Rd, Sunday afternoon (or Miss M. Goldfine (FJ 3079, UL 6798).

HAKOAH LUCKY TO DRAW 1-1

By HARRY SUTHERLAND

(Hakoah Coach). Hakoah was lucky to draw 1-1 with Hellenic in their State league soccer match last weekend.

Hakoah kicked off facing a strong wind and the sun. Throughout the first half the defence never looked in trouble, the forwards played good football in spasms, but the finishing left a lot to be desired.

Boss scored Hakoah's only goal when the keeper failed to hold a shot from Maiser.

The second half proved even more disastrous.

Hellenic drew level and although Hakoah attacked, there was never any method.

Nesbitt was the only man in the second half who made the opposing keeper work.

Hakoah trounced Prahran 10-0 at Como Park in the Reserve Cup.

Hakoah and JUST will provide the game of the day at Olympic Park on Saturday, kick-off 2.45 p.m.

Hakoah res. v. JUST res. 1 p.m. Middle Park.

Maccabi 0-5 —out of cup

Maccabi went out of the Dockey Cup soccer competition last weekend, when beaten 5-0 by Sunshine City.

Maccabi meets ICI in the Metropolitan (north) 1st division league competition on Saturday. (Meet 1.30 Princes Bridge). Maccabi reserves won on walkover from Moorabbin City.

JUNIORS

On Saturday Maccabi under 13 team will play its last away match against Lions. (Players selected: Eckhaus, Rosenblum, Glickman, Zinger, Lundberg, Rosenzweig, Bratberg, Hirsch, Rubinstein, Goldstein, Sholl, Oberklaud, Zelmanov meet 12.30 p.m. corner Batman Avenue and Swanston Street).

On Sunday Maccabi under 11 team plays a friendly game against St. Kilda. (All youngsters wishing to play meet corner Princes and Pittroy Sts. St. Kilda, stop past St. Kilda Junction, at 2.15).

AJAX DEFEATED BY THUNDERBIRDS

By HARRY NEUFELD

In a close and exciting game AJAX (2) were defeated 32-36 by third top team Thunderbirds in Olympic League basketball.

Big score in Hockey

By "BULLY"

AJAX hockey girls completed the first half of the season with a 13-0 win over VPI at University last Saturday.

AJAX's teamwork was in low gear early, but against weak opposition drew away to lead 5-0 at half-time.

Playing more as a team after the change, AJAX pressed home their advantage to win 13-0.

Goals: G. Cohen 7, M. Rockman 2, E. Yaffe, F. Salter, D. Goulburn, C. Boltin. Umpires best: G. Cohen (left inner), F. Salter (centre half).

Having completed the first round, AJAX shares top position in F grade with Mordialloc and Ivanhoe, but leads on percentage. AJAX lost and drew one each and won the remaining games.

AJAX meets Footscray at Royal Park (ground 7) on Saturday. Team: D. Lasky, P. Manning, S. Slosim, D. Goulburn, F. Salter, M. Donner, M. Rockman, G. Cohen, E. Yaffe, C. Boltin, J. Saks, Res. A. Am, P. Jablonski.

Basketball

AJAX senior girls' basketball team (2nd on premiership ladder) suffered its first loss for the season when defeated 23-19 by Melbourne Green last Saturday.

AJAX girls greatly missed their experienced goaler Dorothy Kanter.

Melbourne led AJAX 15-6 at half time.

A change of positions between Rene Winston and Ruth Goldberg, bringing the latter into the attack-wing position, enabled the ball to reach goaler Millie Spitalnik and Leah Kaufman, but goaling was poor due to the windy conditions.

AJAX II narrowly lost to National Bank Red.

Helen Rubenstein, who made good position throughout the match, was best and fairest player.

The second team for next week will be: Glynes Franklin, Doreen Rubenstein, Carolynne Goldberg, Helen Rubenstein, Greta Fink, Fay Goldberg and Lois Klein.

SATURDAY

Melbourne Gold v. AJAX I, Royal Park, 2.30; AJAX II v. Maribyrong Club, Royal Park, 2.30.

Berger's new world record

ISAAC BERGER

LOS ANGELES (UPI): Isaac Berger, U.S. Olympic gold medalist, broke the existing world weightlifting record in the National Amateur Athletic Union championships here last Sunday.

Competing in the 132 lb. class, Israeli-born Berger lifted a total of 300 lbs. in the three Olympic lifts to better the record of 700 lbs. held by Minow of Russia.
